MISCELLANEOUS.

ICE HOUSES,

And the Freezing of Water, Wine, Spirits, &c.

One of the greatest luxuries, and preservers of health in this climate during the hot months of summer, is Ice. It is therefore with pleasure we observe that Ice Houses are multiplying in this, and indeed all our towns, and that there are few country gentlemen without them. But the Air Pump, constructed by Professor Leslie of Endinburg for the freezing of water and other fluids, appears to us more convenient and cheaper for family purposes than an Ice House.—We understand that this apparatus is sold in London for five guineas, sufficiently large for freezing a gallon of water in ten minutes. Mr. Leslie's apparatus has this superior advantage, that Ice can be formed of any liquid whatever, besides that the Ice which is formed from water by Mr. Leslie's Pump is much purer than that of the ordinary Ice House. At an entertainment given last summer in Bath, it is said that the Wine was handed round, frozen in the shape of small bunches of grapes. Pat. Intel.

From the Virg. Patriot of Jan. 1, 1817.

Died, last night, at 12 o'clock, our much respected friend, MDCCCXVI, Esquire. It is with real and unaffected concern we announce the mournful event to his numerous friends and acquaintances. His death was occasioned by the loss of his dear and beloved family, the months, weeks and days, who have successively departed this life, and are entombed with their ancestors in the vault of time. 'Tis his worthy old gentleman, conscious of his fast approaching dissolution, had assembled in all the last week, at this his favorite city, some of his dearest friends (among whom were Scott, Gaines, Warrington and Carter) to enliven his last moments and receive his expiring sigh. He is succeeded in his titles and estates by his next and sole heir 1817, who is descended in a direct line from the year 1. His character will be found best delineated on the records of his country. Suffice it for us to say, like every thing human, it was a mixture of good and evil. Whatever were his errors, may they rest in oblivion, and his virtues only live to posterity.

Demonstration.—The wonderful sagacity and discoveries of Sir Isaac Newton being the subject of conversation in a mixed company, some knowing person observed, "that he though the philosopher must have had intercourse with a demon."—"Aye!" says a shrewd fellow, "that he was, and I will give you his name.—it was DEMONSTRATION."

A Calf, reared at Stroudwater near Portland, now nine months old, weighs eight hundred and twenty-nine pounds, and girths five feet five inches. It is not more remarkable for its size than for its uncommon good proportion and handsome form.—A fair candidate for one of the Brighton Show premiums.

CARNOT.

This distinguished man, whose stubborn virtue could not be made to bend even to the blandishments of Napoleon, has at last become a prisoner within the walls of Magdeburgh. He went to Russia by invitation of the emperor, where he resided a year; but disliking his situation, or being disliked for the freedom of his opinions, he retired into Prussia, and applied to the king for permission to reside within the kingdom. Frederick returned for answer, that he must consider himself restricted to the limits of the above fortress.

EGYPT

Letters of very recent date give the following details respecting Egypt.

"The country has greatly improved under the government of Pacha Amoud Ali. The city of Alexandria has been placed in a state of defence; the troops are well treated and regularly paid; and more volunteers offer themselves than are wanted. Amoud Ali is in his 40th year. He was originally an adventurer, who exercised the trade of piracy in a small vessel; his success attracted to him 600, with whose assistance he succeeded in domineering over the chief cities of Lower Egypt; since which time his army greatly increased. He caresses foreigners, particularly the French and English, and there is every probability that, if he continues to govern Egypt, it will become a very flourishing country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.

FAME.

He that seeks a glorious prize, Aiming for the top of all; Let him view the expanded skies, And the earth's contracted ball; Then blush to think that glory's plan Is bounded by a Mortal's Span,
