The Salsbury Academy.

WILL commence its exercises on the first Monday in March ensuing, under the direction of the Rev. Timothy Hilliard. This Gentleman is a graduate of Cambridge University, near Boston, and comes recommended in terms too positive and favourable, to leave any doubts of his abilities to fill, with honor to himself, and public usefulness, the station he is about to occupy.

From his labours, and classical qualifications, we anticipate the most flattering results.

The House which has been erected for the reception of the School, is large, and commodious; and it is very eligibly situated within a proper distance from the Town: it is not so far off as to be inconvenient to any boarding Houses; and yet far enough to be out of the buz, and noise of the place.

The local advantages uniting to ensure the success of our School, are to be here fully detailed. We cannot however, forbear mentioning the important one of Health. Nothing is more essential in the prosecution of any design, than the aid of health: without it, our days are cheerless, and the pleasures of life have no charms. By the laws of nature the body and the mind, are sympathetically dependent upon each other. When the body is enervated by an impure atmosphere, and other predisposing causes to disease, the mind cannot be in a proper situation to pursue studies. But in an elevated country in the neighbourhood of the mountains; if an abundance of the most wholesome provisions; if pure air and excellent water, are requisites to health, then our Institution, has a sure prospect of enjoying, in an eminent degree, this greatest of all earthly blessings.

In our plan, the year will be divided into two Sessions—commencing on the first of January, & July, at the end of each Session will be a general public Examination.

The languages, and Sciences, will be critically taught—a neat set of Globes, and the most approved Maps in use, have already been provided for the use of the School—thus giving to students in Geography every opportunity of becoming proficient in that most useful and essential branch of knowledge.

Arrangements are making for the establishment of a female department, to be under the direction of an Instructress, competent to teach the various, useful and ornamental branches, usually taught in like Institutions. This plan will be accomplished at the farthest by the first of next Session.

Boarding for any number of Students, can be had in the most respectable families in Town, and upon terms the most reasonable.

A general assortment of Books, will be constantly kept in the place, for the accommodation of the School, and the public.

Under auspices, such as these, the doors of our School, are for the first time laid open to the youth of both sexes, in our country;—for its success, its patrons feel the warmest solicitude; but the object in establishing it, was the general good, so they wish their infant Institution to prosper, upon no other principles, than those of public utility, the diffusion of knowledge, and the promotion of virtue.

T. L. COWAN, Sec.
