From the New York Mirror. THE INFANT SUFFOCATION WITH KNOWLEDGE SYSTEM.

By a man born out of season.

"Oh ! the sunny, sunny hours of childhood, How soon-how soon they pass away !"

VERILY! There was a time when we had children. That time is past, or is fast passing .- The boys are premature mockeries of men-the girls, something between a doll and a stunted woman. The schoolmaster is abroad, also the schoolmistress, besides tutors and governessess.

Shortly after the children are weaned, they commence educating them. While the brain is yet in a soft, pulpy state, they load it with heavy facts and hard names to its serious detriment during the remain. der of its mundane existence. The ancien! Grecian commenced with carrying a calf upon his back a few hours every day, so • that when the calf gradually grew into a ballock, he carried the bullock with as much ease as he had done the calf. This is now the education principle. They lay a few leaves of Cyclopædia on a child's tender brain and keep adding thereunto day by day, expecting that when he is a man, he will carry the thir.y volumes with perfect ease, without considering that in the attempt they may crush all sap and trashness out of the brain, rendering it as flat as a pancake and "dry as the remainder of a biscuit."

Now is this wholesome-is it natural Is it fair-is it humane, that a child should be cheated out of its childhood, and sent to learn the "use of the globes" before it has learnt to play at marbles? Or, is it to be expected that this early forcing and hotbed system can produce as healthy plan's as if they had been allowed to grow in the free air and open sunshine ?-- On ! in place of seading a child to school at three or four years, lot it enjoy three or four more years of healthy ignorance. Curb not its young freedom; abridge not its first holidays; cage not the pretty bird too soon ! Change not the free air of heaven for the pent-up atmosphere of the 'seminary,' the gentle murmur of the winds for the du'l hum of the prison-house. We were children ourselves once. Let us have a fellowfeeling for the young rogues. Let kind dame Nature norse them a few days longer .-- There will be fewer ricketty limbs and ricketty intellects.

And does a child learn nothing because it has not its primer in its hand ? Certainly it does. Every hour of its life it is learning; it cannot help it. The flower that leaf the running water, the birds that hop across its path, and the thousand sights of the fields and woods, or even the squares or suburbs of a city, cause it to think and no question. The wind as it blows, the falling views and wants on the subject. rain, the fleecy snow, the sharp frost mak. ing firm the unstable water, the thunder peal, the sun that shines by day, and the moon that steals into the dark sky at night, ail . ud each arouse its infantile wonder and young curiosity. Let it then have a few years of pleasant natural education before it commences its painful artificial one. Let it as St. Paul says when it is a child, "think as a child, and act as a child," and in due and proper season, no doubt it will "put away childish things." But we are bent on doing too much .---No time has to be wasted. We cannot be content with healthy natural children, possessed of information proper to their years : we must have prodigies--or parruts. Miss prates of planetary system, whilst ber fingers itch to make dolls and frocks, and Master is taught philosophy (heaven save the mark !) before he has learned to curb his appetite for plumbp. d. dieg. And what are the precious results? A bread of pert precocious things for foolish mamas and dunder headed papas to exhibit after dianer before their si ently enduring, but inwardly blaspheming guests. A fine way it is to teach a child humility, to cram is little head with dry names, dates and facts, which though its memory may retain its yet weakly intellect cannot by any possibility digest or turn into knowlege, tion, which its importance deserves. We pretty way. But it is not your dull ordinary children, who simply learn to babble about a multitude of things that they do not understand, that are so much to be pitied. It is the naturally fine, apt, intelligent child this is the most inhumanly vicknowl-dge enters is young breast and instead of being repressed or carefully regulated, it is excited and fed by the wonder and approbation of all who come in contact with juvenile prodigy. To add to the evil, more pains are taken with it by teachers then with ordinary children; it is better than advertisement to them ; a living proof of their efficiency as instructors; its gratified parents are grateful for their assiduity little brain is daily and hourly stimulated lature with mental brandy, no less hurtful to that organ, according to the best medical author-Hes, than the spirit itself would be. Such children are generally of a delicate consti-12.00-

Why should we be in such a haste to inflict the pains of education and penalties of imprisonment upon the young varlets? It dulls or overtaxes their brain, and checks the progress of an evil which was spreading ruin healthful current of their blood .- They and desolation among her people; and shall musi learn but let it be in due season. It makes one sad to see a fine little fellow ment, and morals, use every offort to reme. sent to study Euclid at the age he should dv an evil amongst us, not less ruinous and be reading Robinson Crusoe ; and it equally does a man good to see such a one enjoying his young existence in an appropriate | the welfare of our State and the permanence manner. Few there are who cannot enter of our institutions. We do not wish to into the feeling so finely in the very beauti- tresspass on the just rights of any man, nor ful lines of an American poet, commenc. do we ask the hasty action of your honoring--

"There's something in a noble boy, A brave, frechearted, careless one, With his unchecked, unbidden joy, His dread of books and love of fun, And in his clear and ready smilo, Unshaled by a thought of gui'e. And unexpressed by sudness-Which brings me to my childhood back, As if I trod its very track, And felt its very gladness,"

Then let the children have their play out.

MEMORIAL.

TO THE HONORABLE THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTA MES :

The Memorial of the undersigned citizens of Society Hill, in Darlington District, respectiully sheweth : Your Petitioners are aware, that a modification or repeal of the License Lev, will be brought to your notice, by Memorials from various parts of the State, and they beg leave to present their views on this important subject. It is now nearly fifteen years since some individuals of Characters in the reign of George III. Dr. in this community, deeply impressed with the evils of intemperance, formed themselves into an association, to abstain from the use of ardent spirits, and some who were engaged in the traffick abandoned it. They have seen, since that period, a great and salutary change in public opinion on this subject and they cannot but rejoice that at this time, it occupies so much of the public attention. We frankly confess, that there are difficulties attending a proper L gisla. tion, on a subject involving the in crests and habi's of so many, and on which opinions are so various. But we believe, that as guardians of the public welfare, peace, and morals, you will give it all that atten-

The nothing about, having never known, or License Laws, were no doubt well intenhaving long since forgotten them. A very ded ; their object was not revenue, but to restrain a public evil. In this they have signally failed. In truth they seem to cou tenance that, which the Legislature of a moral and chris ian community should condemn. We therefore recommend, 1st. That the whole License Law be repealed, except timized. It is quick to learn, and its so much as prohib ts the traffick in ardent quickness is praised. The craving after spirits with our slaves. 2nd. Let the subject of an entire prohibition of the trade in ardent spirits, except by authorized apothecaries for medical purposes, be referred to the people a: the next general Election. We prefer this course for the following reasons : All changes in the laws of the build, which maerially affict the opinions, and habits, of a large portion of its citizens, should not be suddenly made. Care should be taken to avoid even the appearance, of what may be conand with the best in encions on their part its sidered arbitrary or oppressive in our Legis.
