From the Watehman of the South. RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE.

NO. 111. The opinion commonly entertained, that the most enormous sinners are the subjects of the most pungent convictions of sin, and the most alarming terrors of hell, is not correct. In regard to such the commencement of a work of grace is sometimes very gradual, and the impressions so apparently slight, that they afford very little ground of singuine expectatio is of the result. While on the other hand, some persons of an divine things, that I have lived much in unbl-mished moral character, and who since, was, on rending those words, I Timfrom the influence of a religious education i. 17, Now unto the king eternal immortal have always respected religion and venera- and invisible, the only wise God, be honor ted is ordinances when brought under and glory forever and ever, Amen.' As I conviction are more terribly alarmed, and read the words, there came into my soul, more overwhelmed with distress than others and was as it were diffused through it, a whose lives have been stained by gross sense of the glory of the divine Being ; crimes. The Rev. John Newton, when new sense quite different from any thing awakened to some sense of his sinful and ever experienced before. Never any words dangerous condition, which occurred during of Srip'ure seemed to me as those words a violent and long continued storm at sea, did. I thought with myself how excellent a though his judgment was convinced that being that was, and how hoppy I should be, he was the greatest of sinners, and he if I might enjoy that God and be rapt up to doubted whether it was possible for him to him in heaven, and be as it were swallowed bo saved; yet seems to have had no very up in him forever." "From about that deep feelings or agitating fears. He time I began to have a new kind of appresays, "It was not till after, perhaps, several hensions and ideas of Christ, and the work years, that I had gained some clear views of the infinite righteousness and grace of Christ Jesus my Lord, that I had a deep and strong apprehension of my state by natore and practice; and perhaps till then I could not have borne the sight; so wonderfully does the Lord proportion the discoveries of sin and grace. For he knows our frame, and that if he were to put forth the greatness of his power, a poor sinner would be instantly overwhelmed, and crushed as a moth." And though from this time there was a seasible change, and his his wisdom, his purity, and his love seemed mend was turned towards religion, yet it is to appear in every thing." The difference evident from the history of his life, as well as his experiences afterwards, that grace cipient piety is very striking. And yet these existed during several years, in the feeblest state which we can conceive. It appeared standard which some set up in regard to so much so to himself, that he warns all persons from considerating his experience a model for them. "As to myself," says he, "every part of my case has been extra- ed to man as an object of saving faith.ordinary -1 have hardly met a single in-stance resembling it. Few, very few, have been rescued from such a dreadful state, experimental religion, it is, that they seem and those few that have been favored, have to represent renewed persons as at the first henerally passed through the most severe attributes of God with delight, without ever convictions; and after the Lord has given them peace, their future lives have been attained, as we think, higher degrees of usually more zealous, bright and exempla- holiness, or had made more accurate obry than common." Now this is the opinion servations on the exercises of others. His which I think, is taken up rather from theory than an observation of facts. I think that those persons who have been most conversant with exercised souls will say, that there is no general rule here—that ced to half the number, on his own plan. very pungent convictions and deep distress are found as frequently in those who have been preserved from out-breaking transgressions, as in those noted for their immoralities. There seems, indeed, more reason for severe convictions in the latter case; but convictions are not uniformly proportioned to the magnitude of crimes. And in truth, we are incapable of comparing to. gether the heinousness of the sins of different persons The moral man, as we call him, may be the greatest sinner of the two. gerous, and calculated to encourage men to Church. A new organiza ion of the thon the openly profanc. When the sermon was ended a fierce looking man came up to me and said that I had delivered precisely his opinion on one point, and mentioned the above sentiment. I inquired, when he was gone, who he was, and found head of a company engaged in fellonious "Now, on the one hand my convictions were very moderate, and far below what might have been expected from the dread. ful review I had to make; so, on the other their agent, has been put in possession of a my first beginnings in a religious course sum of money sufficient to place them on were as faint as can be well imagined. I their lands in Wisconsin, and feed them for never knew that season alluded to Rev. eight moaths, if necessary, independent of ii. 4, usually called the time of first love." And then he relates facts which give sad evidence of a very low state of grace; and if it had never risen higher we should certainly have been inclined to believe that he was not a subject of saving grace. But this lends me to remark a fact analogous to what is common in the natural world; that the infant when born, barely gives evidence of life, may not only grow to maturity, but in size and strength, may far exceed those who commenced life with more activity and vigor; and so in the spiritual life, when the incipient motions and affections are very feeble, the person may eventually be come a mature and eminent Christian, as we have no doubt Mr. Newton did. An. lady residing at Fell's Point, whose prheother instance of a similar kind, if my memory serves me, was the Rev. R. Cecil, who had also been for many years a profance infidel; but who in process of time became one of the most eminent christians, the tongue cannot give. And yet the inas well as spiritual preachers of his day.— Dr. Thomas Scott also, was a Socinian, and yet a proncher of the established church; with a false face! by whom he was frigt. but the progress of illumination and convic-tion in his mind was very gradual. His "Force of Truth" is an admirable little work, and furnishes a full illustration of the liveliness, and finally his mind gave way sentiment which I wish to inculcate: That entirely, and though he was kept some time grow into a state of maturity and compara.

In the experience of President Edwards, as recorded by himself, we find no account of any deep and distressing convictions of sin at the commencement of his religious course; though afterwards, perhaps few men ever attained to such deep, humbling views of the depth and turpitude of the depravity of his heart. But his experience differs from that of those mentioned above in that his first views of divine things were clear and attended with unspeakable delight. "The first instance, that I remember of that sort of inward, secret delight in God and of redemption, and the glorious way of salvation by him. An inward, sweet sense of these things, at times, came into my heart; and my soul was led away in pleasant views and contemplations of them." "After this my sense of divine things gradually increased, and became more and more live'y, and had more of that inward sweetness. The appearance of every thing was altered .-There seemed to be as it were, a calm, weet, cast or appearance of divine glory. in almost every thing. God's excellency, boween this and many other cases of inviews and exercises do not come up to the christian experience, because they are so abstract, and have such casual reference to Carist, through whom alone God is revealthinking of a Media or. But few men ever work on the Affections is too abstract and tedious for common readers; but is an excellent work, although I think his twelve marks might with great advantage be reduconclude by remarking, that experimental exercises of religion are sure to take their complexion from the theory of doctrine entertaind, or which is inculcated at the time. This subject deserves further consideration.

THE RUSSIAN EMMIGRANTS AT BUFFALO.

These emigrants continue to excite attention; and their prolonged stay in our city has led some to think that they would rewhen weighed in the bulances of the sane. main during the winter, and become a tax tuary. I heard a popular preacher once upon us. No fears of that kind need be undertake to prove, that moral men and entertained. The party are from Prussian formal professors, must in all cases be far Silesia, and number about 700 in a f w more wicked than the blaspherning infidel days they expect to be joined by 390 more, and gross debauchce. The argument was next spring by 1200, and during the next plausible, but labored under one is summer by perhaps 1000 or 2000 of their sential defect; and I was of opinion and countrymen, making in all not less than sill am, that such a doctrine is highly dan. 3000. When I gious establishment in Prussia having been was a very young preacher, I expressed, effected the King ordered all his subjects to the opinion in a sermon preached in North join it, threatening certain penalties for non-Carolina, that the mere moralist and formal. conformity. Imprisonment, confiscation of ist were more out of the way of conviction property and persecuting in various forms, were the consequences to the recusants .-Finding they could no longer retain their homes in comfort, numbers of the old school, among whom are those now here, potitioned his Majesty, for permission to quit the country. After more than a year that he was rhe most notorious profligate of fruitless exertion, they were at last allowin all the country; and not long afterwards ed to depart; and with lighter hear's than he was apprehended and imprisoned, as the they had experienced for many years before, they left their land forever, knowing that nets. This taught me a lesson which I afar off, there was another land in which never forgot. Mr. Newton proceeds thus, they could worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

PROSPECTOS

PARIEDE: B GAZZZZZ

The Editor of the Cheraw Gazette has determined, at the suggestion of the Pee Dec Agricultural Society, to devote more space than formerly to Agriculture, and matters per-taining specially to its interests. About nine columns, or a page and a half weekly, will be occupied with this subject, except when it shall be necessary to make room for Executive Messages, and a few other political paper such as every intelligent citizen ought to read. A large proportion of what shall appear under the Agricultural head must, of course, be selected. But the numerous Agricultural peri-olicals now published in this country afford abundant and excellent materials for selection; and, after a short time, the reports, and other papers of teh Pee Dee Agricultural Society will of themselves, form no inconsiderable body of original matter, all of it adapted particularly to this part of the country. And it is hoped, also, that among the numerous intelligent and enterprising planters of the surrounding districts and counties some may be found who will, occasionally, take the trouble of contributing to the columns of the paper the

Among the su jects which will engage the Editor's attention the culture of silk shall not be overlooked. Ample instructions will be given, in their proper season, for cultivating the morus multicaulis and making silk.

The paper will espouse the cause of no party n politics, but shall contain an impartial sum mary of political intelligence, and, eccasionally able speeches and well written essays (where met with) fairly discussing the principles and measures of all parties. It is believed that u comparatively small space devoted to politica subjects in this way may be made more profitable to the Farmer of domestic habits, who wishes to be acquainted with the true state of the country and qualified for a proper and intelligent discharge of the duties of citizenship, than a whole sheet filled, from week to week, and year to year, with one-sided discussions, and he mere quarrels of editors and politicians,whilst, at the same time, it will not be calcuated to estrange neighbor from neighbor, or to mislead into a belief that one half of the country are less patriotic than the other, or less ardently attached to our republican institu'ions.

So much of the fourth page as shall not be occupied with standing advertisements will generally be filled up with matter of moral and religious cast, and articles conducive, in other respects, to proper family instruction and family
