

The Editor of the Journal will be absent for some weeks; in the meantime the publisher will endeavor with the assistance of a friend, to give the paper its usual variety, if not in original matter, at least in the best articles of his contemporaries.

Much matter intended for the Journal this week has been crowded out by the publication of the Law.

Rumour.—It is currently reported at Washington, that a plot is on foot to deprive Houston of the command of the Army of Texas, and place Gen. Hamilton of South Carolina, at its head.

We do not believe it. Gen. Hamilton could not, he would not, sanction so ungrateful a proceeding on the part of Texas.

THE INDIANS

The Columbus Sentinel of the 17th inst. contains the Captain's (ARMY) official report to Gov. SCHLEY, of an engagement between his company (the Winnett mounted men) and a party of Indians, on Thursday the 9th inst. about four miles above Roanoke.

There were only 42 whites, and about 250 Indians; but notwithstanding the great disparity in regard to numbers, the battle was continued with zeal by the Winnett troops, until they were relieved by a detachment of about 30 men from Fort Jones under the command of Maj. JENNISON. Of the Winnett troop there were 8 killed; wounded, Capt. GARMONY and 3 others. Of Maj. JENNISON's men there were 4 killed and 3 wounded.

Too Bad.—The Falls of Niagara are offered for sale by the proprietors. They ought never to have been private property; it seems sacrilegious to attempt a valuation of them, when so few have ventured even a description of their sublimity. The owner however takes it quite coolly, stating that it is an excellent "mill seat."

GREEN PEAS are imported for the London market from Lisbon! The London gardeners demand a tax upon them for their protection.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the "Bank of Camden, S. C." on Tuesday last, the following persons were elected officers, viz:

- W. J. GRANT, Cashier,
J. C. WEST, Teller,
ALEXANDER JOHNSON, Discount Clerk.

If the writer of a communication from Sumterville over the signature of "A VOICE FROM SUMTER," has seen our last paper, he will be at no loss to account for the non appearance of his nomination of a candidate for Congress. It is indispensable that persons nominating individuals for office give us their names.

We have received through the Post Office a communication, relative to a recent and very valuable improvement in the Mechanic arts, in reference to carriages, together with a drawing of the contemplated improvement, with a request that we should give it a place in our paper. The communication would be altogether unintelligible without a view of the drawing, and as we have no suitable cut to represent it, the author must pardon us for omitting the whole.

MR. KENWORTHY

This gentleman, whose extraordinary powers of Ventiloquism, has been the theme of the press, wherever he has performed, paid our Town a visit during the week. We were not among the visitors at his Saloon, but from the admiration expressed by those who were, we have no doubt but that his performances are all that have been said of them.

Communications.

For the Camden Journal.

Mr. Editor.—Allow me at the suggestion of many voters to propose Col. FRANKLIN I. MOSES, as a suitable person to represent our Election District in the U. S. Congress, and through your paper to submit his name to the people.

A. VOTER.

FOR THE CAMDEN JOURNAL.

Mr. Editor.—It is understood, and with much regret by many, that our present Senator and two of our Representatives in the Legislature, have expressed their determination to retire from political life, having from undoubted authority been informed of this fact, we most respectfully offer the following names to the public, for their support at the election to take place in October next, viz:

- For the Senate, JOHN CHESNUT,
For the House of Representatives, JAMES C. DOBY,
M. M. LEVY,
JAMES HABLE.

In this arrangement, public sentiment has been followed, for it has already designated several of the individuals as proper persons to represent the District in the two branches of the Legislature, and well informed and devoted friends of Kershaw, have spoken of the others as no less fit to sustain their interests. We believe that the general vote will support this ticket, on account of the great respectability of character, undoubted patriotism and intellectual capacity which qualify the individuals named on it, for the important trust. It certainly will secure the hearty support of

MANY GOOD AND TRUE MEN.

NOTE.—It will be recollected by our readers that Mr. DOBY has notified the public that he does not wish to be considered a candidate for the Legislature. We hope however, he may be induced to change his determination & to meet the wishes of a very large majority of the voters of this Dist.—Ed.

Presbyterian General Assembly.—The Pittsburgh Christian Herald, of the 3d inst. for which we are indebted to the politeness of the editor of the Charleston Observer says: "The proceedings of the General Assembly thus far, have been of deep and absorbing interest. The most prominent cases before them are the trial of Mr. Barnes, the question of Slavery, and the State of the Church. The latter (last) question is understood to imply a division of the Church, at least into two branches." From the same paper, we make the following extract:

Wednesday Morning, June 1.—An incident occurred at the opening of the business of the Assembly this morning which excited some attention and interest, not only among the members, but also amongst the spectators. It is generally known that the Rev. Joshua Leavitt, editor of the New York Evangelist, has withdrawn from the Presbyterian church, and with some others has formed an Association on Congregational principles. He is now in attendance on the General Assembly reporting the proceedings of his paper, and has in his last number the following remark, and in the following form:

"The Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, in the year of our Lord, 1836, is a Slave Holder!"

Mr. Pratt, of Georgia, rose, and after reading this paragraph moved, that on account of the insult offered to the Moderator and the Assembly, Mr. Leavitt be requested to change his position and withdraw his seat without the limits of the Assembly.

The motion was seconded.

The Moderator rose and requested that the brother, with the leave of the second, would withdraw the motion, observing that the Evangelist had for once told the truth, if it never should again; and in the spirit of Cowper, added that he never had been insulted, and did not expect he ever would—that a gentleman and a christian would not, and one of a contrary character could not do it, and he hoped the Assembly would view it in the same light.

Mr. P. refused to withdraw. Mr. Kingsbury observed, that last night he had heard Mr. Leavitt speak with the greatest respect of the moderator, as the best and most impartial officer that had occupied that chair for five years. Another gentleman confirmed the assertions of Mr. K. having heard the same or similar remarks by Mr. L.

Dr. McElroy observed that he thought it not proper to permit one who was there merely by the courtesy of the house to insult, as was obviously intended, the Moderator, and of course the Assembly, for the choice they had made. As to the respectful notice of the Moderator that had been stated, of what avail are private compliments in opposition to a public attack that is to go through the length and breadth of the land.

After some remarks from Mr. Frost, and some others, an indefinite postponement of the motion was moved and carried.

From the Globe.

WHITE AND WEBSTER.

Not long since Mr. Webster's organ at Boston made proclamation that he would remain in the field, and that Massachusetts would support him, if no other State supported him.

The last Nashville Republican gives back the pledge. It comes almost in the shape of an echo. Saith the Republican, Tennessee is for White, and will remain so. She supports him because she believes he will prove a fit representative of the principles which she has always professed; and though she may vote alone, she will not desert him."

The Republican is afraid that Tennessee may be disputed. The editor is, therefore, constrained to give notice that "Tennessee is for White, and will remain so." How does he know that the people will consent to throw their votes away on White, now that he is out of the question, merely to promote the views of the federal party elsewhere? The Republican knows that the White Sun which rose with the caucus in Washington, has gone down. The caucus has given him up in despair. Not a single southern State has given him the least encouragement. In all their elections, his friends have been voted down. But the Republican insists that though Tennessee "may vote alone, she will not desert him."

What is this but saying that Tennessee will desert her venerable President and the democratic party throughout the Union, simply to encourage the federal party, which has ruined Judge White, and now scorns him for his fatuity?

GENERAL HOUSTON.

The National Intelligencer and New York Courier & Enquirer seek to destroy the character, influence and usefulness of General Houston, by spreading abroad a suspicion that he has quarrelled with the Texian civil authorities—has left that country in consequence of this collision; and the last named infamous print even goes so far as to propagate the idea that he is in utter disgrace in Texas, suffering under the imputation of cowardice—as having (according to the gallant Col. Webb's statement) retreated before the Mexicans until his own troops were ready to desert him, in consequence of which he was compelled to stand his ground and fight.

This is the sort of calumny with which General Jackson was pursued throughout his whole patriotic career of personal suffering and sacrifices to crown the nation with successes.

General Houston having put an end to the war, has visited New Orleans for surgical aid, his ankle having been broken by a musket ball. This is the whole circumstance out of which Gales and Webb would make their false impressions.

We sincerely hope that General Houston's future conduct as the first man in Texas, may correspond with the wisdom and vigor, and patriotism of the past. If he follows the disinterested, honest, unambitious course, which distinguished the great men of the State in which he was born, or that of the great man under whose auspices he became first distinguished himself, he will leave a noble name behind him. If he fulfils in good faith the will of the people of Texas, without thinking of Samuel Houston—if he contributes to raise a free Government and to secure its stability by all the means he can command, yielding, unswerving by the lust of power or wealth, or the poor vanity of strutting about in the ostentation which once made up the happiness of the man he has vanquished—then his name will go down to future ages with those of the benefactors of this continent, who have considered true glory to consist in building up free and safe institutions. Ibid.

The city of New York, and indeed the public every where that New York papers are read, has been deeply interested in a trial which began in that city on Thursday of R. B. Robinson, charged with the murder of a female by the name of Helen J. Witt. The following, from the New York American of Wednesday, shows the result of the trial:

TRIAL OF ROBINSON.—At one o'clock this morning, the jury, after an absence of fifteen minutes, brought in a verdict of not guilty in this case.

The prisoner, who until that moment had, from the commencement of the trial maintained the most unshaken composure, and even when upon the return of the jury he was called upon to stand up and look upon the jurors, betrayed no emotion and no blenching, on the announcement of the verdict by the foreman, burst into tears.

The verdict was received by the audience, who had kept their seats, with irrepressible applause. The prisoner was discharged by proclamation, and left the court with his father, and his true-hearted friend Mr. Hoxie.

A young gentleman addressed a young unmarried lady the other day, on the appearance of the fine weather after the long storm, thus—"I congratulate you, Madam on having a little sun."

The lady, blushing, exclaimed, "Oh, you vile wretch, would you insult me!"

"By no means," returned the gentleman, equally confused, yet unable to explain. A few minutes elapsed, when the sun pouring into the window settled the difficulty.—N. Y. Star.
