

provisions of this act, to have and receive a patent for his invention, as specified in his claim, or for any part thereof, as the fact of priority of right or invention shall in any such case be made to appear. And such adjudication, if it be in favor of the right of such applicant, shall authorize the Commissioner to issue such patent, on his filing a copy of the adjudication, and otherwise complying with the requisitions of this act: Provided, however, That no such judgment or adjudication shall affect the rights of any person except the parties to the action and those deriving title from or under them subsequent to the rendition of such judgment.

Sec. 17. And be it further enacted, That all actions, suits, controversies, and cases arising under any law of the United States, granting or confirming to inventors the exclusive right to their inventions or discoveries, shall be originally cognizable, as well in equity as at law, by the circuit courts of the United States, or any district court having the powers and jurisdiction of a circuit court; which courts shall have power upon bill in equity filed by any party aggrieved, in any such case, to grant injunctions, according to the course and principles of courts of equity, to prevent the violation of the rights of any inventor as secured to him by any law of the United States, on such terms and conditions as said courts may deem reasonable: Provided, however, That from all judgments and decrees, from any such court rendered in the premises, a writ of error or appeal, as the case may require, shall lie to the Supreme Court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same circumstances as is now provided by law in other judgments and decrees of circuit courts, and in all other cases in which the court shall deem it reasonable to allow the same.

Sec. 18. And be it further enacted, That whenever any patentee of an invention or discovery shall desire an extension of his patent beyond the term of its limitation, he may make application therefor, in writing, to the Commissioner of the Patent Office, setting forth the grounds thereof; and the Commissioner shall, on the applicant's paying the sum of forty dollars to the credit of the Treasury, as in the case of an original application for a patent, cause to be published, in one or more of the principal newspapers in the city of Washington, and in such other paper or papers as he may deem proper, published in the section of country most interested adversely to the extension of the patent, a notice of such application and of the time and place when and where the same will be considered, that any person may appear and show cause why the extension should not be granted. And the Secretary of State, the Commissioner of the Patent Office, and the Solicitor of the Treasury, shall constitute a board to hear and decide upon the evidence produced before them both for and against the extension, and shall sit for that purpose at the time and place designated in the published notice thereof. The patentee shall furnish to said board a statement, in writing, under oath, of the ascertained value of the invention, and of his receipts and expenditures, sufficiently in detail to exhibit a true and faithful account of loss and profit in any manner accruing to him from and by reason of said invention. And if, upon a hearing of the matter, it shall appear to the full and entire satisfaction of said board, having due regard to the public interest therein, that it is just and proper that the term of the patent should be extended, by reason of the patentee, without neglect or default on his part, having failed to obtain, from the use and sale of his invention, a reasonable remuneration for the time, ingenuity, and expense bestowed upon the same, and the introduction thereof, into use, it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to renew and extend the patent, by making a certificate thereon of such extension, for the term of seven years from and after the expiration of the first term; which certificate, with a certificate of said board of their judgment and opinion as aforesaid, shall be entered on record in the Patent Office; and thereupon the said patent shall have the same effect in law as though it had been originally granted for the term of twenty-one years. And the benefit of such renewal shall extend to assignees and grantees of the right to use the thing patented, to the extent of their respective interest therein: Provided, however, That no extension of a patent shall be granted after the expiration of the term for which it was originally issued.

Sec. 19. And be it further enacted, That there shall be provided for the use of said office, a library of scientific works and periodical publications, both foreign and American, calculated to facilitate the discharge of the duties hereby required of the chief officers therein, to be purchased under the direction of the Committee of the Library of Congress. And the sum of fifteen hundred dollars is hereby appropriated, for that purpose, to be paid out of the patent fund.

Sec. 20. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to cause to be classified and arranged, in such rooms or galleries as may be provided for that purpose, in suitable cases, when necessary for their preservation, and in such manner as shall be conducive to a beneficial and favorable display thereof, the models and specimens of compositions and of fabrics and other manufactures and works of art, patented or unpatented, which have been, or shall hereafter be deposited in said office. And said rooms or galleries shall be kept open during suitable hours for public inspection.

Sec. 21. And be it further enacted, That all acts and parts of acts heretofore passed on this subject, be, and the same are hereby repealed: Provided, however, That all actions and processes in law or equity sued out prior to the passage of this act, may be prosecuted to final judgment and execution, in the same manner as though this act had not been passed, excepting and saving the application to any such action, of the provisions of the fourteenth and fifteen sections of this act, as far as they may be applicable thereto. And provided, also, That all applications or petitions for patents, pending at the time of the passage of this act, in cases where the duty has been paid, shall be proceeded with and acted on in the same manner as though filed after the passage thereof.

From the Pendleton Messenger.
(By Request.)

Mr. Editor.—I observe in the Mercury a commendatory notice of a very honorable and respectable citizen, General Campbell, as a proper person, to succeed our present Governor Mr. McDuffie. The subject is one of great interest to the community, and well worthy of being discussed. The times are ominous and threatening, and require a man of practical good sense, knowledge of the world, and energy of character. But are there not other citizens in whom these qualities may be found? If so, give us the opportunity and advantage of choice. Col. Preston is not likely to quit Washington.

A gentleman is already before the public through the recommendation of some of his friends, for the same situation, I mean P. M. Butler of Columbia. I do not understand that these gentlemen are at present either candidates or competitors; but whoever among us, is likely to stand fair before the public as being qualified for the office in question, may properly be recommended in that point of view by any of his friends or fellow citizens.

Col. Butler is a military man; having served for many years in the army of the United States, and recently at the head of a corps of volunteers in Florida, in both situations with acknowledged merit and reputation. The present aspect of our affairs, especially in reference to our peculiar domestic institutions, and the necessity for a well organized system of militia, which the present Executive has taken pains to render efficient, makes it desirable for us to have a gentleman at the head of our State, who possesses actual and practical military knowledge and experience. I hope most sincerely that there may be no occasion or opportunity for the display of such attainments; nor do I foresee that there will be; but such is the aspect of affairs, that our Governor would be much better with this kind of knowledge than without it; peace is always more certain, when it is known that we are prepared for whatever reverse may occur.

Col. Butler is a plain, prudent, practical, popular man; of known firmness and decision—a man who has earned and has received the confidence of his fellow citizens. I hope and believe he will not be proposed as the candidate of any party. It is quite enough if our citizens oppose each other when great questions of public policy call upon each of us to take his side openly and manfully. But in times of political peace, when angry discussions are asleep, let us have a truce with political party. Questions of great moment are likely to occur, that will call upon every citizen of every party to take side with the State and with the South; Col. Butler's attachments to State Rights doctrines in politics, are too well known to be disputed; but I do not dwell upon them, because I am no friend to this being brought on the carpet so as to keep up political animosity, till circumstances absolutely compel us to do so. True friends to their country may be found on both sides.

Many persons inquire, can Col. Butler afford to be Governor? Why not? What business has he to be wiser than the Legislature, and to run into more expense than they have thought fit to allow? If he does, in my opinion he does wrong.

Besides, who is to be the judge of a gentleman's private circumstances but himself? If he is contented, why are his friends discontented? He is the proper and only person to determine this point for himself, and no body for him.

Will Col. Butler serve? He has repeatedly said that he will not put himself forward; but if the people wish him to fill the office, he shall consider it his duty to comply.

Such are the reasons for nominating Col. Butler, offered by
