Proposals

In compliance with the solicitations of the friends of the Tocsin of the South, the subscribers have resolved to publish a paper under the title of the SOUTHERN BOTANICO-MEDICINAL JOURNAL, to be devoted to the support of the Thomsonian System of practice of medicine. Its publishing will have reference to the cases as will convey correct knowledge to the people, and useful information to practitioners. We have adopted the practice in the following manner.

The Journal will have nothing to do with politics or religion, but shall be devoted to the true interest of the South so far as is consistent with the original design of the work. It shall be the constant aim of the publishers to lay before their readers all the information they can with regard to the botanic practice, in the form of essays, and correct reports of different cases, the treatment of the same, and the success or failure of each, to select from other works on the subject such matter as may be interesting to the readers of the Journal.

The publishers will endeavor to render this work a book of reference to the Planter and others, and to suit themselves to the taste of their patrons, they will endeavor to deserve the support and attention of the friends of humanity, pledging themselves to be faithful in all their duties, and to spare no pains to render the Journal worthy of public patronage.

Subscription price to be $2 per annum (invariably in advance) for each number—to those who procure five subscribers and forward the money, a sixth copy will be sent gratis.
