Messrs. Editors: Allow the undersigned a space in your respectable paper for the insertion of a small communication from a Love Stricken Swain, and oblige the Author.
TO ANNA.

THE DREAMS OF YOUTH.
There was a spirit that haunted my youth,
A vision of beauty and light and love,
With lips all music and eyes all truth,
And a voice as soft as a cooing dove.
In each lonely rambles 'neath the shadowy trees, By a stream where the waters were kissing its lains.
That voice would float on the wild evening breeze As low and as sweet as an angel's hymn.
In the land of dreams where fancy was free And roved like the East Bird through regions of gold;
That form was the fairest of all I could see, Thine eye was the brightest mine could behold.
Yet never in hours of revel and mirth, Where beauty was holding her festival reign Mid the brilliant and pure of the daughters of Earth,
Could one like thine image mine homage en-chain.

Oh! long did I yearn for that beautiful form, Through the shadows of grief that darkened life's way,
To shine like the bow on the brow of the storm,
And to gild with her smiles the gloom of my day.
From the dwellings of men like the old Roman King,
Oft would I fly to some desert apart,
And seek near the shade by some delicate spring,
To find this Egona—this nymph of my heart.
But vain was my yearning, all vain was my prayer, The Enchantress emkiuding my wooing would flee;
My heart was bewildered well nigh to despair
When I found this sweet spirit incarnate in thee.
Yes, lovely one, 'twas in thee I beheld, When first on my pathway thine image did behold;
The spirit that age, my affection had held, My enthusiast's passions my youth's burning dream.

Then forgive me if madly I fling at thy feet A heart that prophetic had long felt thy power, That had sighed for a worship from its earliest beat,
And found it and thee in the same happy hour.
PARLAN.
Camden, 30th Dec, 1850.

A NEW PLATFORM.—Some of the Solumis-tians in Georgia defended the late acts of Congress, the Federal Government and the Union generally, by asserting that the price of cotton was high, and the people had plenty to eat.

We suppose these gentlemen will be out soon with a new platform. They will be silent about territorial rights, abolition of slavery in the District, the slave trade between the States and slavery in the States, or about any of the political rights in the Union, but pledge themselves to resist at all hazards, and to the last extremity, when cotton falls to five cents a pound, when bacon and hominy become scarce, and when their coats are out at the elbow. They will resist no breaches of the Constitution, nor breaches of faith, nor breaches of any kind but breaches into their breeches pockets.
Southern Press.

EARLY RISING.—Rising early is a habit of high importance to fix in children; and in forming it there is far greater facility than in other cases. There is a natural inclination in children generally to early rising, which needs only to be gratified and encouraged. They usually retire to bed some time before their parents, and at daylight, or at least sunrise are generally awake and anxious to rise. Many of them are retially bred up with difficulty to the habit of taking a morning nap, which, when once formed, generally prevails through life. Let the father deny himself so far as to retire early and become an early riser also. His health, enjoyment, and usefulness, he may depend upon it, will be perceptibly benefited. And this may be connected with another preventive of disease—active employment. The morning is is the season of activity; the frame, invigorated by repose, is prepared for exertion, and motion gives pleasure. The pure atmosphere, so much more bracing than at other hours, so much sweeter and more exhilarating than the air of a confined chamber, has been prepared to be breathed, and like all nature's medicines, it is superior to any which science can produce.
Early rising and early exercise may more properly be called food than medicine, as they are designed for daily use, and to protect us from disease, rather than to remove it. Everthing except mere sloth invites us—nay, requires us —to train up our children to use them. The morning is the most favorable season for exercising the frame, as well as for making useful impressions on the mind and heart; and whoever tries to conduct the education of his child independently of this practice will lose some of the most favorable opportunities.

HERE'S TILL YE, JEMMY.—An Irishman had been sick for a long time, and, while in this state, would occasionally cease breathing, and his life would be apparently extinct, for some time, when he would again come to.—
On one of these occasions, when he had just awakened from his sleep, his friend Patrick asked him:—
"An' sure, an' how'll we know Jemmy, when you are dead? You're afther wakin' up very time."
"Bring me a glass o' grog, Pat, and thin say to me:—
"Here's till ye, Jemmy!"
"And if I don't raise up and drink, thin bury me!"

Darlington Hotel,
DARLINGTON COURT-HOUSE.
THE above House having been purchased and fitted up anew by JOHN DOTY, is again opened for the accommodation of the Public. Strict attention to the wants and comforts of guests will be given, and no effort, calculated to merit the patronage of all who may favor the establishment with a visit, shall be spared.
All that the market and surrounding country afford will be found upon the table.
Comfortable rooms, for families or individuals, are prepared.
The Stables will be attended by careful and attentive hostlers.
Drivers can be well accommodated, as any number of horses and mules can be kept in the stables and lots expressly prepared for them.

MANSIONHOUSE.
CAMDEN, S. C.
THE subscriber respectfully announces to his friends and the TRAVELLING PUBLIC generally, that he has opened, as a HOTEL, that large and commodious house in Log Town, formerly the private residence of B. Perkins, esq.
The building is admirably adapted for that purpose, being situated in the most healthy and pleasant part of Camden, combining all the advantages of the town with the balmy atmosphere of the country, and within a few minutes' walk of any part of Camden. The rooms are large and airy, his Servants respectful and attentive, and he pledges himself to spare no pains in keeping up an attractive and well supplied TABLE, and to use every exertion to please those who may call upon him.
His STABLES will be found commodious, and always fully supplied with Provender, The House being conducted on Temperance Principles, he flatters himself that those who favor him with a call will find the MANSION HOUSE not only the comforts and attention of a well regulated Hotel, but the quiet retirement of a Home.
Charges moderate.
All the Stages arriving in the place, and the Omnibuses running to the Depot, will call at the House when desired.

HUNTER'S HOTEL,
CAMDEN, S. C.
THE subscriber having located in Camden, would respectfully say to the public that he has opened a Public House two doors below the Post Office, and hopes by strict attention to business to share a liberal patronage.
My Stables are good, and well supplied with Provender, and my Table shall always be supplied with as good as the market affords.
I am certain that those who once favor me with a call will be willing to call again.
I have also a good Wagon Yard, with wood, water and house convenient, for the accommodation of Wagoners.
I will also attend to the Commission Business, and all Goods consigned to my care, or left with me for sale shall meet with prompt attention.
Charges moderate.

For Sale.
A TRACT of Land lying 14 miles east of Lancaster court-house, on both sides of Little Lynch's creek, adjoining Lands of Wm. Conner, decd., Jefferson Horton, Washington Ellis and William Roberts. The above tract contains about 1,700 Acres—about 500 of which are cut down, and the most of it in a good state of cultivation. On the place will be found a good Gin House and Screw, together with the necessary improvements. Also a good seat, both for a saw and great mill. The soil is well adapted to the growth of cotton and grain.
Persons wishing to purchase, will do well to call and examine for themselves.
