LOCAL.

We are requested to announce that the Orangeburg Conference of the So. 'Ca., Synod, German Lutheran Church will meet at the Lutheran Church in this place on Friday next at 10 o'clock A. M.

Professor Anton Berg advertises in another column to give lessons upon the Piano. From the reputation which the Professor brings with him, we have no doubt but that he will do his pupils full justice.

What has become of Jalap? - Newberry Herald

We do not like to answer too positively, but if there was only a small quantity of it, perhaps some Newberryvillian took a doze of it.

REMOVAL-

We notice that Dr. M. G. Salley has removed his office to the building on mair street fomerly used by Messrs Izlar & Dibble as a law office, we congratulate the Doctor upon securin suck converient quarters.

DR J. G. WANNAMAKER-

See his card, and advertisement, the Doctor has a fine stock of drugs, with cautious and attentive assistants to dispense them, and he wants the public to know the fact, read his advertisements there is information in them.

See new advertisement of Mr. J. Geo. Vose, he has just received among other things a lot of choice Red Rust proof seed Oats, and a supply of that delightful canned corned Beef, that overy body likes so well. Parties in want of almost anything can be accommodated at Mr. Vose's Store.

SCHOOL NOTICE-

Miss R. S. Albergotti advertises in this issue that her school will be reopened on Monday 6th September, at Col. Jefford's residence, and that a few young ladies desirous of attending, can be accommodated with board. Read the advertisement. Miss Albergotti is too well known as a teacher, for us to attempt any description of her system, or success, the large school which she directs speaks for her.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT-

On Tuesday last two small boys one the son of Hon. T. C. Andrews and the other of Mr. W. E. Williams, mounted a saddled horse in Mr. Andrews yard, the horse became firghtened, and rushing through the gate -into the street, threw young Andrews but kept on with young Williams holding on, fortunately our was hurt.

DR. B. F. MUCKENFUSS-

We are glad to see this gentleman upon our streets again, after his long and dangerous illness. The Doctor is an accomplished manipulator of teeth, and parties suffering from those achers, would be sorry to miss him from amoun us.

MR. JOHN OGREN-

Believes in the virtue of advertising, and has brought us a notice, just too late for this issue, but in ample time for our next. Look out for it. He says that he is selling his harness and saddlery at prices unheard of before, and so low down that any one can afford to purchase,

PHOTOGRAPHS-

Mr. F. A. Shiffley, of Charleston, notifies us in another part of this paper, that he will be here soon to accommedate all parties who desire to "see themselves as others see them." Old pictures will be copied, restored, or enlarged, it will pay any one to visit Shiffley's tent.

MUSICAL-

One of o r merchants of a musical turn of mind, noticed in a New York paper the other day, an advertisement, offering for five dollars, to furnish a handsome instrument capable of playing twenty-five tunes, forthwith he sent on his money and in a few days received a Jewsharp, and now he thinks that man cheated him.

Mrs. Nancy Moore, an elderly lady, living at Mr. Wm. Fogles' place, was struck and killed by lightning on Tuesday last. Mrs. Moore was standing in the piazza at the time, and when found was quite dead, some slight damage was also done to the dwelling. An inquest was held by Coroner Fordham the next day and a verdict rendered as above.

NO HUMBUG-

Mr. C. D. Kortjohn will sell all of his remaining stock off at cost from this date until 16th of September, he is in carnest about this, and is determined that every thing shall be cleared out of his store by that time, go and try him, and he will really give you hargains, look out for his new advertisement in our next paper.

THE CORONER-

J. Hammord Fordham, Coroner, who has been absent for some time past, we see, is again in town. He went to Charleston in consequence of the illness of his father, who has since died, and has been detained there settling up his estate, he is now, however, at his post again, and prepared to attend to all the duties of his office.

WHO THREW THAT BRICK-

Somebody did it, and if somebody else will bring proof to conviction of who that somebody was, they can make twenty-five dollars by calling on the officer who was struck. This was a daring violation of law, and any good citizen who knows anything of it, should assist in bringing the offender to justice.

CORRECTION-

A friend of ours who went down to the river, the day that the reported drowning occured, and who "keeps store" between Briggmann's and the river, wishes it distenctly understood, that he did not go down to see the dead bodies, but only he thought perhaps his boat might have got loose, you can't most always tell, you know, and he wants this matter put right, before the public.

MELLICIIAMP'S SCHOOL-

Our readers will see by the notice elsewhere, that this large and flourishing school has been removed from the Dukes' House, and will reopen on the 6th September at the school house near the Lutheran Church, also that scholars desirous of competing for prizes should enter as early as practi-Coroner J. Hammond Fordham met cable. Mr. Mellichamp enjoys quite and stopped him in time to prevent a reputation as a teacher, and we have injury. Strange to say neither boy no doubt will find a full school room to greet him on the sixth.

GERMAN LETTER.-Next week we will publish an interesting letter from Liepzig, Germany, from a talented young gentleman of Abbeville who now attends a university at that place. Abbeville Medium.

A state of the same

Don't do it, few of your subscribers could read a "German letter," if you did publish it. We know we could not, and we always like to read the Medium.

Two parties A. and B. were discussing their jumping abilities, A offered to bet B. that he could not jump six feet, B. insisted that he could, and said that he would jump it right there "only the ceiling was su widrick to jump," we had always thought that there was something strange about that ceiling, but it never struck us before as being of that style of architecture.

BRIGGMANN & CROOK-

It will be seen that these gentlemen have associated themselves together in business, they will make a strong and popular firm. Look out for their advertisement next Saturday, they mean business, and are just the men to do business, and do it right too. Crook with his host of old friends and the Captain with his several hosts of older friends, ought to do a business that would make all Orangeburg open their eyes. They are at Capt. Briggmanu's old stand, and will soon have on a stock, that will be well worth looking over, by parties who mean business, they are going to bid highest for the trade, by putting pricee at the

COURT NEWS-

His royal highness, Fritz, the Crown Prince. was taken out the other day by some of our German friends here, to have a good, quiet, day's sport, of course there was an ample supply of lager taken along, some in green and some in blue glass bottles. After fishing until midday, Fritz extended himself out upon a large log overhanging the river, and growled "lager," at once a bottle was handed him, and disdaining the use of a cup, he raised it to his mouth, and soon got around its contents, threw it ashore, and remarked, "It ish goot, und der drees look so green drue der bottle." His highness then took another bottle, and after awhile he took another bottle, and about five minutes after he took another bottle, then said "give me anoder bottle und I quit, de drees look so beautiful green dru de bottle," another was handed him, a blue bottle, he raised it to his mouth and suddenly drew it away again, raised it again, and dropped it, the perspiration stood out on his face as large as hail stones "Tousand dyfels,' he exclaimed, "de drees are blue, I must be dr-"," the rest of the sentence was finished under the water, where he went when he relled off the log. If his highness gets mad and want to fight about this he must wait until Riley gots back, as he is under contract to do that sori of work, and his time is not up yet, never mind we would not like to interfere with his department, besides this must not be taken in Earnest. .

A CARD. CHARLESTON, S. C. August 13th, 1875.

GENTLEMEN: To my old friends and customers it scarcely necessary to speak through the public prints, except to call attention to my announcement for the Fall Trade which appears in another column of this paper. But to those to whom I am unknown I would merely remark that my house was established in 1837, and I have personally carried on the business successfully for twenty-three years. I am fully acquainted with the market of supply, as well as with the wants of my customers, and I am therefore prepared to fill bills at prices which will prove remunerative to my

AUGUST FLOWER.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

More than seventy-five per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and there effect; such as sour stomach, sick head-ache habitual costiveness, impure blood, heartburn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of the food after eating, low spirits, &c. Go to the Drug Store of DR. A. C. DUKES and get a 75 cent bottle, or a sample bottle for 10 cents. Try it. DR. A. C. DUKES.

IN MEMORIAM.

Come in what season it may or in what form, Death is appalling and awe-inspir-

But amid its universal seasons and in its But amid its universal seasons and in its myriad forms, its saddest phase, is when its pressaing shadew falls upon and slowly withers the form of youth. Amid the group of young and happy ones, the palsied finger, of consumption singles out some victims perhaps the libert breaks with energy and hope for life, and the Shadow of Death darkens upon the devoted linearments until it successors and sinks to its chill sleep. "Twas thus in the case of Mr. G. W. WHITEHEAD. Pattent, steadfast, industrious and carnest he met life's conflict dustrious and carnest he met liv's conflict with the spirit of victory assured, faithful in friendship, affectionate, kind and generous, his nature seemed imbued with the best qualities of heart and head. And thus full-armed for life's battle, he has lain down his armor, a victim of the insidious conqueror armor, a victim of the insidious conqueror of all humanity.

But a few months before, on the 4th of February 1875, he had seen a lovely and beloved Sister gradually fade under the influence of the same disease, and in July of the same year he was laid beside her 'neath the flowers of the Summer's prime, which had grown over her grave. Mr. which had grown over her grave. Mr. WHITEHEAP was born in Williamsburg County on the 5th of September 1851. He was reared in Richland where he lived until 1868 when he settled in Orangeburg. During his sojourn here all men have marked his quiet unobtrusive conduct, and his many noble traits caused to spring up in his pathway flowers of friendship and regard, which will rest in the herbarium of hearts, while the memory of his cotemporaries, while the memory of his cotemporaries shall last. The gradual closing in of the shadows of the day of his life, warned him of its chilly night, and not unprepared did of its chilly night, and not unprepared did the final hour find him.

His young life has closed and beneath the sod, sleep the ashes of the budding roses of its promise. Side by side the Brother and Sister sleep in Denth; but above the clouds where the stars are paling and the azure fades, their spirits have awakened to the reality of a life, of which the present is but a shade.
