

Local News

The war continues, with little prospects of an early settlement of the quarrel.

The candidates in the second primary are busy as bees, and it is well enough, for if they don't watch closely they will get ahead of each other.

Mr. S. W. Watts has taken a position with Pageland Mercantile Company again, and Mr. Thos. McGuirt is with D. E. Clark & Co.

Mr. B. L. Mangum killed a large moccasin a few days ago and when he chopped it in two forty-nine little moccasins wiggled out, greatly to his surprise.

Mr. H. Clyde Hamilton, of Marshville, and Miss Ruby Hoagland, of Fort Mill, S. C. were married last Wednesday evening by Rev. E. C. Snider at his home in Wingate.

There will be a second race for magistrate in Jefferson township between C. A. Baker and W. N. Lee. The vote in the first primary was as follows: C. A. Baker 169, W. N. Lee 125, J. C. Munn 99.

Mr. P. C. Nicholson was elected cotton weigher at Mt. Croghan in the election last week. F. M. Moore and W. Riley Evans are in the second race for magistrate of Mt. Croghan township.

Mr. W. J. Blakeney has sold his stock of groceries to Pageland Mercantile company, and has bought Mr. J. A. Turner's stock in the above company. He has taken a position with this company. Mr. Turner expects to devote his time to his farm after January 1st.

Mr. Marvin L. Anderson, son of Mr. I. J. Anderson, and Miss Emma Threatt, daughter of Mr. J. H. Threatt, were married Sunday afternoon by Magistrate G. M. Rodgers at his residence here. These are deserving young people, and their friends wish them happiness and success in life.

Mr. Eugene Kennington and Miss Winnie Cato, both of the Union Hill section, were married here Monday by Magistrate Rogers. Mr. Kennington is a son of Mr. G. W. Kennington, Sr. Mrs. Kennington is a daughter of Rev. R. W. Cato. This is a worthy young couple, and their friends join in congratulations and best wishes.

A bumper crop of more than fifteen million bales of cotton is predicted in the government's estimate issued Monday. The condition of the cotton crop of the United States on August 25 was 78.0 per cent. of a normal, the United States department of agriculture's crop reporting board announced in its fourth condition report of the season. This compares with 76.4 per cent. on July 25 this year, 68.2 per cent. on August 25 last year, 74.8 per cent. in 1912 and 73.4 per cent. the average for the past ten years on August 25.

Mr. D. V. Hendricks had a hand badly hurt here last Friday while helping to loose a horse from a buggy. Mr. Eugene Kennington's horse had kicked over the cross piece of the shafts and had hung one foot. He had reared and pitched, and the pain had made him furious. When Mr. Hendricks caught the bridle the horse nabbed his hand with a bull dog grip, and refused to let go. His mouth had to be prized open before the hand could be released. The wound was a very painful one, but no bones were broken. Mr. Hendricks will be unable to use the hand for several days.

Mr. T. Luther Smith and Miss Maggie R. Clark were married last evening by Esq. G. M. Rodgers at his residence in the northern part of town. Mr. Smith is a son of Mr. T. B. Smith, and Mrs. Smith is a daughter of Mr. B. F. Clark. Many friends wish them happiness and prosperity.

There is still no market for cotton, and the outlook isn't very encouraging for high prices this fall. The people all over the country are becoming aroused, and it is hoped that something may be done in a short time to restore business conditions sufficiently to create a cotton market that will hold the price about ten cents. County and township meetings have been held all over the state and the Southern cotton congress is being organized in every locality. State and National Governments will cooperate, and in all probability some plan will be worked out to warehouse the surplus cotton until the demand grows stronger. The funds of the United States treasury are to be used when satisfactory warehouse arrangements have been made. A meeting was held in Columbia yesterday to see what can be done, and Messrs. L. L. Parker, H. W. Crosswell and A. F. Funderburk attended from Pageland. The only advice we can give at present is to hold all cotton until something is done, and in the meantime harvest every thing on the farm that can be used there and prepare to sow nearly all the land in winter cover crops, to be followed by anything but cotton.

The ten cents offer we made last week has caused the dimes to come rolling in, even beyond our expectations. Now, we want to make the offer a little broader yet. The offer of The Journal from now until January 1st for ten cents still holds good. All new subscribers get the paper until the first of the year for only ten cents. In order to reach those who could not reach with our old subscribers we now make copies of our paper to offer to all old subscribers. Get ten new subscribers at ten cents each—one dollar in all—and send it in and we credit your subscription one full year. Collect a dollar on these ten new subscribers and get credit for the whole amount. No, you don't see how we can afford it, and neither do we, but we will do it just to get our paper into as many homes as possible at the beginning of the season. If you want to make a dollar, work a little. The Journal to ten new addresses for the remainder of the year and to you one full year for only one dollar. The ten cents must be collected from each new subscriber and not donated by the old subscribers.

The Troubles of the War Correspondents

London, Aug. 30.—The newspaper correspondents attempting to cover the great war in Europe are having a sorry time. Especially in Belgium, where the bulk of the fighting has occurred, are the correspondents harried by almost every conceivable difficulty. According to a letter received here from a London newspaper man in Belgium, the correspondents there are being arrested several times daily as spies, are not allowed to get within cannon sound of the fighting and if they do happen to obtain any information regarding what is going on, the censors will not allow them to send it.

"I do not anticipate every getting anywhere near a battlefield," writes the correspondent referred to "and I do not expect I should be allowed to return alive with my story if I did get to the front."

"I am having a — of a time with these military blighters here. Most of my afternoons and evenings are spent in jail. I have a pass from the Belgian War Office with my photograph attached and countersigned by the General Staff, but the trouble is that no one will apparently recognize it. It is a pure bluff, and not worth the paper it is written on."

"Also the peasants who are too infirm to go to the front and the youngsters of every village throughout Belgium have turned themselves into a police force. If you try to go anywhere outside of Brussels in an automobile you are held up, searched and asked to show your papers every half mile."

"Yesterday two Belgian journalists and myself to Namur and Dinant, a journey of about 80 miles, hoping to discover the whereabouts of friends. I kept a record and found we were stopped 52 times."

"On reaching Namur on our way back despite our official papers we were arrested as spies and dragged off by a band of ferocious soldiers to the military headquarters, followed by a savage mob, anxious to lynch us. We were kept there for some time before being released."

Religious Differences Cut No Figure In War

Springfield Republican. Fortunately no religious cleavage comes in to add bitterness to the war, as was the case in the Balkans. Germany is predominantly but not aggressively Protestant, but Austria-Hungary is overwhelmingly Roman Catholic. On the other side Russia, with Servia, represents the eastern, or orthodox wing, of the Catholic church. Protestant England and Scotland stand side by side with predominantly Catholic Ireland, and France is more Catholic than anything else, while Catholic Italy at the south and Protestant Scandinavia at the north, hold aloof. If there is any division within the countries it is not on religious but racial or national lines. In Alsace Lorraine, where the Catholic influence is strong, the church has been anti-Prussian, and Bismarck's Kulturkampf did much to strengthen this hostility, but if the people sympathize with the French it is not on religious grounds. In Prussian Poland, too the church question has in the past intensified hostility to Prussian rule, but it is wholly swallowed up in such a crisis as this.

From Mr. Rivers.

Mt. Croghan, S. C. August 31st. 1914

Pageland Journal; Gentlemen—Allow me space in your columns to thank the voters of Chesterfield county for the handsome vote I received in the first primary, Aug. 25. I appreciate the vote because I believe it carries with it the recommendation of the issues I discussed on the stump in the county. Now fellow citizens, the whole matter rests with how you turn out at the second primary Sept. 8th. Lets have a rousing big turnout on that date, because it is important that those chosen to fill the offices have the same by a majority vote of all the people.

Again let me thank you for the vote I received, and I hope that you think I merit your continued support.

Respectfully
I. Clifton Rivers
