The war is aiding the prohibition workers very effectively, and in this way the South will be benefitted, to some extent at least. The amount of liquor received at the express office here during the last thirty days is about one-tenth of the amount received for the same time last year. What prohibition law has cut the consumption so much in so short a time?

There is yet time to sow oats, and every farmer should see to it that he has plenty of oats, rye, vetch and wheat on his farm. When the people realize that they can farm as easy and as profitably in the winter as in the summer, there will be no need for special sessions of the legislature to help(?) the farmer with his over production of cotton. Have something growing on the land all the time. The old idea that two crops a year ruin land has been downed and the fact that two or more crops a year are most profitable has been established.

The legislature adjourned Tuesday morning at 1:30 a. m., after having been in session 29 days, for which service they voted to pay themselves $200 each and mileage. Nearly half of the session was idled away and then there was not time to transact the necessary business of the session.

A man's house was on fire and he called to a negro to help save his property. The negro came, but spent an hour getting out of his coat and trying to find out what he was to get for his service. When he was at last ready for business, the house was falling in and he was able to save only two pieces of almost useless furniture from one corner.

The people called for help but the legislature was too long in starting to work.

The bond issue bill proposing that $24,000,000 of South Carolina bonds be issued to meet the present cotton emergency failed to be submitted to the people in yesterday's election because the governor failed to return the bill to the legislature with his signature. The bill was passed by both houses and sent to the governor for his signature Friday. Under the constitution he has the right to hold such acts in his possession three days, at the expiration of which time the act becomes a law without the chief executive's signature, provided the legislature is still in session. The governor refused to sign the bill and neglected to veto it and return it to the legislature where an effort would have been made to pass it over his veto. The senate had tickets printed and distributed to the various counties ready to be voted in the general election, but as the governor could hold the act in his possession until last night the legislators saw that it would be impossible to have the matter submitted to the people in the Tuesday's election and voted to adjourn Tuesday morning at 1:30 a. m. Thus the most far reaching bond issue bill ever proposed in South Carolina was killed.

PERPETUAL MOTION AT ZERO?

Electric Current Continued Indefinitely in Coil of Lead Wire Immersed in Liquid Helium.

A discovery which seems to be the equivalent of perpetual motion was described by Professor Whitehead at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held recently in Detroit, Mich. He declared that by subjecting a closed coil of lead wire to practically absolute zero temperature, and starting a flow of electricity therein by some external means, Prof. Kamerlingh Onnes of Leyden, Germany, has succeeded in maintaining a continuous current without the expenditure of energy. To obtain the extremely low temperature necessary to make the experiment a success the coil was immersed in liquid helium. The current was started in the wire by magnetic induction, the flow of electricity persisting, it is declared, for four and one-half hours after the magnetic influence was removed. It was stated that if the experiment had not been terminated when it was the current would probably have continued to flow indefinitely.—Electrical World.

WORK HAS BEEN MAPPED OUT

Modern Plans for the Reclamation of Egypt Based on Those Made by the Earlier Rulers

Egypt has drainage problems as well as irrigation ones. Just at present, the Egyptian government is pumping out Lake Mareotis, a sheet of shallow, brackish water in the extreme north of the delta, at the back door of Alexandria. About a million acres of cultivable land will be reclaimed by this work, though not all at the same time. Other drainage projects of equal magnitude will be taken up later.

Here, as in so many other cases, the Anglo-Egyptian government is following in the footsteps of the more enlightened Pharaohs and Ptolemies of ancient days. Lakes were drained in Egypt 3,000 years ago. Where old-time kings used the shadoof and the unpaid labor of felahin, modern rulers employ steam and machinery; but the end aimed at is the same.

STUDY TROPICAL AGRICULTURE.

The proposed College of Tropical Agriculture, in Ceylon, will be one of the most imposing institutions of the kind in the world, and already great strides have been made toward its completion. The college is to occupy 40 acres on the left bank of the Mahawell river, opposite the Royal Botanic garden at Peradeniya, at an elevation of 1,600 feet above sea level. The main buildings, which will cost $200,000, are to be arranged similarly to those of the Cornell college of agriculture, at Ithaca, N. Y. The lectures will provide for two groups of students. Men with degrees in agriculture who wish to specialize in tropical agriculture may take a one-year course, while courses of two years or more will be given to less advanced students.

BIG DOINGS.

The Tourist (spending a week in the village, to the oldest inhabitant)—Well, I don't know what you do here. It's certainly the most dead and alive show I was ever in.

The Oldest Inhabitant—Ah, you ought to wait till next week, zur, and see how the place 'all be stirred up then.

The Tourist—Why, what's on next week?

The Oldest Inhabitant—Plowin'.—London Sketch.

CHURCH NOTES

Baptist

J. M. Sullivan, Pastor.

This is a great testing time for the people of all christian denominations. If you are a child of God you will stand true to Him, if not it will test you any how.

Last Sunday was a good day at both places, White Plains and Center Grove school house. We were very much pleased with the Sunday schools. White Plains had about 100 in the 6 classes, Center Grove 60. We consider both a splendid showing.

The B. Y. P. U. of White Plains will render a State Mission program the third Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Also Thanksgiving service on the 26th beginning at 10 a. m. These young people are to be commended for the great work they are doing.

Stop and count the things you have done for your elder brother, Jesus Christ, the past year and see if you have done as much as you ought.

Next Sunday, Pageland 11 a.m. and 7:15. Come let us worship our God. "It is not vain to serve God."

M. M. JOHNSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Will be in Pageland Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week.

CORTRIGHT

METAL SHINGLES Are Stormproof

They interlock and overlap in such a way that the hardest driving rain or sifting snow cannot possibly get under them. Besides this—they last indefinitely, and never need repairs. Another point—They're very reasonable in first cost. You can learn all about them from
