

Local News

Messrs. G. H. and R. L. Watts spent Sunday with Mr. P. H. Evans near Angelus.

Messrs. Earl Pigg and E. S. Williams of Charlotte spent from Saturday until Tuesday with relatives here.

We are requested to announce that Rev. M. C. King will preach at Bethlehem church next Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Page camp Woodmen of the World meets next Saturday night. No notice cards will be sent this month. Every member is urged to be present.

Mr. D. A. Simpson of Monroe came down Sunday afternoon to spend a day or two. Mrs. Simpson returned home with him yesterday, after spending a couple of weeks with relatives here.

Mr. Baxter Mills, who is one of Uncle Sam's boys at Camp Greene at Charlotte, came home Sunday and spent some time at the home of his father, Mr. Albert Mills, a few miles east of Pageland.

Rev. A. H. McArn of Cheraw will speak at Dudley Thursday night about the importance of the Y. M. C. A. work in the army. He is an excellent speaker, and those who hear him will be richly repaid for their effort.

Word has been received here that the 42nd Division of Engineers has arrived safely in France. Mr. B. C. Pigg of Pageland and James Brasington of Cheraw are members of this division. The date of sailing or the date or place of landing have not been made known. There are 35,000 men in this division, every state in the union being represented.

Mr. J. B. Arant of Monroe has purchased the barber shop here from Mr. P. W. Funderburk, and has moved his family here. They now occupy the McGuirt house near the Coca Cola bottling plant. Mr. Arant is an experienced barber, and is said to be one of the best in this section. He expects to occupy the new brick shop on Pearl street as soon as it can be erected.

Rev. J. W. Elkins received news Saturday that his wife, who is visiting her son in Charleston, suffered a broken arm one day last week in an automobile accident as she was being driven to the home of her son upon her arrival in Charleston. Her son, Mr. Boyd Elkins, was driving the car when it collided with another car on one of the streets of the city. The other occupants of the car sustained only minor hurts. Mrs. Elkins is reported to be recovering nicely. She had been visiting at Ridgeville, S. C. for a few days before going to Charleston.

Mr. William A. Kirkley, who has been in the navy about three years, came home Sunday to spend three or four days at the home of his father, Mr. R. K. Kirklev. He leaves tomorrow to resume his duties on his ship, the Alabama. Mr. Kirkley states that the submarines are not so menacing now as a few weeks ago. He thinks they have been thinned out to some extent. His ship has been conveying troop transports, and on one occasion had a three-hour encounter with submarines, which were discovered about 3 o'clock in the morning. The periscopes were shot to pieces, but it was not known whether or not the submarines were lost. His vessel is the one that got the signals confused and fired upon an Italian submarine a few weeks ago, killing two or three men.

Cotton sold on this market for 28.05 cents yesterday. Seed 4.00 a hundred.

Mr. Ben Lowry, of Flint, Tex. is spending some time with relatives here and at Taxahaw.

Mrs. Annie Deese of the Wolf Pond section died Monday afternoon of pellagra, after an illness of several weeks. The body was buried at Wolf Pond yesterday.

Remember that packages intended for soldiers in France must not weigh over 7 pounds, and must be mailed not later than tomorrow if the boys are to receive them by Christmas.

Hon. W. F. Stevenson, of Cheraw, congressman for this district, will speak in the school auditorium here tonight of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Stevenson is known to almost every person in this section and a good crowd will doubtless hear him. A rare treat is in store for those who attend.

Superintendent J. A. Knight writes the Journal that a 2-day teachers meeting will be held at Chesterfield Friday and Saturday of this week. All teachers in the county are urged to be present. There will be a meeting Friday night to which the public is invited. State Supt. Swearingen will address this meeting.

Mr. Joseph Amick, principal of the White Plains school, reports a box supper at his school a few days ago as one of the most successful events in the history of the school. The boxes and refreshments amounted to $62.75 clear of all expenses. After the supper the friends of the school raised $18.30, thus making a total of $81.05 for school furniture.

Miss Dular Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Evans who live three miles east of Pageland, and Mr. Willie Bowden of Raeford, N. C. were married last Sunday morning about 10 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. Lem Robertson here by Notary S. W. Watts. The bride is an attractive and worthy young lady. The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. J. C. Bowden of Raeford. He is a machinist by trade, and is a young man of splendid character. Mr. and Mrs. Bowden will make their home at Raeford.

In a Charlotte paper Friday was an article saying that Mr. Earl Pigg, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Pigg of Pageland, had been arrested on a charge of stealing an army overcoat and carrying it to a pressing club to have it shortened and dyed. At the hearing given Mr. Pigg Friday, however, it developed that the coat in question was not stolen at all, but that it was bought from one of the soldier boys who preferred to dispose of it for the cash. It also developed at the hearing that it had become an ordinary occurrence for the army boys to sell articles of clothing to the camp workmen to secure cash when they needed it. Mr. Pigg had seen the others do it, so he bought a coat. As it happened, though, the officials had become suspicious and notified the pressing clubs to 'phone them the next time army clothing was brought in for alteration. Mr. Pigg happened to be the next one, and was therefore carried into police court. After the hearing he was dismissed. It is unlawful for any civilian to have or wear army or navy uniforms.

Take Notice

Notice is hereby given that the ordinance against boys and others loafing or loitering or smoking about the cotton plant form will hereafter be rigidly enforced. The maximum fine will probably be imposed upon any violators of this ordinance. J. E. AGERTON, Mayor.

A car being driven by Mr. J. D. Redfearn ran into a buggy and turned over about a mile west of Chesterfield last Friday night, and several of the occupants were bruised and scarred, though none were seriously hurt. In the car with Mr. Redfearn were Mr. Henry Chavis, and Misses Nell Cato, Jessie Quick, Nell Funderburk and Mary Funderburk. Some of them were thrown clear of the car, while three were caught under it. Mr. Chavis was rendered unconscious for a moment or two. Miss Jessie Quick suffered a cut in the head, and the others were scratched and bruised. The car was turned back, and driven on to Chesterfield, though the windshield was broken and the steering gear and axle were bent. They were going to the fair, and they went anyway. It is said that the car was being driven slowly at the time as the traffic was somewhat congested and the dust was blinding. They were passing other vehicles, and were well to the side of the road when the buggy was seen just in front, apparently on the wrong side of the road. The buggy was badly torn up, and the horse and driver disappeared in haste. Up to this time the name of the owner of the buggy has not been learned.

Flash

A number of persons evidently misread the little piece in this column last week about Mr. S. H. Lanev. They say the last sentence conveyed the idea that Mr. Lanev used profanity in his talk to Mr. C. L. Gullledge. No such intention was in the mind of the writer, and we regret very much that such an impression should have been made. Mr. Lanev has always been one of the Journal's staunchest supporters, and he is held in high esteem by the writer of the junk column, else we would not write about him so often.

We hear that a great many of our readers, some of them gray-haired, took a very prominent part in the dancing under the 49 tent at the county fair last week. Others were only interested spectators. We shall not tell on any of them except those who fail to pay up their subscriptions at once. The dollar is the price of silence.

Lest our readers, if any, should become uneasy as to the well-being of Prof. John Terry, we would say that at last accounts he had almost abandoned the shade in his yard for a seat in his Ford. His name has been missing in this rag for some time, as a result of the unusually quiet and well behaved period in his career.

Facts - It is a positive fact that shoes are not over 50c to $1.00 higher than last year, clothing not over $2.00 to $3.50 per suit higher than last year, outing and gingham not over 10 per cent higher. Gasoline is high, roads rough, then why go to Charlotte or Monroe and pay two prices. If we havn't got every thing you want the mail runs both ways and we can get it. T. E. Cato
