ORANGEBURG, S. C.,

The New Year.
On New Year's Day we pass another milestone on our journey to the great hereafter, whether we are all traveling, and it will be well for us to stop and look back over the ground that we have passed during the past twelve months. To some it has been smooth and to the journey pleasant, but to others the road has been full of bumps and the journey attended with trials and annoyances. No better time will ever present itself for turning over a new leaf than January 1, 1884, and when you turn it over be sure that it is kept clean and bright. Of course, the sanguine man believes that he will have no difficulty in keeping his good resolutions. He thinks that somehow, in some mysterious way hidden in the glowing future, he will accomplish wonderful things in the way of reform. He will stop his bad habits; stop chipping tobacco; refrain from drinking wine; and he will attend to his moral duties. It is determined that he will contribute no material for the sidewalk or roadbed of the place that is popularly supposed to be paved with good intentions. With these commendable resolutions fresh in his memory, he buys a diary, sharpens up his pencil, braces himself, and writes them down. Let us all devoutly pray that the sanguine man may be enabled to keep every one of his good resolutions. We agree with Bishop Clark that many will enter upon the New Year in a state of mind that will lead to a sad journey has gone wrong during the past year; it was nothing but a series of disappointments, a blowing of bubbles that burst in the air, schemes that failed, labors that came to naught, aspirations that were crushed, hopes that were blighted. "What is the use of trying again?" Let your situation be as desperate as you may, the meekest thing you can do is to give up and go to the bottom. When we cease to hope we are lost. Despair is death. Keep on hoping and keep on trying. The light may break through the clouds when we least expect it. The wish of THE TIMES AND DEMOCRAT is a joyous and happy New Year, and that the close of the year 1884 will find us more prosperous than they were at its opening.

Ought to be Tared and Feathered.
The Columbia Register says that a man named Weyant, out in Urbana, Ohio, has brought a breach of promise suit for $10,000 against a Miss Snapp, of St. Paul, Minn. and his wife.
"This is a move in the right direction," and the action of the bold Mr. Weyant should incite other lovers and fitted swains to emulation. The female population of the community had a monopoly of this sort of thing quite long enough."
We differ with our esteemed cotemporary about the ungentle Weyant's exemplary being followed. The idea of a man suing a lady for breach of promise is too monstrous to be entertained for a moment. "Kicking" a fellow is one of the inalienable rights of our girls, and if a fellow don't propose to submit gracefully when it is done, why he should go to a "courting"—that's all. If we were on the jury, we'd vote to treat Mr. Weyant to a coat of tar and feathers instead of $10,000 damages.

The Great Flopper.
The Greenville News don't seem to like the flopping proclivities of the News and Courier. It says:
Our esteemed Charleston cotemporary like Artemus Ward's Kangaroo, is a "snovin' chaser." Now it has got into the railroad bill, and is a weak kneed knave that, and is fighting tooth and nail to submit the powers of the Commission. The man who undertakes to follow our esteemed cotemporary must expect dislocation of the spine. No other animal but a snake can make sharp turns around such very close corners with safety.
The floppings of a newspaper that refers to the platform of a political party as "an admirably worded expression of Democratic sentiment on the subject of the tariff," in one breath, and in the very next, refers to the same document as the "juggling platform of the Ohio Democracy," never surpasses us. Our Charleston cotemporary is justly entitled to the distinction of being the greatest journalistic acrobat of the age.

Dr. Anderson's View.
The Camden Journal is hard on the above wood-bee-like could Greenback Congress man from this State. Hear it:
It is like a dream when we for a moment see that the great man we are presumptuous to run for Congress. He never had three ideas in his head, and one of them was that he was a good fellow. Why, we could say something of the life and character of this illustrious aspirant for political honors, as we have known him—10 to these many years, but our ink costs us too much to waste it on such trash. Poor Anderson!

When a man gets so low down as Anderson has got, we think he is in a bad way, and we don't blame our cotemporary for not throwing away its ink on such scrubby cattle. He was one of the lying witnesses that Melton and Spear relied on to furnish the lies to people who have testified before Congress.

A Very Significant Fact.
The Columbia correspondent of the News and Courier, after giving the vote by which the Senate refused to strike out the enacting clause of the Railroad Bill, says:
"Mr. W. P. Clyde was present, and at the end was congratulated on his victory."
Over whom did Mr. Clyde gain his victory? The people of South Carolina? If so, the representatives of that people should have testified before Congress that this great moneyed king of the North who came South to lobby this Railroad Bill through our General Assembly. We must confess that we do not like the idea of having a man congratulated on his victory over the people in their own State House. It is a very significant fact indeed.

We are sorry that our Senator Diller is proposing and advocating a bill for giving $100 for clerks to Senators. It is asking more or less than asking for an increase of the salary of Senators.

LAST WINTER, when the Railroad Bill came up for consideration in the General Assembly, Mr. E. B. Murray, a member of the Board from Anderson, strongly supported the measure. As we all know, the bill was passed, but before its workings are fairly tested we find Mr. Murray introducing a bill into the House which practically repeals the old bill. Mr. Murray claims that his mind has undergone a change on the subject since the first Railroad Bill was passed. Last Summer, when Mr. Dibble announced his preference for Randall as the safest man for the Democrats to make Speaker, this same Mr. Murray, in the Anderson Intelligencer, assailed Mr. Dibble, and demanded his resignation. Why? Simply because Mr. Dibble did not agree with him on the Speakership question, and yet we find him sloshing around on all sides of the railroad question. Has anybody called for his resignation because of his error of judgment on the railroad question?

RANSOM MONTGOMERY, colored, the ward of the State of Georgia, who in 1845 saved a bridge on the State Road from being destroyed, died on the 7th instant of paralysis of the heart. He was alive. The State bought him and gave him his freedom and a place on the State Road. The last Legislature gave him a porter's place in the Executive department. It was a land mark in Georgia. He was since the war sold $500 by the State. His treatment shows the State's gratitude for services and that color does not affect Southern appreciation of service.

The Democratic Convention of Louisiana, which met at Baton Rouge last week, was not as harmonious as it might have been. The notorious Louisiana Lottery came up as a disturbing element. A resolution to abolish it was adopted and the Convention adjourned. The administrative faction carried the day, and McEnery was nominated for Governor by a large majority. Some of the opposition retired in disgust. The ranks we suppose will be closed up sufficiently to prevent Republican success.

Last year the News and Courier was a warm advocate of the Railroad Commission, but this year it turned completely over, and advocated a modification of the Railroad Law. Of course, our cotemporary has the right to plot whenever it pleases, and it is a right that it often uses too, but we do object to its pretending to be a saint and inviting every Democratic newspaper in the State to step down and out or agree with it in its notions.

Fred Douglas has an article in the last issue of Harper's Weekly on the "Condition of Freedmen," which shows them to be in the highest state of prosperity in the very states where the Republican politicians have charged that they were not allowed to buy farms and build up their fortunes. This is enough to drive the bloody shirters to desperation.

A Democrat does it again. The Cleveland, O. Gazette says: "The newly elected Council of Atlantic City, N. J., has raised a rumpus by electing a colored policeman. The Council was divided, and the Mayor, who is a Democrat, gave the casting vote in favor of the colored man. Four white policemen previously appointed have resigned."

Ex-Senator McDonald, of Indiana, who is an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, is reported to have said that labor was too highly compensated in this country. Well, if this be Mr. McDonald's opinion, it is safe to predict that he will not be nominated by the Democrats, and that if he is nominated he will not be elected.

At the repeal of the internal revenue tax on whiskey and tobacco means the transfer of this tax to the States to levy, we have nothing to say in opposition; but if it means the total exemption of these articles from taxation, either State or National, we pronounce the scheme a snare and abomination.

Speaker Carlisle has announced the Hon. Samuel Dibble has been put on two Committees.
ORANGEBURG, S. C., Dec. 24, 1883. Editors Times and Democrat.
At a regular communication of Snell Lodge, No. 132, A. F. M., held at their hall in Middle Township, on Saturday, the 22d, it was my good fortune to be present and units with the brethren in their annual installation of officers. The following were re-elected to serve for the ensuing year:
H. L. Rickenbacker, W. M.; Jno. L. Rush, S. W.; A. J. Sydes, J. W. S. M. Fair, Treasurer; E. W. Sullivan, W. G. Stewart, J. D. G. V. Patrick, Steward; W. P. Ayers, Tyler.

A very large audience being in attendance the hall was somewhat crowded, and in order that all might witness the interesting ceremony of the installation, the exercises were conducted in open hall. D. W. C. Cutting Post Master officiating, who, after performing his duty in an impressive manner, delivered an oration characteristic of the high civilization and high civilization of the Order. He urged very forcibly the duties and work of the brotherhood and the grand result to be accomplished. No one present could fail to appreciate and warmly endorse the address, which was a masterpiece of oratory, on the part of brother C., for the good of the order.

Dinner was announced soon after. As you are all acquainted with the wisdom and prudence of the program that was to be followed, and that all who gathered around the board did full justice to the elegant banquet.

PROCLAMATION!
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.
COLUMBIA, December 14, 1883.
Whereas information has been received at this office that on the 17th day of November, 1882, the Barn of J. A. H. Halger was burned, and that on the 17th day of November, 1882, the Barn of William Bam, and on the 5th day of December, the Barn of R. W. Halger, all in Orangeburg County, were burned, and there being reason to believe that the burning of the said buildings was an act of incendiarism.
Now, therefore, I, HUGH S. THOMPSON, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order to preserve the public peace, and to give effect to the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward of SEVENTY-FIVE ($75) DOLLARS, in each case, for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who committed said act of incendiarism.
In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Columbia this 14th day of December, 1883, and in the 18th year of the Independence of the United States of America.
By the Governor: HUGH S. THOMPSON.
