TALK OF BASE BALL

PROJECT AFLOAT TO LAUNCH AN OUTLAW LEAGUE.

With Charleston, Orangeburg, Sumter, Georgetown and Florence in

The News and Courier says a profect has been launched here to organize an outlaw league, with their four or six clubs, one of which is to be Charleston. According to what can be learned at the local headquarters Charleston, Sumter, Florence, Orangeburg and Georgetown may be counted on; and it has been tentat vely arranged to open the playing shortly after the first of June, so that the teams may be strengthened by college material during the sea-

The point at which the idea originated is not known, but Manager Sams, of the Charleston Tigers, who is connected with the Charleston end of the deal, states that there is every chance for its ultimate success. The league would play about seventy games per club, and it could be made a paying proposition with a rigidly enforced limit of $600, this to include twelve players, counting the

While nothing definitely is known, it is understood that there would be little trouble in getting a fast and snappy team together in Charleston for the money set at the proposed mark. There are many good young ball players who are holding down positions which are far from lucrative, and who would be glad to play professional ball at $50 per month

Those at the head of the new movement have figured the whys and wherefores carefully in their efforts to launch the project. The railroad fares would be very slight, as is shown by the following roughly compiled mileages: Charleston to Sumter 94 miles; Charleston to Florence, 102 miles; Charleston to Georgetown, 90 miles; Charleston to Orangeburg, 80 miles; Florence to Sumter, 39 miles; Florence to Orangeburg, 83 miles; Florence to Georgetown, 84 miles; Sumter to Orangeburg, 44 miles; Sumter to Georgetown, 76 miles.

The limit of $600, with the twelve player limit, would enable the men to receive an average salary of $50 half bad. It would enable many players, who are ambitious in baseall lines, to have a chance to put themselves in condition for a raise ling campaign.

The success of such an enterprise as has been proposed rests entirely in their homes. with the calibre of the executive officers elected. If a competent man is placed at the head of the organizadown to the $600 mark, the game will be carried out:

General Sessions Adjourned.

The Court of General Sessions, which was in session last week, adjourned Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, as a result of the decision of the Court Monday, in which Judge Prince ruled that the list of jurors had not been made up according to law, and therefore all of the jurors were ineligible to sit on any case. This suits the farmers who were on the jury very well, as they are very busy.

OVER ONE THOUSAND PARTICI-PATE IN THE PARADE.

Gen. C. Irvinne Walker, of Charleston, the Orator of the Day.-Several Crosses of Honor Bestowed.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in this city yesterday with a big parade and exercises at the Opera House. The day was a perfect one and much interest was taken in the celebration. During the hour of the celebration most of the stores of the city were closed and Promptly at ten o'clock the grand parade was started at the park on the corner of Glover and Elliott Streets. Col. A. H. Marchant, Col. D. O. Herbert and Col. W. G. Smith acted as marshalls, while Maj. J. W. Culler acted as adjutant. These gentlemen have all held high military positions and in the parade yesterday made a good showing. They were mounted. The parade was made up of the Orangeburg Police Force, the Orangeburg Military Band, the Tillman Volunteers, Orangeburg Coilege students, the students of the mittees. Orangeburg Graded Schools and the Confederate Veterans.

The march was down Russell street to Broughton street and counter march Russell to Middleton street. and on to the Opera House. The parade was very long, with over one thousand participating. The Confederate veterans, though their ranks are fast growing smaller, were loudly applauded along the march.

The exercises at the opera house were splendid and were presided over by Mr. G. L. Salley. Gen. C. Irvinne Walker, of Charleston, was the orator and pleased his large audof Charleston sang solos.
