 Lorimer is on the rack once more, and we believe this time he will be made to walk the plank.
 Mr. Bryan says the Republicans are in office but not in power. While they draw the salaries, the Democrats furnish the policies that are being carried out.
 Andrew Carnegie thinks that all the fuss and feathers over the coronation of King George of England is a roaring farce. We rather agree with the old gentleman.
 If we are to judge by the attentions paid Mr. Bryan in the different towns in South Carolina during his recent visit to them, we would say he is about as popular as ever.
 We predict that Senator Bailey of Texas, will be defeated in his race for re-election to the Senate and will remove to New York and become or try to become a great trust lawyer.
 The new Lorimer investigators are threatening to subpoena the entire membership of the Illinois Legislature which gave him his alleged election. An exchange says it might be well for property owners in the vicinity of this particular hearing to nail all valuables down.
 Orangeburg is indebted to the Hon.
 Thos. F. Brantley for the handsome manner in which he entertained Mr.
 Bryan on his visit to this city. Mr.
 Brantley is a personal friend and great admirer of the distinguished gentleman, and it was a pleasure for him to have Mr. Bryan in his home.
 In his short political talk Mr.
 Bryan proved conclusively that the Republicans are now trying to enact into law policies that they denounced when first put in Democratic platforms. He said it was becoming a hard matter for the Democrats to adopt any policy that the Republicans would not steal.
 The Charlotte Observer tells of a man in that State under arrest for beating his wife with a stick, the thickness of a fishing rod. Cowhides do not come in that size, we believe, but the usual size, in the hands of a stout constable, laid on the bare back forty times save one, should prove an excellent instrument of reformation.
 Senator LaFollette's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination has, of course, no prospect whatever of success. The Charlotte Observer says apparently it is designed, in view of the exposure which has come upon insurgent Republican assumptions of superior virtue, chiefly as the only means of establishing clear distinctions between regular and insurgent again.
 The Newberry Observer this week prints a letter from Governor Blease requesting it to stop the paper from coming to his office. He states that he subscribed to the paper because it was a home paper, but wishes it stopped because of recent "dirty" flings which it has made. The Observer says "the governor does not specify what he is pleased to call the "dirty little flings" and we are at a loss to know what he means; but it is immaterial."
 That Carrie Nation was a good woman with good intentions but of mis-directed zeal is the general verdict. It goes without saying that the temptation to resort to physical violence to be rid of evils is sometimes very strong. But such methods are neither wise or right. It does not do to create one evil to destroy another, nor to break the law that other people may keep it. The destruction of evils will be brought about by better laws, education and a higher standard of morals.
 In his speech on the Canadian reciprocity bill, Senator Bailey sought at once to uphold Democratic views on tariff reduction and to overthrow the agreement which will carry those views into effect. In one sentence he loudly proclaimed his loyalty to the principles of Democracy. In the next he denounced the practical application of a doctrine for which his party has long stood and striven.
 His place is in the Republican party, where he would be if Texas was a Republican State.
 Many stout hearts that pass through direct nominations and direct election of senators without a quiver hesitate at the referendum.
 Others go on until they come to the initiative, at which they balk. When we get to the recall, there is panic all along the line, and it is only the seasoned veterans or the reckless young enthusiasts that walk up without flinching. Yet these three principles are the very essence of real democracy. Without them there can be no rule of the people.

Stand By Your Town.

"Why should I support my own town?" is a question every one should put to himself and honestly consider. The result would be beneficial both to the individual and the town. Here are a few of the many reasons he would be sure to find.
 The town is his home and a man's first duty is to his communal home as well as to his domestic home. Again local patriotism demands it. Love for and pride in one's town is the duty as it should ever be the joy of every citizen, and that patriotism should find constant expression in furthering its interests. His town affords him the protection of its government and laws and guards his property against fire and other losses.
 A man should trade in his town. Its business men are courteous, willing and progressive their stock of goods is large and varied, and if there is something one wants which they do not carry they are always ready to secure it. Unlike catalogue houses, the home merchants help to pay the taxes of a town, they contribute to churches, improvements and entertainments. Without the business men the town would stagnate and property decrease in value.
 The schools of a town provide ample and satisfactory education for one's children, and its churches meet and satisfy his religious needs and conserve the moral and spiritual interests of the community. Its newspapers keep him informed on local matters, enlarge his knowledge, help him in business, minister to his enjoyment and that of his family, and promote every wise effort put forth to help the best interests of the town.

Worse than Bull Fighting.

The speed auto races like that held recently in Indianapolis serve no good purpose, but rather the reverse. It is notorious that many of the spectators attended because they expected to see any number of accidents. In all this a morbid curiosity and a callous indifference to suffering revealed itself. It is a lamentable fact that betting as to the number of deaths and other accidents was freely engaged in and that many people were greatly disappointed because put one man was killed. Such exhibitions are destitute of true sport and they have a degrading influence both upon those who participate in them and those who witness them. We are in the habit of reading long lectures to the Spaniards, Mexicans and other Latin peoples about the cruelty and barbarity of bull fighting in which some of their people indulge. Sometimes this cruel sport among them is attributed to their decadence as a race. We would like to have the judgment of these critics on the auto races and the thirst of blood manifested by some who attended them. Does such barbarities indicate the decadence of Americans as a race?

George Was Alright.

And now comes the story that George Washington could on occasions stretch his blanket, and thus would the delvers into the past shatter another fond tradition. Coming after the assertion that the old gentleman would sometimes indulge in full round oaths, and that he was a tax dodger, it will all come as a painful shock to those hero worshippers who imagined, or thought they did, that Washington was superior to any human weakness. We do not believe all that is being said about the Father of his Country, but if they are true sensible and level headed men and women will not think any less of the great and noble George Washington. Not that they approve of moral infirmities, but for the reason that in spite of limitations, which all men to some extent possess, he was so great, so exalted and so noble, and that his service to his country and to all mankind was of so transcendent a character. George Washington was a true, unselfish patriot, his greatness will grow brighter as the years roll by.

Improve Your Business.

The way for the business men to boost the town is to advertise what they have to sell in the county papers. This will not only boost the town, but will improve the business of every merchant that tries it. A business ebbs or flows, goes up or down, in proportion as the business man lets people know what he has to sell them. To act on the idea that what people want they will come and seek after, might do if all business followed it. But the shrewd, up-to-date business man will not follow such fustian methods, but through judicious, attractive and generous advertising tells the public what he has, and the public reciprocates by trading with him. In truth, people do not want to bother themselves with wondering where they can get an article when the fact can be brought to their notice through an advertisement in the local paper. The invariable rule is, no advertising, little business; fair advertising, fair business; generous advertising, prosperous business. Why that rule works out so infallibly is clear to every intelligent mind.

Time to Save Our Boys.

Judge J. F. Allen in speaking to a jury said "the time has come when the good people of our land should take a stand, not only for temperance, sobriety and suppression of strong drinks in our community but to every appearance of evil that is known to be harmful, not only to ourselves, but to our boys. I call your especial attention to one of the most dangerous, hurtful and growing practices known, that of cigarettes and tobacco smoking. Many of the inmates of our asylums can trace their loss of memory, manhood and mind to the early and constant use of tobacco and cigarettes. I hope that not only the fathers and mothers of the boys who are so unfortunate as to be addicted to this evil prac-

... may be awakened to the enormity of this great and growing evil, but that we may all be aroused to vigorous action and use every effort to suppress it, if possible, and save the bright boys of our land against this uncalled for, hurtful, and pernicious practice of tobacco and cigarette smoking."

John Wanamaker, whose life has been insured for a million and a half, once said:

From the day an honest man pays the first premium for life insurance, that first receipt of his gives a new impulse, a new light to his eye and a new hope to his heart.

The late Grover Cleveland said:
 Get a policy and then hold on to it. It means self-respect; it means that nobody will have to put something in a hat for you or your dependent ones.

Dr. Lyman Abbott said:
 One could easily bear to take his wife and children down with him into poverty so long as he could be with them to help carry the load but to go off to his eternal rest and leave them to go down into poverty and to fight the wolf from the door, what more terrible prospect?

The Rev. T. De Wit Talmage, said:
 It is a mean thing to go up to heaven while your family go to the poorhouse. When they are out at the elbows the thought of your splendid robe in Heaven will not keep them warm. The minister may preach a splendid sermon over your remains, and the quartette may sing like four angels alighted in the organ loft, but your death will be a swindle.
