THIS BRIDEGROOM SAT DOWN

Didn't See Why He Should Stand While the Bride Plighted Her Troth at the Altar.

They strolled into the parsonage of a suburban town in New Jersey and asked to get married. They were from back in the country and both seemed anxious to get the ceremony over and done with, and get back to their work. Thrifty young people of German blood, they were, with no time to waste on foolishness. The minister called in his wife and servant to witness the ceremony and proceeded promptly. He had the couple stand before him, asked the usual preliminary questions, and then got from the bridegroom the pledge that tied him for life to the bride. He had just started with "Do you take this man," when he was astonished to see the bridegroom walk over to a sofa and calmly sit down. "What do you mean by that?" asked the minister. "Don't you want to finish the ceremony?" "Sure," said the bridegroom. "But you're through with me. I've said my part, and I'll sit here until she says hers. I'm tired." "You'll come back here and stand up until it is over," said the parson in some heat. The man got up and came back. His bride had not minded his action in the least. After they had gone the minister spoke his mind: "The woman is going to get the worst of that matrimonial bargain." And for once his wife agreed with him.

SHE GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Physicians Failed To Help Mrs. Green, But She Finally Found Relief in Cardui.

Meeta, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well. One day, I decided to try some Cardui. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and it cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life. The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardui will do for sick women." A few doses of Cardui at the right time, will save many a big doctor bill, by preventing serious sickness. It tones up the nervous system, and helps make the pale cheeks firm and rosy. Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardui. Suppose you try it. It may be just the medicine you need.
