

THE HOME CIRCLE

PLEASANT EVENING SERVICES FOR OLD AND YOUNG.

Dedicated to the Mothers of the County Upon Which Its Entire Welfare Depends.

If you think a house should have only one head, and that be yours, postpone your wedding indefinitely.

There is an old saying to the effect that an untidy mother has disobedient children, and, while neither parents or children may realize the why or wherefore of it, yet there is always a lack of respect and an indifference to the authority of a mother who takes no pride in her personal appearance.

The meanest men in the world are those who have allowed themselves to drift away from their mothers and forget all about them.

Who does not feel more cheerful and contented for receiving a polite bow, a genial "good morning," a hearty shake of the hand?

There is a certain species of reptile found in all parts of the known world; its home is not so much in the jungles and wilderness, as one might suppose.

The woman whose life-book has love written on every page; who makes a home for a man, a home in a house and in a heart, a home that is sure of a home that is full of love presided over by one whose price is above rubies.

Parents make their great mistakes in their training of children, by not recognizing their individuality. Each child has peculiarities in mind, temperament, disposition and character which makes it an individual problem.

Of all the evils prevailing among young men we know of none more blighting in its moral effects than the tendency to speak slightly of the virtue of women.

There is no question that a child can seriously and fairly ask that cannot be as seriously and fairly answered. To tell a child to lead it to infer that it is "too little" to know anything more on any subject about which it already knows enough to frame a question, is to deny its capacity for further growth.

We do know why any one should object to a wife calling her husband by his first name when among friends, but is seldom regarded as good form to do so excepting in the presence of relatives.

Success is never obtained in a country like this without effort. If you fall once, try again. If you fall down, get up. If it is dark, strike a light.

Don't wait till some one is gone from you to tell their virtues. Don't wait until your sister is far away in another land to tell how helpful, how pretty or how courteous she is; and don't wait until the weary hands are crossed and the long sleep comes before you make mother know what a beautiful blue are her eyes, how tender her heart, and how dearly you love her.

Dots From Magnolia.

As I have not seen a word from Magnolia since the Bazaar I will tell you something as it turned out so nicely. We had quite a large crowd and I can say more than that it was the best behaved crowd I have seen in a long time.

Our last festival was quite a success. The program was good and well rendered, the amount raised makes us have enough for the next payment on the piano, and a surplus.

The school will open on Oct. 23rd, 1911. We will have the same teacher we had last year, Miss Martha McCleave of McConellsville. A pupil.

Death of Mrs. Julia Kibler. The Newberry Herald and News says: "Mrs. Julia Barre Kibler, relict of D. W. T. Kibler, died on Friday afternoon, at the residence of her son-in-law, Dr. J. A. Simpson, at Prosperity, at the age of 79 years after an illness of two or three weeks with heart disease, ten years' Mrs. Kibler was the mother of Mrs. R. F. Bryant, of this city.

They Had a Damp Time. Tuesday was circus day and it was also drizzily, drizzly day. Showers fell off and on all day, and the grounds, and the tent, and in fact everything connected with the circus and the people who attended the show, had a pretty damp time.

Let the sunshine into the gloomy rooms, have a catch to lie on, a piano to play on; in fact, a home to live in; one wherein a sense of hospitality and good cheer exudes from the very tables and chairs, instead of a mausoleum of gloomy elegance, wherein everything is for show, and nothing to be used.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The Millionaire Kid Here Saturday Evening.

Saturday, Oct. 21—The Millionaire Kid. Wednesday, Oct. 25—The Girl and the Tramp. Monday, Oct. 30—The Girl in the Taxi. Tuesday, Oct. 31—Frederick the Great.

"The Millionaire Kid." "The Millionaire Kid" a musical drama of the latest creation is to be the offering at the Academy of Music on Saturday night, Oct. 21. The story of the play is said to be of intense interest and told in a virginal manner that is topical in the extreme.

"The Girl and the Tramp." "The Girl and the Tramp," a four act comedy will be seen at the Academy of Music one night, Wednesday, Oct. 25.

Not long since, there was a picnic given at Uncle Paul Livingstons, in honor of his little granddaughter from Florida. The little children had dinner in the yard, under the big trees.

Julia Academy Locals.

For amusement they made colored paper wind wheels, went to the branch and went in wading, then we had a little "donkey party," Miss Marie Schoenberg winning the first prize, and Mr. Ewart Livingston the "booby" prize.

The Orangeburg Baptist Association held a very pleasant session at Salem Church Wednesday and Thursday near here. The community at large feels that it has been greatly benefited by the talks of some of its most distinguished leaders. A most bountiful dinner was served both days.

How Can People Know. The Wilmington Star says: "People ought to buy from home merchants, but if home merchants do not advertise, how are they to know merchants wish their trade?"

Much Damage Was Done. The late cloudburst that visited the Port Motte section of Calhoun County a short time ago did a great deal of damage to mill property and crops in other sections as well as in the immediate neighborhood of where it occurred.

When to Look for Frost. The average date for the first killing frost of the fall in this vicinity is about November 8. That is the record of the weather bureau at Columbia. A record for twenty-five years shows that the earliest date at which a killing frost was observed in this section was October 19, 1896, and during this same period, the fear in which the frost waited longest to come was 1902, when it was the 28th of November before the deadly crystals appeared on the fields in this vicinity.

Mr. D. N. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Smith, who left Orangeburg to seek his fortune out west, is doing fine in his adopted home when he first got out there, he found work sort of hard to get. So he took a position in a steam fitting establishment, and now he is earning five dollars a day. He is located at Paola, Kansas, but he has to go from city to city where-over his firm gets a contract. Mr. Smith's many friends here will be glad to hear he is doing so well, and wish him even greater success in the years to come.

More rain fell in Orangeburg on Tuesday than has fallen in this city in one day in many months. Some folks come from quite a distance on Tuesday to take in the circus. They sure had a sloppy time.

Once more the farmer, by the aid of Nature's magic, contributes millions of dollars to the wealth of the word and the happiness of mankind. Without his aid the wheels of industry would stop and starvation would stalk abroad. In its voting contest The Times and Democrat will give away to successful contestants one three hundred dollar Marchant Piano, four sewing machines and some thirty-one piece Handsomely Decorated Porcelain Dinner Sets.

The Piano The Times and Democrat will give away in its voting contest will be no cheap John affair like those usually given away in contests of this kind, but will be a standard instrument, and will be guaranteed by the Marchant Music Company of this city, from whom it will be bought.

The annual miracle of nature, by which the brown dust of the earth is converted into fleecy cotton, out of which clothes are made for the millions of the earth, and into bread for the eater, is again performed by Nature's magic. In the face of this greatest of all miracles, why should we doubt the miracles spoken of in the Bible?
