COLLEGE NOTES.

Nearly three weeks have passed since Newberry College began its 1917-1918 session and the student body and the faculty have commenced the work of the new term in earnest and with much zeal and vigor, having been greatly benefitted by the rest from toil and study during a summer vacation of many pleasures and much healthful recreation. Class organizations have already been perfected and the literary societies of the institution have started the new year in splendid style, all students displaying much interest and enthusiasm in their work as members of these societies. As usual, Th. Y. M. C. A. is doing much for the student life at the college and it is expected that greater good will be accomplished by this splendid organization this year than ever before. Every student is a member of the Y. M. C. A. this year and the attendance at the meetings of the association which are held every Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, has been unusually large.

A new literary society, consisting of the members of the Freshman and Sub-Freshman classes, has been organized at the college this year. This society is known as the Ciceronian Literary Society. It was organized for the purpose of giving all new students some training along this line before becoming members of the older literary societies of the institution which are composed of upper-classmen, who have already had experience in speech-making, debating and other phases of the work promoted by these organizations.

Military training is a new feature at Newberry college this session and it is an attractive and beneficial addition to the college course. All Sub-Freshmen, Freshmen and Sophomores are required to take this military training and many of the Juniors and Seniors are taking the course, also. At present, a company of about one hundred students is being drilled in military tactics. Thus far, the men have drilled without uniforms or guns. However, uniforms have been ordered and these will arrive in about two weeks. It is hoped that guns can be secured for the use of the company later in the session.

A number of young men will represent the Y. M. C. A. at the annual meeting of the Federation of Young People's Societies of the Lutheran church in South Carolina, which will be held in Columbia Friday and Saturday.

Newberry opened the Foot Ball season in Columbia Saturday and lost the first game to the University of South Carolina by the count of 38 to 0. The Indians fought hard for the game but were finally overwhelmed on account of being opposed by a much heavier team and as a result of injuries to several of the best players in the squad. Not at all daunted but slightly stung by this defeat, the members are far more determined than ever to win a majority of the remaining gridiron contests of the season. Already, the tribe is putting on the war paint for the next struggle and it would be no great surprise for the husky bunch of Indians to take a scalp when they go on the warpath again for another invasion of hostile territory. Several new and promising players were out in uniform Monday afternoon and from all appearances the team will present a much more formidable front at the next contest. Anyway, some of the other college elevens in the State may yet find it necessary to sit up and take notice of the Newberry Indians before the season reaches its grand climax on Thanksgiving's Day.

VARIOUS AND ALL ABOUT.

SLIGH-HIPP.

A pretty home wedding and one of interest, Sunday afternoon, was that of Miss Sara Sligh of the county and M. Fincher Hipp of Saluda, the ceremony was performed at the attractive home of the bride's father, M. G. M. Sligh by the Rev. W. R. Bouknight, promptly at 3:30 o'clock. The bridal party entered as follows: Miss Lily Sligh and Mr. Arthur Hipp, Miss Azile Maybin and Mr. George Sligh, Miss Ethel Sligh and Mr. James Hipp. The parlor where the marriage vows were impressively solemnized, was small but tastefully decorated with draperies of ivy and cut flowers.

The bride is quite an attractive young woman, was becomingly gowned in a lovely blue coat suit with big black hat, gloves and boots to match.

The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the near relatives and a few close friends were there. At 6 o'clock the party was invited in the dining room where a beautiful supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Hipp will make their home in Saluda, and the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends go with them. The bride who is greatly missed by her numerous friends in this county.

THORNWELL ORPHANS IN NEED.

The death of Dr. W. P. Jacobs, founder and president of Thornwell Orphanage, leaves the orphan family of over 300 without a president. The vice president, Rev. J. B. Branch, resigned effective October 1st, which leaves the institution without an official head.

The responsibility of the care of the children is on the Board of Trustees, who are unfitted to do the work.

A new president has been elected, but it may be some time before he can come. In the meantime the children need bread and clothing and school books. There is no money in the treasury, none whatever. The property of the institution cannot be hypothecated to borrow money. The charter prevents that.

Will the reader try to realize these hundreds of bright, beautiful orphan children actually without means to buy bread? For that is exactly the situation. When Dr. Jacobs found the institution in such a situation he always told it to the good people. He trusted that God would put it into their hearts to send the money or the food or the clothing, and God never forsook him and never forsook the children.

We are not competent to present the matter as he did, but we tell the story without any gloss and without adequate language. It is literally true that these children whom Dr. Jacobs always called "God's children" are without fathers and without a president, and without money and without food, and they are in need of winter clothing and school books for the new term. Everything costs more than it has been costing. The dollars which are coming in are spent as carefully as possible, but they are too few to meet the bills. The institution is therefore face to face with the fact that it cannot furnish the children nutritious food and with warm clothing unless the gifts of God's people are greatly enlarged and quickly forwarded.

If the reader could only pass from cottage to cottage and get acquainted with the beautiful girls and the fine manly boys and talk with them about themselves, and about the institution, their work, the love of the children themselves would bring all that they need, but only a few of those who read this have opportunity to visit the institution and know the children personally. To such it is only possible to realize the situation if they can imagine their own children without a father, without money, in many cases without friends, housed in a wonderful home where the leader, the adopted father, is dead, and where there is no one to provide.

We are trying to lay the matter upon your hearts, gentle readers, that you may be the more willing to share the responsibility with us. "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me."
