CREAMERY EXPERT TO MAKE ADDRESS AT POE MEETING

Farmers Will Be Instructed How to Handle Cream. Large Meeting Expected February 13th

As announced through the press last week, Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer of Raleigh, North Carolina, will address the farmers and business men of Newberry county on Monday, February 13th. Dr. Poe's address will be along the lines of cooperative marketing, not particularly along the line of cooperative marketing of cotton, but the cooperative marketing of all farm products.

Dr. Poe is perhaps one of the ablest speakers in the two Carolinas and it is needless to say that the farmers and business men of Newberry county will show their appreciation of his coming by packing the court house to its utmost capacity. As announced before, Dr. Poe is not coming to Newberry for the purpose of "advising" the farmers, but to give them a clear-cut idea of what can be accomplished through the cooperative marketing plan and to tell them what other communities throughout the country are doing along this line.

Creamery Expert

In connection with the address of Dr. Poe, Mr. C. G. Cushman, assistant extension dairyman of Clemson college will be present and address the farmers on the subject of properly handling the cream. This is a very valuable forethought of the creamery committee of our chamber of commerce and one which should be appreciated by the many progressive farmers of Newberry county.

It is earnestly hoped that every farmer in the county will come prepared to give the creamery committee the necessary information regarding the number of cows being milked by them, and whether or not they will furnish the cream from these cows to the creamery.

Let every one remember the date of the meeting and be early in order to get a seat, as it is expected that the meeting will be the most largely attended meeting of its character ever held in Newberry. It will be called to order promptly at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Arrangements will be made to have the doors of the court room open not later than 1:30.

"LADIES NIGHT" MEETING OF ROTARY CLUB

The Rotarians make a practice of entertaining their wives, sweethearts and lady friends at least once a year and now comes around again the annual "Ladies Night" meeting of the Rotary club of Newberry.

This special meeting will take the place of their regular fortnightly luncheon and will be given in the large dining room of the Newberry hotel at 7:30 on Tuesday, the 7th.

Earle Babb has prepared the music and Jim Moon the other part of the program. Both of these Rotarians are capable of putting on a fine evening of fun and with the combination not telling what is in store for those who will attend.

President Ben Cromer will wield the gavel and doubtless he will have a great time keeping the different members from trying to show off their talents too often.

Joseph A. Turner, district governor of the 7th district of Rotary clubs will attend this meeting and those who know "Governor Joe" declare that not a dull moment has ever been known at any meeting where he was present.

CARD TOURNAMENT TO BE GIVEN BY LEGION AUXILIARY

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary will give a bride or rook tournament at the American Legion hall on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 11th, from 4 to 6, and again that evening from 7:30 to 10, and everybody is cordially invited to attend. Either bride or rook may be played and we hope every one will avail themselves of the opportunity of spending a very pleasant afternoon or evening and helping out the auxiliary.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS PROSPEROUS PROSPERITY

Prosperity, Feb. 6.—One of the interesting affairs of the week was the party given by Mrs. J. M. Bederbaugh Wednesday afternoon when she entertained in honor of the 11th birthday of her so Cornell. The rooms of the attractive bungalow abloom with fragrant flowers and lighted by the soft glow of shaded electric lights, was in delightful contrast to the rainy winter weather on the outside. Twenty of the honor-guest school mates and Sunday school mates were present and many enjoyable games were played, after which a tempting sweet course was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Nellie Mae Dasher and Margaret Griffin. Master Cornell was the recipient of many pretty and useful gifts.

The Community League met Thursday afternoon at the school auditorium. During the business session a committee was appointed to beautify the school grounds. Mrs. M. C. Morris, chairman, is fortunate in that she has a committee who will work right along with her in the development of plans and ideas, composed of Mrs. J. F. Browne, Mrs. J. D. Quattlebaum, E. W. Werts and J. A. Counts. Miss Susie Langford, grammar school teacher, entertained the parents with a lesson on Lee which was well rendered by her pupils.

The February meeting of the William Lester chapter U. D. C. was held Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Effie Hawkins. The program for this meeting was especially interesting in that 15 members took part under the leadership of Mrs. M. C. Morris. It was the story of "Eneas Africanus," "Carolina Sunshine," "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia," and "Dixie," played on the Edison concluded the program for the afternoon. The hostess, assisted by Miss Clara Brown, served a tempting sweet course, with miniature hats as souvenirs. The March meeting will be held with Mrs. G. W. Harmon.

With Miss Frances Bederbaugh as hostess the James D. Nance C. of C. held a most enjoyable meeting on Saturday afternoon. Miss Salome Dominick led the meeting, the subject being "Jacob Ezikiel." Song, "Tramp, Tramp." Life of Jacob Mosas Ezikiel—Salome Dominick. Gleanings—Rosalyne Quattlebaum. Song, "My Maryland."

Miss Myrtle Mathis assisted the hostess in serving hot chocolate and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wise entertained informally at a dinner party on Thursday evening in honor of the birthday of their granddaughter, Miss Rebecca Harmon. Pink and white was the color scheme used in decorating the dining room and party table and the birthday cake was of snowy white topped with seventeen gleaming tapers.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES.

At the conference of the American Legion officials held last month at Indianapolis the first business transacted was the adoption of a resolution with regard to the disabled ex-service men.

"The American Legion, in conference assembled of its national executive committee, department commanders, department adjutants and important national committees... as its first thought and action calls upon the government for prompt, honest and efficient functioning of all agencies affecting the welfare of our disabled comrades; and further demands that immediate steps be taken by the proper authorities to completely decentralize the veterans bureau and settle at once all pending claims.

"The American people want these men given proper care. The American Legion intends to see that this is done."

Other things accomplished at this conference were:

Approved the national commander's plan for service and compensation census in all departments.

Appropriated $25,000 for a memorial to be erected in Cincinnati in honor of the late National Commander Galbraith.

Selected October 16th-20th as the dates for the fourth national convention at New Orleans.

Authorized the national commander to appoint a national athletic commission.

Approved the appointment of a special committee to investigate the advisability of organizing a father's auxiliary.

Authorized the national commander to appoint a committee to make plans for a rotating fund whereby men not in need of adjusted compensation may make their share available for needy ex-service men.

Endorsed the suggestion that the birthday of General Robert E. Lee (January 19th) be added to the list of anniversaries especially appropriate for legion observance.

The decision to include the birthday of General Robert E. Lee on the list of anniversaries prepared by the national Americanism commission is symbolic of the non-sectional sentiment prevailing throughout the legion.

Don't forget meeting of post tonight (Monday) at 7:30.

LADIES OF CIVIC LEAGUE VISIT SANITARY LAUNDRY

Many Ladies Promise to Patronize Laundry After Seeing Method in Which Washings Are Handled

By invitation of our chamber of commerce, through its secretary, C. P. McDaniel, a large number of ladies who are members of the Newberry Civic League availed themselves of the opportunity of going through the Sanitary Laundry and Dry Cleaning company's plant on last Thursday afternoon for the purpose of learning something of the methods used by the laundry, and it is needless to say that all of the ladies in the party were very pleasantly surprised, for indeed things were being conducted in a more sanitary manner than they expected to find them, and after the inspection of the plant had been concluded words of praise were heard from every lady and the greatest majority of them stated that hereafter the laundry would receive the biggest part, if not all of their work.

Mr. Mathis, the general manager, evinced pleasure at having the ladies visit the plant and left no stone unturned in his effort to make the visit both pleasant and instructive.

The sanitary laundry is a great institution and any community is fortunate in having such an one, with a manager who understands his business as thoroughly as does Mr. Mathis. One of the main features to the outward view was the spirit of order and cooperation which seemed to prevail throughout the entire plant. The visit was an entirely unexpected one to the manager, so things appeared in their ordinary every day manner.

Mr. Mathis tells us that he does not take in any garments or work from a home where there is a contagious disease, unless they have first been fumigated, although he states the health officers here are not as particular about this matter as they are in other cities.

Every class of work is carried on in the Sanitary laundry of Newberry—dyeing, cleaning, both dry and steam. Hats are cleaned and blocked. In fact almost anything in one's home can be sent to the laundry and will be cleaned and handled in a most sanitary manner.

We saw portieres in process of being dyed and all of the work was exceedingly interesting, and the best part of it all is that it costs no more to have your washing done there than by an ordinary washwoman. The clothes come home clean and free from unhealthy germs. If you wish your entire wash back home the same day as sent in to the laundry, all you have to do is call Mr. Mathis before 10:00 o'clock in the morning and he will have it back to you by night.

Another thing, if a garment is lost the management makes it good and in any case where work is not up to the standard it is done over without argument. Another feature of the laundry is that they will call at your home and weigh your washing so you will know just what it will cost before it leaves the house. A family wash is done for ten cents per pound—this includes everything in the line of flat clothing. It does not include stiff collars, heavy trousers, lace curtains, quilts, suits or blankets. All of these articles go through another process and are charged for at moderate prices.

To give you an idea of weight for clothing—a sheet averages one half pound, an average wash weighs fifteen pounds, which would, of course, amount to $1.50.

There are some garments that should not be sent to the laundry because in going through the process necessary for their sanitary cleaning they are certain to shrink. All housekeepers know that flannels and silk underwear should not be subject to boiling, nor should they have hard rubbing.

Mr. Mathis keeps one woman whose duty it is to hand-wash certain fabrics that can not be subjected to the harsher treatment.

There is what is called a "damp wash." This is where the clothing is washed, ready to be starched and ironed, but not dried. This is done for five cents per pound. There is also what is called "rough dried"—here the garments are washed, dried and starched, ready to be ironed. Mr.

THIS "GET MORE" AGE.

Greenwood people who recall the address at the 1920 Chautauqua of Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, under Roosevelt will read with interest, or should some good, plain, common-sense observations of his at a recent dinner in New York city.

"This seems to be a generation of 'get-mores,'" said Mr. Shaw. "The question that seems uppermost in young people's minds nowadays is, how can I get more money, how can I find a short-cut to wealth? If more than the legitimate fee for a service or profit from an undertaking is to be obtained, they are all for it. What we need to teach the younger generation is how to put more into life, not how to get more out of it.

"Yet the idea of thrift seems furthest from their minds. The whole sentiment among young people is not to accumulate savings, and thrift is considered stinginess. There is only one infallible rule for success, and that is—can a man live within his income? A man who spends all of his income for living expenses is never going to succeed."

The evils of a paternalistic central government was another tendency of the present day seen by Mr. Shaw.

"The function of government is not to give old-age pensions," he went on. "We are rapidly drifting in the direction of having our federal government care for everybody, in a spirit of mistaken charity, instead of leaving a free rein to individual initiative and the opportunity of every man to carve out his own destiny. Do you want to hold by your inalienable right and do your own work, whether it is running a railroad or boring for oil, or do you want your government to say, 'Here, you may lose money—let us bore your well for you? If we pursue our present course in which we are headed, our young men in a few years will be expecting the government to come around every morning with a milk bottle and give each of them four swallows. That's not what we made America for."

Growing boys are not being taught the meaning of a day's work and the value of a dollar as they were in the old days, Mr. Shaw thought. It was not the country's illiterates who were sleeping in the parks with newspapers for a mattress, but those whose parents kept them from working that they might get an education.

"But I'm not against education, mind you," said the speaker. "I believe in it, but the young man must be taught that he must work for what he gets; that this world keeps a one-price store, with no bargain counters."

Met Father's Boat

Pat Murphy was a great favorite in the works. Even his employer would sometimes stop and crack a joke with him.

One day the boss met Pat.

"Morning, Pat," he said. "I hear that lately you've taken quite a fancy for the girls."

Pat blushed and sniggered.

"Have you met your fate yet?" asked the boss.

"Sure and begorrah, sir," exclaimed Pat sadly. "I met one of her father's shoes last night."

It has just been discovered that 1921, when added together, make 13. No wonder we had so much bad luck last year.

Mathis did not give us the price for this work.

At present the business of the laundry is on the up-grade, but Mr. Mathis states that since he has been here he has received a large number of new customers and that when he first came here the out of town customers fully equalled the number in Newberry. He has now something over four hundred customers, but feels that he should have double that number. It takes a very small additional expense to take care of three or four hundred more customers than the number they now have, and it is hoped that the good people of Newberry will fall in line and patronize this institution, for indeed it is an enterprise that every citizen should feel justly proud of.

Agatha A. Woodson.

LEGISLATURE IS FACING WEEK OF WARM ARGUMENTS

Columbia, Feb. 5.—The week ahead promises to be full of "pep" in both branches of the general assembly, and while much will probably be done, the session will hardly be completed within the forty-day period for which members are paid.

Some important measures are to be debated this week. In the house the luxuries tax measure and the railroad commission bill are to come up for debate, and there will likely be a fierce battle waged over each.

The luxury tax bill will put a tax on movies, drinks, tobaccos, silk stockings, ammunition, playing cards, perfumes, chewing gum and furs. This is one of the six big revenue bills introduced by the ways and means committee.

The railroad commission bill, by Senator Miller, already voted by the upper branch, would enlarge the railroad commission to seven members each to receive a per diem to be elected by the legislature. The bill was debated long and fiercely in the senate and it will draw steel in the house.

Bad Check Bill

The "bad check" bill by Representatives Burnett and Sheppard, to make it a crime to utter checks on banks where there are no funds on deposit to cover, will also be up for debate this week, being set as a special order.

The gasoline tax bill, passed by both branches, comes back to the house for concurrence in the senate amendment eliminating kerosene and providing that half the proceeds shall go to the counties for roads. The tax on gasoline is fixed at two cents a gallon.

In the senate the corporation license tax is scheduled for hot debate this week. An effort to kill it last week was lost. The final vote will be taken Wednesday. It has a hard blow ahead in the senate, though it has already passed the house.

Income Tax

The income tax bill, already passed by the house, is on the senate calendar for second reading. It has met some opposition already.

Resolutions to allow the legislature to fix just and equitable systems of raising revenue, and to reduce land assessments twenty-five per cent, are on the senate calendar scheduled to draw debate.

The timber tax bill has been withdrawn by the author, Senator Wells. Senator Crosson of Lexington has withdrawn his bill to abolish the tax commission. The revenue measures are the most important on the calendar. The annual appropriations bill has not been introduced, and it is said the ways and means committee, where this originates, is waiting to see what is to be done with the revenue measures. The financial program is thought by many to be all that is in the way of adjournment and the progress made on these will determine whether or not the end comes within the forty days—though the probability seems unlikely.

The hydra electric tax bill, another of the revenue measures which will bring forth long heated arguments, is still with the finance committee. Two of the big revenue bills have passed both branches, the gasoline tax bill and the inheritance tax bill, but neither of them is in final form. Differences brought about by amendments are yet to be worked out.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IN CIVIC LEAGUE

Since its reorganization eight months ago the Civic League has on its roll sixty-eight active enthusiastic members. It is the earnest desire of these women that they shall have the interest and cooperation of every man and woman in the city who really wishes our city to become bigger, better, and more beautiful.

To give all such an opportunity to cooperate a membership drive will be put on this month, under the direction of Mrs. T. P. Johnson as chairman with Mesdames Boyd Jacobs, Julius Eison, Marion Davis, and Oscar Summer.

As her committee sub-committees have been appointed for every section of the city and no house will be omitted in the canvass.

Several men who have been helping the league in various ways have asked to become contributing members. In appreciation of this the league has incorporated in its by-laws provision for associate members among the men and these are invited to attend the meeting at any time, bring suggestions and join in the discussions.

The officers and members of the league appreciate deeply the complimentary and encouraging things that have been said and written about their efforts. They realize fully that every community is afflicted with chronic grumblers and grouchy critics—people who never put a shoulder to the wheel in the effort to build up a community or to beautify the city, but who always do the very cheapest thing possible—talk. These criticisms are always in a fault-finding spirit and are very often unjust.

To these we suggest that they first investigate.

A Civic League Member.
