PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS PROSPEROUS PROSPERITY

Prosperity, July 31.—Sunday school day was observed at Zion church. The exercises were well rendered by the children to a packed house. The special feature of the morning was a duet, "Whispering Hope," which was sung by Mrs. W. L. Mills and J. W. Warner. In the afternoon Prof. P. K. Harmon and Prof. R. M. Monts of Statesboro, Ga., made short addresses on co-operation. Pastor Griffin, closing the meeting in his usual pleasing manner, spoke of recently having been thrown with men from other parts of the country who boasted of their natural resources, while South Carolina was a state that was proud of her men. He called them to loyalty to the Sunday school, whose business is the making of men and women.

Revival services will begin Sunday at Zion with Rev. R. S. Morris of Shandon Methodist church, Columbia, as the preacher of the occasion.

Saturday evening at the Methodist parsonage Rev. J. D. Griffin united in marriage Miss Lottie Mills and D. A. Bedenbaugh. Mrs. Bedenbaugh is a recent graduate of Winthrop college and is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Mills. Mr. Bedenbaugh is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bedenbaugh and is a progressive young farmer.

The Epworth league of Zion church enjoyed a lawn party given last week at the home of Miss Mae Lee Shealy. Progressive conversation was the main feature of the evening's pleasure, after which the guests were refreshed with iced tea and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rauch of Dawson, Ga., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wise.

James Curlee of Winnsboro is visiting at the home of Dr. J. S. Wheeler.

Miss Bernice Ziegler of Orangeburg is the guest of Miss Nancy Young.

G. L. Robinson spent the week-end with Mrs. Robinson at the Columbia hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Werts and A. B. Wise motored to Columbia Sunday.

Dr. C. K. Wheeler motored to Columbia Sunday and was joined by his family who have returned from a month's stay at Mt. Airy, Md.

Mrs. Lee Boozer of Haines City, Fla., is visiting her son, Otis Boozer.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Warner and Messrs. Horace and Drewry Warner of Greenwood are visiting relatives here.

W. M. Lester of Augusta is visiting the home folks.

Peirce Barnes of Greenwood is home for a week's stay.

Mrs. Ella Julian and Mr. Monroe Bowles of Greenwood visited relatives here on Sunday, having come to attend the home coming day at Colony.

Rev. E. H. Seckinger was in Lexington for the week-end attending the Luther league.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Singley, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sease attended the missionary rally at High Hill church in Lexington county. Mrs. Singley was one of the speakers.

Misses Vida Counts and Carrie Counts spent several days last week in Columbia.

The annual Aull reunion will be held Tuesday, July 1st, at Youngs Grove.

FRECKLES BARRY TO PLAY ROLE OF "PENROD"

In "Freckles" Barry the screen has found the ideal impersonation of "Penrod," the boy characterized in Booth Tarkington's stories. The opinion comes, not from Marshall Neilan, who has made the film version of "Penrod," that will be shown at the opera house Thursday, but from Booth Tarkington himself. The Indiana author was largely responsible for the selection of "Freckles" Barry for the title role.

"I submitted a list of nearly forty boy actors and other child players to Mr. Tarkington," said Mr. Neilan, "and from the photographs attached to the list Mr. Tarkington made his choice. Mr. Tarkington was familiar with the screen work of 'Freckles" Barry. Marjorie Daw and Lena Baskette, the 'vampet' in 'Penrod,' and chose them at once for the leading child roles.

"Penrod," Mr. Neilan pointed out, "is not merely the story of the country boy or the tale of the city boy—he is every boy. In creating the character of 'Penrod' Mr. Tarkington has not, as so many others have done, portrayed a certain type or class of boy. He has reached down into the fundamentals of every boy and has pictured characteristics that are immediately evident in all American youths. The story might have taken place in a large city or a small town. It will therefore be appreciated by those who have always lived in the city as well as those who have never left the country town.

"In portraying Tarkington's story on the screen I have not attempted to detract or improve upon it. To attempt to out-Tarkington Tarkington would be just as foolish as to try to out-Shakespeare Shakespeare. Booth Tarkington is undoubtedly the greatest painter of American boyhood, as indicated by the triumph of his 'Penrod' stories. It has been my ambition to picture these characters as this author has so successfully visualized them with his pen."

ENTERTAINED BY REAL INDIANS

Tom Douglas and Marjorie Seaman, featured players in the Hedrickson released production, "Free Air," which comes to the opera house Wednesday, are now known to their friends as "Running Deer" and "Laughing Water."

The new names were bestowed on Mr. Douglas and Miss Seaman by the Crow Indians of Glacier Park, where the final scenes for "Free Air" were taken under the direction of E. H. Griffith. As a matter of fact, even Mr. Griffith has an Indian name, as well as every other member of the company. Mr. Griffith is known by the Crow Indians as "Big Bear."

The new names came to the members of the "Free Air" company as the result of a party given by the Glacier Park Indians in honor of the film actors when the latter were camped at Glacier Park last summer. Mr. Griffith and the members of the company were at Glacier Park for more than three weeks, shooting locations for "Free Air." During that time they made friends with a number of the Indians, and one old chief became so friendly that he promised to give a party in honor of the actors when this work was completed.

True to his word, just before the company was getting ready to leave for New York, the old chief announced that his tribe would call to pay their respects. That evening the visitors arrived, and not every Indian brought a present for his white friends. Mr. Griffith was given a buckskin coat and several "zood medicine" charms. Miss Seaman was given two pairs of beaded moccasins and a blanket, while Mr. Douglas was presented with a buckskin coat and a pair of snowshoes. Then came the entertainment.

Weird Indian dances were given to the accompaniment of chants and tom toms and blood-curdling war-whoops.

COMMUNITY MARKET

Itinerary of Home Dem. Agent
Tabernacle—Tuesday, August 1st,
3:30 p. m. at Miss Smith's.

Bethel—Germany—Wednesday,
August 2, 4:00 p. m. at school.
Little Mountain—Friday, August

Midway—Thursday, August 3rd,
4:00 p. m. at Vertie Boland's.

Miss Berrie has returned from the Cherokee county short course where she assisted three days. She reports an interesting joint meeting of club boys and demonstration club girls. Newberry's record for attendance stands out prominently again. Cherokee had 26 girls and 35 boys. Newberry had 71 girls. It is hoped next year to have a joint meeting here. Limestone college entertained these clubs.

MRS. GEO. W. VANDERBILT TO OPEN STATE FAIR

Accepts Invitation to Preside at Opening Ceremonies—Ladies to Be Admitted Free Oct. 23

South Carolina's 1922 State Fair will open Monday, October 23, with elaborate ceremonies. The date has been officially designated as "Ladies free day." The management extends to the women of the state a most cordial invitation to be present and view the many educational exhibits and enjoy the myriads of amusements and attractions. It is expected that fully thirty thousand women will be present that day and arrangements are being made to handle the largest crowd ever present at the State fair.

Of additional interest to the ladies will be the fact that one of their own sex will preside at the opening ceremonies. Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt has advised acceptance of an invitation extended by the management to act as chairman of the day. Mrs. Vanderbilt is intensely interested in fair work, believing that these exhibitions are of untold value to the progress of a state. At the present time she occupies the unique position of president of the North Carolina state fair and is the only lady in the land thus honored.

Mrs. Wilson G. Harvey, general chairman of the women's committee, is planning a series of entertainments in honor of Mrs. Vanderbilt. Full details of these will be announced in the near future. At present she is contemplating appointing a general reception committee consisting of five ladies from each county in the state, in addition to numerous other committees. The visit of Mrs. Vanderbilt will be one of the outstanding social events of the entire state.

Jeter-Martin

Of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the state was the marriage of Miss Frances C. Jeter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Jeter, and A. Rhett Martin, at the home of the bride's parents in Whitmire, S. C., at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, July 26th, by the Rev. J. P. Simpson.

On account of the recent death of a sister of the groom, the marriage was a very quiet affair. The occasion was one of sacred associations and simple beauty. No invitations had been issued and the marriage was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a lovely traveling suit of fawn colored tricotine embroidered in harmonizing colors with accessories to match.

The young couple left immediately by auto and will spend their honeymoon touring the mountains of western North Carolina. Upon their return they will be at home at Gray Court, S. C.

The bride is one of Whitmire's most popular young women. She is a graduate of the Woman's college of Due West, and has taken a special course in the University of Virginia. She taught the past year at Gray Court, where her sweet disposition won her many friends.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Alvin Martin and is one of Gray Court's most successful young business men. He is a young man of sterling character and splendid business ability.

LITTLE MOUNTAIN REUNION NEXT FRIDAY, AUGUST 4TH

The annual reunion for Newberry and Summerland colleges will be held at Little Mountain next Friday, August 4th. The following speakers are expected: Hon. A. F. Lever, Hon. E. S. Blease, Hon. W. F. Capleman, and Prof. R. M. Monts. Prof. S. J. Derrick, L. L. D., and Rev. P. E. Monroe, D. D., will make announcements with regard to the coming sessions of the colleges.

Students and ex-students of each college are requested to get together near the speakers' stand and render some of the college songs and yells before the speaking begins.

It is expected that the attendance at this reunion will be larger than ever.

J. B. Korman,

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES.

Now is the time for all veterans who feel that they are entitled to disability compensation, or will be entitled to compensation later on, because of disability due to service during the World war, to obtain certificate of injury from the veterans' bureau. Now is the time, for after August 9 of this year, according to law it will be too late.

There are a large number of veterans throughout the country who have neglected to apply for certificate of injury because to date the injury received does not seem to incapacitate them. However, they have no assurance that the injury received in service will not give them trouble in later years. Then they will be out of luck unless they have this certificate of injury. In order to secure compensation the certificate of injury must be obtained prior to August 9, 1922, as provided in section 306 of the War Risk Insurance act as amended August 9, 1921.

It is not necessary to file a claim for compensation or to take any formal action other than the writing of a letter to the director United States veterans' bureau, Washington, D. C., giving the full name, rank, organization, army serial number, date of enlistment and discharge, and stating the circumstances, date and place under which the disease or injury in question was incurred. If you will give B. V. Chapman, service officer, home service secretary, A. R. C., the information, he will make application for you.

If you know of an ex-service man who was wounded or disabled in service and has not filed claim for compensation tell him to make application for certificate of disability before August 9th.

There will be the regular monthly meeting of the post Monday evening, August 7th. Delegates to the department convention which meets at Florence August 23 and 24, will be elected at this meeting. This election promises to be warm. Come out and take an active part in it.

Ex-service men, are you looking for a bargain? Here it is. The executive committee of Post No. 24 has reduced the dues for the balance of the year to $1.50. For the one dollar and fifty cents you receive twenty issues of the Legion Weekly—a corking good magazine—become a bona fide member of the National, South Carolina department and the Newberry county post of the American Legion—an organization of ex-service men who have done more for the disabled veterans than all of the other veteran organizations combined. Help us to make Post 24 one of the best posts in the state.

We are in receipt of the following Legion Notes from Ben Adams: "Colonel Henry T. Thompson, former commander of the Fred H. Sexton post at Florence, is engaged in bringing the legion rifle squad up to a high pitch of efficiency for the state convention August 23 and 24. The squad is drilling several times weekly and is expected to be in fine shape to lead the big parade which will likely be held in connection with the state legion meeting."

"Richland county post at Columbia staged a campaign for new members the week of July 24 to 29. The Columbia veterans are making an effort to build up a good post at the capital city. Here is wishing them the greatest success in this worthy undertaking. The post has reduced its fees to $2.50 for the balance of 1922 and on this basis is making a drive for 500 members."

"The Summerville post is working on plans for the erection of a club house. The house will probably be erected of logs and nicely finished on the inside, making a very attractive home. The Summerville post has some hard workers on its rolls and no doubt its undertaking will be carried through. It is expected that the house will be located on a large lot where tennis courts and other attractions may be available for the members."

"Spartanburg post has elected the following members as delegates to the state convention: J. M. Wallace, Miller C. Foster, John D. Hamer, G. C. Green, W. Y. Dillard, M. S. Christman, Bernard Manning, Thomas Dreyer, R. C. Cline, Thomas Sykes, Bobo Burnett, William Bomar, Leroy Moore, Lem Grier, G. C. Brown, James A. Schwing, Howard McCravy, R. L. Holmes and Gezz Galbraith. Mr. Andrew Manning has been appointed special representative to the convention to appear before the legislative committee to look after the interests of the Spartanburg post. Mr. Jim Sheppard of Edgefield is chairman of the legislative committee."

Publicity Officer.

IMITATES NO OWL

Mockingbird at Newberry Uses
Blue Pencil in Song Making

To the Editor of The State:
The fact that the mockingbird and his mimicry was treated in such an interesting manner by the editor of The State has no doubt been the reason that so few contributions on the subject have been sent in by the multitude of readers of the paper who have enjoyed the editor's articles.

I have hesitated to add to the subject from this consideration, but since I know an instance where the mockingbird did not employ his mimicry of a certain bird, I have decided to relate the circumstances of the case.

In 1865 the present renewed Smeltzer hall of Newberry college at Newberry was in ruins and became the haunt of birds of many kinds, including bats and owls. It was in the moonlight nights of the following year that a mockingbird would pour forth his song in all its brilliancy and beauty even past the midnight hour. Only one thing would interrupt his mimic concert, and that was the hoot of the great horned owl which had taken up his abode in the college building. The mockingbird not only never imitated the owl in its repertoire of song, but was never known to continue it a moment after the owl announced his presence in the vicinity of the elms in front of my home where the mockingbird had its perch. Neither have I ever heard the mockingbird imitate the screech owl whose weird notes caused my dark playmate at the old home to thrust the poker in the fire in order to compel the screech owl to cease his cry in the trees in the rear of the house.

The most versatile mockingbird I have known was in 1880 in Newberry in a jewelry store kept by Edward Scholz (now of Charlotte). This mockingbird would whistle one stanza of the stirring Southern song, "Dixie," while running the list of the most extensive program of any bird of the species I have ever heard.

Robert J. Miller (now a Columbian) had a mockingbird caged in his restaurant in Newberry which imitated to perfection the squawk of a coop of chickens to such perfection that the editor of The Observer next door was frequently aroused to the pitch of excitement that the opportunity had arrived in the early spring when he would secure some of the juicy broilers at first hand, only to be received by the cry of Miller's versatile "Mimis Polyglottos Polyglottos."

The mockingbird is one of the most alert of the feathered tribe when hunting his prey among the insects. He can be seen tracing grasshoppers in the meadows and flushing his prey by spreading both wings like a fan and as the grasshopper would arise in flight to secure it in quick order. Of course the grape arbor suffers from the depredations of the mockingbird if his tribe is very numerous in the vicinity. The song of the mockingbird has been to me full compensation for the fruit he took from the vines. Only last week I rescued two young mockingbirds from the clutches of a cat which was about to pounce upon them as I happened to be passing along Hampton street an hour before daybreak. I expect to enjoy their song next summer.

APPRECIATED HOSPITALITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Letter From Woman's Missionary Society to Secretary
McDaniel

The Women's Missionary society of Upper South Carolina which met in annual conference in Newberry July 5th, 6th and 7th, are loud in their praise to the Newberry chamber of commerce for the genuine southern hospitality extended them by this organization. The following letter which was received by Secretary McDaniel some days ago is evidence of the appreciation.

Spartanburg, S. C.
July 13, 1922.

My Dear Mr. McDaniel:
At Mrs. Brown's request, I am writing to express to you the hearty thanks to the Methodist Missionary women for the hospitality of the chamber of commerce on the occasion of their recent visit to Newberry. No group of visitors could have been more delightfully entertained, and we shall be singing Newberry's praises for days to come. The automobile drive gave us what we should have missed otherwise—the opportunity to see something of the entire city and its surroundings, and so contributed very much indeed to the pleasure of our visit.

Cordially yours,
Louise Lanham.

SPARTANBURG CHAMBER COMMERCE DISTRIBUTES MAPS

Spartanburg, S. C., July 31.—The Appalachian highway number of the Road Guide of South Carolina's Highways is being distributed by the Spartanburg chamber of commerce.

The Appalachian highway extends from Asheville, N. C., to Charleston, and is the most direct and the best road from the sea to the mountains. It is now in perfect condition.

The guide book for the Appalachian highway includes the mileage as well as a map of the road and description of cities and towns through which it passes. It is of great service to automobile travelers. Copies have been sent to every hotel in South Carolina, and any one wanting a copy, and unable to get same in their city can write the Spartanburg chamber of commerce.

The distance from Charleston to Asheville over the Appalachian highway is 306 miles. It is declared by all who have made it to be the best and shortest route from sea to mountains. It passes through Spartanburg, Union, Orangeburg and Summerville.

West End Wins Four Games

West End made it four games won for the week by winning Friday and Saturday.

On Friday West End hit hard, Crooks getting a homer while Crooks and Halbrook starred in the field.

Werts pitched a good game, striking Halbrook out pitched Lefty Surratt with men on bases.

Bowen with 5 hits out order.
Friday's game:

West End plays Johnston here Friday, August 4 at 4 p. m.

This club gave West End a good time for 8 innings last week so a good game can be expected as they have a good club.

Arthur I. Sheely

The State.
Ninety Six, July 28.—After a long illness, Arthur I. Sheely died at Ninety Six last Thursday. He was born in Lexington Park, near Peak, July 23, 1878.

Mr. Sheely was engaged in railroad office work for twenty-six years, eight of which were spent at Ninety Six. Being diligent and faithful in his business, he was held in high esteem by the railroad officials. His congenial and friendly disposition

GREENVILLE LIKES NEWBERRY'S ADVERTISING PLAN

Money Saved by Merchants Who Cooperate With This Department of Chamber of Commerce

Practically every merchant and business man of Newberry is aware of the fact that the Newberry chamber of commerce maintains an advertising bureau, which department is run exclusively for the purpose of protecting their members from fake advertising schemes and unworthy solicitations. This department is headed by a representative number of business men, whose duty is to pass on all advertising plans submitted to the chamber of commerce, likewise all solicitations propositions. Mr. John B. Mayes is chairman of the group of men who are at the head of this department, and the committee earnestly requests all merchants and business men who are members of the chamber of commerce to cooperate with them at all times, especially since this department was created to save money for them.

The city of Greenville has practically the same plan of protecting their merchants as does Newberry. However, Greenville has been impressed with the way the plan is carried out in Newberry and has written to the Newberry chamber of commerce asking for copies of cards used in Newberry. The letter received from the Greenville chamber of commerce is as follows:

Greenville, S. C., July 13, 1922.

Mr. C. P. McDaniel, Secretary,
Chamber of Commerce,
Newberry, S. C.

Dear Mr. McDaniel:

In passing through your city the other day I was more than delighted to see the card explaining that the filling station was a member of the chamber of commerce and would bear of no advertising scheme unless a card was presented from you.

We have the same plan, of course, here and have saved in the neighborhood of $100,000 in the last two or three years through the work of our committee. We have not, however, the printed card which made such an impression on me, and I am writing to ask if you can send me two or three copies of it if you can do so without too much trouble.

Yours very truly,
Wm. R. Timmons,
Executive Secretary.

Mrs. Mary Jane Shealy

The State.
Prosperity, July 28.—Mrs. Mary Jane Shealy, wife of Pat W. Shealy, died suddenly Thursday night in an automobile while en route from her home to Newberry to see her sick granddaughter. She has a wide family connection and a host of friends in this community who have been saddened by her death.

Mrs. Shealy was 58 years of age. She was a loyal and faithful member of Mt. Olivet Lutheran church. The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at Mt. Olivet church, to be conducted by her pastor, the Rev. J. L. Cromer.

She leaves to mourn her death her husband and the following children: Dr. A. L. Shealy of Gainesville, Fla., T. L. Shealy of Newberry, O. O. Shealy and E. S. Shealy of Prosperity, Mrs. Eunice Buzhardt of Newberry and Miss Daisy Shealy of Prosperity.

We can understand some of the rules of etiquette but why a man shouldn't sit comfortably at ease with his hands on the table is beyond us. And it's our observation that most of us do, rule or no rule.—Detroit Free Press.

It's the early worm that catches the fish—hook and all.

made him very popular socially. He was a consistent member of the Lutheran church. Interment was at Newberry.

Surviving Mr. Shealy are: His widow, Mrs. Margaret Wedeman Sheely, and three sons, Virgil Sheely, Irwin Sheely and Henry Sheely. In addition to these he has two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Ira Sheely of Columbia, Mrs. Will T. Sheely of Ninety Six and Holland Sheely, Magnus Sheely and Colie Sheely, all of Peak.
