

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS PROSPEROUS PROSPERITY

Prosperity, Aug. 14.—The annual reunion of the Dominick family, kindred and connection, which is linked up with many states in the union, was held Friday at Young's Grove. The reunion this year was attended by a gathering principally from the counties of Newberry, Saluda and Greenwood. At the annual Dominick reunion it is the custom to hold a program of exercises, consisting of prayers and song service generally a history of the family and addresses by one or more of the kindred or connections. This year Rev. J. D. Griffin, pastor of the Methodist church, was the speaker, and delivered an elegant and informing address. A bountiful barbecue dinner was spread shortly after the noon hour and here the Dominicks renewed family ties, and recounted incidents and events that have touched the lives of the family down through many generations. The weather was fine and altogether the 1922 reunion was one of the best so far.

One of the brilliant private entertainments of the summer was the dance which Miss Ellen Wheeler gave Friday evening at the home of her father, Dr. J. S. Wheeler. The whole lower floor of the handsome home was thrown in suite and was a bower of pink roses, furnishing a charming back ground for the beautifully dressed girls. About fifty guests participated in this enjoyable affair, which continued until midnight. Punch was served throughout the evening, and later block cream cake and mints were served.

Miss Nannie Lee Young complimented Miss Bernice Zeagler of Orangeburg with a charming morning party Thursday at her home, when rook furnished the pleasing diversion for the dozen friends assembled. The rooms were most attractive with zinnias in all of their wonderful colors. The guest of honor was presented with a lovely gift, and also won the score prize. An enjoyable luncheon was served.

Miss Catherine Counts gave a party Monday evening complimenting Miss Margaret Brown of Rock Hill. Quantities of ferns and bright colored flowers were tastefully combined in the decorations of the rooms where the evening hours were whiled away pleasantly with the playing of old-fashioned games. The hostess, assisted by Miss Nellie Wise, served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Ophelia Bowers was hostess to the William Lester chapter, U. D. C. at its August meeting Thursday afternoon. The thinning line of veterans of Co. G, 13th regiment, will hold their annual reunion at Young's Grove August 24th. The children's chapter will assist the mother chapter in rendering a special program for the veterans. To date the speakers of the occasion have not been secured. After a few introductory remarks by the leader, Mrs. J. A. Price, Mrs. W. J. Wise gave an account of Sherman's march through the Carolinas. Some incidents of the burning of Columbia were interestingly told by Miss Ethel Saner. During the social hour the hostess, assisted by her niece, Miss Christine Blanton, served cream and cake.

On Friday evening Mrs. W. L. Mills entertained a number of friends in honor of Miss Lillian Brown of Manning. The living room and hallway were bright with flowers where several hours were spent in progressive conversation. Later ices and sweets were served.

The Sunday school picnic of St. Luke's church will be held August 16. Dr. J. J. Long of Little Mountain has been invited to make an address. Several selections will be rendered by Sunday school pupils. The public is cordially invited.

Rev. R. C. Long of Gastonia, N. C., will fill the A. R. P. pulpit next Sabbath morning. Rev. Long is a brother of Mrs. Raymond Caldwell. The Epworth league, institute of the Colesbury district will meet with the leagues of Zion and Wightman churches on August 21 and 22. The meetings will be held in Wightman church. The opening address will be made on Monday evening by Rev. W. L. Milligan of Pelzer. Among the speakers on the program are: Mrs. Miller of Gaffney, Rev. James E. Ellis of Columbia and Rev. E. S. Jones

Dr. P. G. Ellesor.

Dr. Pettus Gray Ellesor died at his home in this city Monday morning at six o'clock after a lingering illness. He was born in Newberry county Jan. 2, 1869, his parents being Mr. Thomas Ellesor and Mrs. Elizabeth DeWalt Ellesor. His mother dying when he was only three years old, he was reared by his first cousins, George, Malcolm and Alan Johnstone and Mrs. T. J. McCrary and Miss Fannie Johnstone, with whom he lived until his marriage, June 28, 1903. He graduated at the Charleston Medical college in 1894; was a member of the state board of examiners in 1909, and was a member of the war draft board. He offered himself for active service in the war, but was rejected on account of physical disability.

Dr. Ellesor is survived by his wife, who was Miss Janie Vance, of Clinton, and a daughter, Miss Martha Vance, twelve years of age.

The funeral will be from Aveleigh Presbyterian church, in which he was an officer, Tuesday afternoon at half past four o'clock, and the interment will be in Rosemont cemetery.

The active pallbearers will be J. D. Tolbert, Julian Bolton, William Moore, Gray Moore, T. K. Johnstone, J. M. Johnson, R. B. Vance and W. D. Campbell. The honorary pallbearers will be the members of the Newberry County Medical society.

Death of Lifelong Invalid

George Matthew Perkins, son of G. L. and D. O. Perkins, died at their home in the Mollohan mill village on Saturday, August 12. The funeral service was at the Union church on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Dutton. The interment at the cemetery of Ebenezer Methodist church, with the following as pallbearers: Messrs. John Davis, Frank Yokum, Willie Havard, John Bollinger, Fred Darty and Link Furr.

Mr. Perkins was 27 year-old and unmarried, having been an invalid from childhood, caused by spinal disease in infancy. Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Miss Alma Leone Perkins, and two brothers, Clarence and James Perkins.

However sad to give up the loved ones, even in their affliction, it is a consolation to know that "the dead in the Lord are at rest," and that those left behind did all they could for the comfort of the departed one while still "in the flesh here below." To think of twenty-seven long years as an invalid seems an age to the afflicted, but at the end it is as but a day compared with the endless ages of eternity of rest from pain and sorrow.

SCOUT NEWS TROOP 1

Troop 1 has entered upon another year, a year in which we hope and intend to accomplish enough to justify our existence. On August 3rd we were a year old, as will be denoted upon our sleeves by the green service stripes, a year old and still growing stronger than ever before. We are awfully proud of that year, for in it we enjoyed all the best of scouting that our scoutmaster could give us, and believe me he didn't give it to us in broken doses, either.

Man, we had a good time last year; but that doesn't compare with what we hope to have next. Now that we have several first class, a great many more practically first class, and a number of merit-badge scouts, we are more in a position to devote our time to the accomplishment of a great many good and big things for Newberry and incidentally for ourselves. However we are handicapped grievously by one thing, the fact that the grown-ups do not take the proper interest in our meetings and attend them. You just don't know how glad we'd be to have you all to visit us in our meetings and offer us a little word of encouragement. We meet on Friday night at 8:00 o'clock in the American Legion hall.

Perhaps you would be interested to know something of the doings of our most august troop (that's our birth-month, you know). All right, you shall. Here goes: As part of the 1st class test a scout must hike to a spot at least seven miles distant from headquarters, and render a written account of the hike. Below is one account, and from time to time these will be published in our scout column.

These accounts are reproduced exactly as originally written, as to alter them would completely spoil their genuine originality.

On Friday, February 17th, having a holiday, I decided to go upon my fourteen mile hike. Accordingly I made the necessary preparations, and at 12:45 I left the city, bound for Deadfall.

I followed Boundary street until it merged into the road, and the road until I came to where the highway joins with the old road just beyond the Sunnyside Dairy farm. After this the going was easy, the highway could easily be followed and I kept to it. Just beyond the dairy farm the way led over the new concrete bridge over Scott's creek, at the same place where the old road crossed. The highway leaves the old road here, and goes through a grove of pines, while the old road may be seen to the left. Continuing I came to the place where the old road rejoins the highway just before arriving at the river.

Back at Scott's creek I had met and passed the county truck and scrapes. The driver, a man whom I knew, offered me a ride but I refused; explaining that it was necessary to walk in order that the hike might count. I passed the truck, which had stopped because of some obstruction, but later it caught up with and passed me. When I arrived at the river, however, the truck was there, preparing to cross, and since because of the recent rains the river was out in the road, I was forced to accept the offer of a lift across.

Arriving on the other side, I dismounted and continued on my way. The road rises from the river, and goes in a fairly straight course for some little bit. I passed the residence of Mr. Hilliard Long, back from the road on the left side, and that of his daughter, close to the road on the right side. Just beyond these houses the old road goes off to the right, describes a curve, and comes back into the highway at the top of the hill. Continuing for a while, I came to the splendid all-concrete bridge over Beaver Dam creek. The entire bridge, posts, rails and floor, is made of concrete. This side of the creek, on the right, is situated Beaver Dam church. Just beyond the bridge the road makes a sharp turn to the right, and gradually works back to the general direction, more nearly west. After topping the rise in the road beyond the curve, and walking for a little while longer, Mr. Dan Livingstone's house,

THE ANNUAL REUNION OF THE THOS. D. KINARD FAMILY.

The children of Thos. D. Kinard and his wife, Frances M., deceased, met in their annual family reunion. This is one of the oldest family reunions in this section of the county. It has generally been held at the home of Mr. R. J. Crumpton, near Prosperity; but this year it was held with Mr. P. H. Kinard, the second son, near the St. Philip's church, August 9th. Mr. P. H. Kinard lives nearer the old home place of Mr. Thomas D. Kinard than any of the other children, and this would seem to be a very fitting place for the reunion.

The weather was favorable, the attendance good, the family dinner beautiful, and the entire day a very pleasant and happy one.

After dinner family worship was conducted by the Rev. S. P. Koon, assisted by the Revs. W. H. Dutton and J. A. McKeown.

Then the family record was again made up, which was as follows:
Mr. G. W. Kinard, the eldest son, married Miss Frankie Rikard. He resides in Prosperity, and has six children and two grandchildren.
Mr. P. H. Kinard married Miss Desdie Richardson. They have eight children and five grandchildren.
Miss Mary Kinard, the oldest daughter, married Mr. R. J. Crumpton. They have no children.

Miss Ida Kinard married Mr. Geo. W. Cromer. They reside in Newberry, and have three children.
Mr. R. D. Kinard married Miss Angella Shealy. They reside in Lexington county, and have three children.
Miss Kate Kinard married Mr. R. B. O'Dell. She is now dead. They have four children.
Miss Florence Kinard married Mr. John T. Franklin. They reside near Newberry, and have five children.

Nearly all these were present with the following visitors: Rev. S. P. Koon and family, Revs. W. H. Dutton and J. A. McKeown, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Ely Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Capers Crumpton, Mr. Lewis of Newberry, Mrs. Mary Cromer of Laurens, Mr. Shirey of Lexington county, Mrs. Fulmer of Spring Hill and Mrs. Bessie Wicker and children.

Be kindly affectioned on toward another in brotherly love."
S. P. Koon.

ACT OF HEROISM BY NEWBERRY SCOUT

Scout White Bullock Bravely Rescues Child From Tragic Death at Georgetown

During his visit to Georgetown Scout White Bullock performed a great act of heroism. He had been out for a swim, and on his way back he heard cries for help. He soon reached a bridge upon which a lady stood calling for help. Part of the rail of the bridge was broken away, and upon looking down Scout Bullock could see only the head of a little girl. He lived up to the Scout motto, "Be Prepared," by immediately plunging in. He secured the little girl and commenced the struggle to reach the shore, having a very difficult time. He succeeded in reaching dry land and proceeded to administer artificial respiration, and then took the child to where proper medical aid could be administered. Had it not been for his level headedness and promptness in knowing what to do the tragedy might not have been averted. Scout Bullock's heroism is to be commended.

NEWBERRY BOYS AT GEORGIA TECH.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11.—Messrs. A. W. Davis and W. F. Wells of Newberry are enrolled as students in the Georgia Tech summer school, according to the announcement today of Professor A. B. Morton, dean of the summer school, who has completed the registration of the students. This year Georgia Tech has the largest summer school in its history, according to Professor Morton, a total of 360 students being enrolled. In addition to the summer school in engineering branches 140 students are registered in the summer school of commerce, according to Dean J. M. Watters. A large proportion of the commercial students are rehabilitation students sent to Georgia Tech from colleges all over the South because of the higher grade of work being given there.

Most of the students attending the Tech summer school are students of last year who are taking additional work during the summer months. This year is the twenty-sixth of the summer sessions and the twenty-second under Professor Morton, who is professor of mathematics at Tech. A faculty of fifteen, the largest ever remaining for summer school, instruct the students in mathematics, physics, chemistry, English, laboratory work, and similar engineering subjects. The school will close shortly before the opening of the regular fall term.

The Counts Family Reunion

Not regularly, but occasionally for quite a number of years the members of this family have been having reunions here, there, and elsewhere. Wednesday, August 9, was one of these reunion days and the place was Little Mountain. The older group and the younger group—from the octogenarian to the apparently unconscious baby—in all representing 22 families with 63 individuals, were there.

The special features of the occasion were a picnic dinner and some remarks by Dr. J. J. Long of Little Mountain. Wednesday after the college reunion was fixed as the time for the annual meet when some informal program is expected to furnish light entertainment to the guests.

A shortage of swatted flies is reported.
