NEWS OF WHITMIRE, THE TOWN THAT DOES THINGS

Building Boom is on—Laymen's Brotherhood Elect Officers—No Need For New County Now

Whitmire, Oct. 5.—The building boom is on in Whitmire. Miss Mattie Duncan is having her dwelling re-modeled by the architectural artist, Geo. E. Coffield. When finished it will be an ornament to Buncombe street. Then Mr. T. Amson is erecting a brick store and dwelling and filling station just beyond the bridge over Duncan creek on the highway from here to Newberry.

As the Psalmist says, "the hills clap their hands" between here and Enoree river as they disappear under the pick, shovel and scrape of Elliott Bros. When the concrete bridges over this stream and Tiger are made we can get to Union before we start.

The L. C. L. (low cost of living) store has enlarged its business by appropriating the adjoining building. It now has two large stores, dry goods and groceries—the one presided over by Mr. McEichen and the other by C. H. Cooper and wife, a very popular lady, locally known as "Miss Corrie." "Who enters here leaves hope behind." That is hope of taking any money out with him. Cooper's siren voice will separate you from it.

The Laymen's Brotherhood had its annual meeting last Sunday for electing officers for the ensuing year. Mr. E. E. Child, ex-president, declined reelection for the reason, as he thought this officer should be changed every year. W. R. Watson is now president; Henry Miller, vice president, and Dr. C. L. Busbee, secretary and J. A. Campbell treasurer. In a short while there will be a national convention of the Evangelistic Brotherhood at Chattanooga. To this meeting we elected one delegate, Mr. Bob Reid. Half dozen others will go of their own accord.

Mr. Ed Smith, recent candidate for the senate from Union county, delivered a religious address in the Baptist church last Sunday. Among other things he alluded to was a great work in which he is engaged—that of organizing a "one moral standard" society in every college and university of the country. Do you know of any reason why a young man should not be as clean and careful of his conduct as his sister? This splendid and uplifting idea already has the endorsement of such men as Bryan, Pershing, Woodrow Wilson and President Harding. Wish I had belonged to it when at school and afterwards. My bank account would not now be so deflated.

We are sorry to hear T. E. Eison of Newberry had his arm broken near here in auto wreck. It seems he met a road-hog and in trying to avoid a collision his car was upset, causing the injury. A load of buckshot would be the proper medicine for such offenders.

Among the many visitors of late to Whitmire are D. G. and T. J. Wilson, Hayne and Jim Abrams. We saw them in the Methodist church and noting they looked a little "skittish" we quieted their uneasiness by assuring them the splendid Doric architecture would not fall on them, neither would the $10,000 pipe organ explode. So they went the "even tenor of their way," promising to see us again when we hope to treat them in a more "hostile" manner.

Every now and then we hear of Whitmire county and also of a hospital. This place being in the corner of three counties and having more old people in it than elsewhere, a hospital would be liberally patronized and almost impossible for a patient to die in it unless Drs. Brackett and Thomas made a mistake which would be hidden 6 feet underground.

Rev. D. O. Powers of Spartanburg is conducting a revival in Wesleyan Methodist church at which much interest is manifested. Rev. Powers is an effectual and fervent preacher, wholly consecrated and sanctified.

Messrs C. B. Martin, T. P. Johnson, Dr. W. K. Gotwald, Floyd Bradley, Jno. W. Earhardt, McK. Hutchinson, J. Y. Jones and T. M. Neel attended an important Masonic meeting in Union Thursday night. It was largely attended, about 350 members being present, and was a success in every respect.

MARRIAGE OF MISS WRIGHT AND MR. GARLINGTON

The marriage of Miss Mary Day Wright and Mr. Albert Christopher Garlington was solemnized Tuesday morning, October third, at 8:15 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Wright, the officiating minister being Dr. J. L. Daniel, pastor of Central Methodist church.

The interior of the attractive home was ablaze with fall blossoms, chief among them being bright autumn glow and the graceful golden rod.

The couple entered the living room as the chords of Lohengrin's matchless bridal chorus were played by Miss Troxelle Wright, sister of the bride, and in the presence of only the immediate members of the two families Dr. Daniel united their lives, the impressive ring ceremony being used.

The bride was modestly attired in a becoming going-away suit of navy blue cloth with accessories of beige, and her hat was a very chic model with a pheasant feather trimming. Her flowers were a corsage of bride's roses.

This marriage is of peculiar interest to people in Newberry as well as elsewhere as the bride is universally loved by all who know her. She possesses a gracious charm and a personality that has endeared her to a wide circle of friends and it is with a feeling of sadness intermingled with sincerest wishes for her happiness, that Newberry gives her up. She is a graduate of Winthrop college and she also spent a year at the University of Virginia, after which she taught for several years in the Newberry city schools.

Her marriage to Mr. Garlington is the consummation of a romance that has existed since their childhood when "Mary" and "Chris" were playmates and schoolmates, and their love story has run like a golden thread through the warp and woof of their lives.

Mr. Garlington is the second son of Mrs. Sena Moon Garlington and the late William M. Garlington. His boyhood was spent in Newberry and he graduated from Newberry college as an electrical engineer. He accepted a position in Nashville, Tenn., after which he obtained a government position and was sent to the Canal Zone. He is stationed at Balboa, where he will take his bride after their return from their bridal trip to the North Carolina mountains.

Wright-Garlington

Miss Mary Day Wright of Newberry and Mr. Albert Christopher Garlington of Balboa, Canal Zone, were married on Tuesday morning at 8:15 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Wright, by Dr. J. L. Daniel. Only the immediate relatives were present. Miss Troxelle Wright played the wedding march and immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Garlington left for Asheville. After spending a short while there they will return to Newberry to pack up for their trip to Panama, where, at Balboa, they will be "at home" after the 16th instant. It's a long, long way to Balboa, but their home's right there, in this course of true love for the happy pair to whom the romance of sweethearthood gave its unbroken charm.

It is a fine union of young manhood and womanhood in social prominence, culture, refinement and intellectual strength. The bride is a Winthrop graduate and also took a course at the University of Virginia, after which she taught in the city schools of Newberry. Mr. Garlington graduated from Newberry college as an electrical engineer and held his first position in Nashville, Tenn. After which he was sent by the government to the Canal Zone and now holds the important position of assistant chief electrician. He is the son of the late William M. Garlington. Besides his mother, Mrs. Sena Moon Garlington, there are other relatives and many friends to wish him and his fair bride all the happiness and prosperity that can possibly come to them in a long life.

Rev. C. M. Morris, Greers, S. C., will preach at Trinity next Sunday at 11:00 in the morning and at New Chapel at 3:30 in the afternoon. At Silverstreet at 7:30 in the evening.

ROTARY NOTES

The Newberry Rotary club entertained the faculty of the Newberry city schools—thirty-nine in number—and other invited guests at a dinner at the Newberry hotel Tuesday night, and Rotarian Carroll Jones of Columbia was also present in his official capacity as district governor of the Thirty-eighth district of Rotary clubs. It was a great meeting and it will be remembered as one of the best in the history of the local club.

The meeting was presided over by Rotarian-President Haskell Kibler, who has the reputation among Rotarians, and others as well, of being "style all the while." Well, he more than lived up to his reputation on this occasion, if such a thing is at all possible. He wielded his gavel with unprecedented vim and vigor and kept things continually moving.

After the singing of "America," the invocation was pronounced by Rotarian Sid Derrick. Then it was that Rotarian Earle Babb took charge of the Rotarian song-birds and their guests and "deliberately and with malice aforethought," led them in the rendition of a bunch of genuinely Rotesque songs. So determined were several of the lady-teacher-guests to sing, they actually persisted in singing the "smile" part "Smile" after Rotarian Babb had earnestly entreated them to "do" that part instead of singing it. But they enjoyed it just as much as the Rotarians did.

Rotarian Sid Derrick was then called upon to respond to "Our Guests," and everybody knows how that Rote can handle an after dinner speech. He delivered the goods only as Rotarian Derrick can, extending the warmest kind of welcome to the many guests.

The response to this Rote's speech was made by Prof. O. B. Cannon, superintendent of the city schools, who voiced the sentiment of the teachers and other guests assembled around the festive board when he said that "they were all glad to be there." Prof. Cannon made a most happy and inspiring talk, which was greatly enjoyed.

Rotarian Babb next got together the "original razzo sextette," aided and abetted by several teacher-guests, and these renowned musicians put over a number of the most tuneful and classical creations that could be found. Their program consisted of "Tipperary," "Dixie," "The Old Gray Mare," and others of the kind.

Rotarian Ben Cromer then delighted his hearers with a short talk on "Rotary," in which he told of some of the things that Rotary stands for. Rotarian Cromer knows Rotary—and he knows how to impart that knowledge to others. He stated that he had traveled more than 300 miles—on his 65th birthday—to be present at the Rotary meeting. Rotarian Cromer's speech was most enjoyable—and enjoyed.

After more songs by the assemblage, District Governor Carroll H. Jones was introduced by Rotarian Hal Kohn, and Rotarian Jones proceeded to make one of the best talks that has ever been heard by the local club. This Rotarian is literally bubbling over with Rotary and he has the happy faculty of imbuing his hearers with that spirit. He gave some of the history of Rotary from its organization sixteen years ago to the present, there now being Rotary clubs in twenty-six countries of the world. Rotarian Jones' talk was heard with keen interest—and now the local Rotaries are anxiously awaiting another visit from their district governor. At the conclusion of his address, this Rotarian led the bunch in a few happy songs, proving himself to be a songster of the first water.

A new stunt that was introduced at this meeting was the wholesale introduction of the Rotarians and their guests. President Kibler introducing the person on his right, the person thus introduced doing likewise, the chain being unbroken until the last person was introduced. This novelty was greatly enjoyed.

Lavender bags were given as souvenirs to the lady-guests, these being pretty little reminders of a most happy occasion.

The next luncheon will be held on Tuesday afternoon, the 17th inst., in

STILL ON STOVE

Officers Find Outfit at Home of J. W. Wessinger

The State, 29th. State and federal officers yesterday searched the home of Joe W. Wessinger, about four miles from Chapin, and found a 15 gallon still in operation on the kitchen stove, according to reports made to Governor Harvey during the day. Warrants were sworn out for Wessinger, Mrs. Wessinger and Charles and Earl Wessinger, two sons, the governor was advised. The warrants were by the federal authorities.

Wessinger was recently nominated magistrate in the primary and will come up for appointment in January, it was said yesterday. He was also a commissioner of election in the recent annexation move on the part of a section of Lexington to join Richland county.

E. H. Aull, Superintendent of Education.

Hear Major Caldwell

The State.

The William Wallace chapter, U. D. C., of Union, resumed its monthly meetings Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the high school.

The chapter was delighted to have an address from Maj. J. F. Caldwell, a Confederate veteran of Newberry. Major Caldwell served on General McGowan's staff. He was often in the presence of General Lee, and told some reminiscences in a most interesting manner. The chapter was very proud to hear Major Caldwell. He is a writer and scholar as well as a learned jurist. In his address he paid a beautiful tribute to the women of the '60s during the war, and to the United Daughters of the Confederacy of the present day. He is the author of "McGowan's Brigade" and "The Southerner" and many other articles from his pen are published in The State. He remembers John C. Calhoun personally and his lecture on him is very fine. Major Caldwell is the second oldest living alumnus of the South Carolina university.

RECOVER AUTOS STOLEN IN ATHENS

Four Found in Greenville and Three Others Remain to Be Located

Greenville, Oct. 2.—Four out of seven automobiles alleged to have been stolen in Athens, Ga., by J. P. Bussey, son of the Rev. Mr. Bussey of Greenwood, and brought to Greenville and sold to a second hand automobile dealer, who in turn is alleged to have sold them, were recovered here tonight by Sheriff B. R. Brown of Hartwell, Ga., and Sheriff C. A. Rector of Greenville.

According to Sheriff Brown yesterday, Bussey was arrested in Hartwell, following his alleged attempt to steal an automobile. After being arrested he confessed, the officers said, to having stolen six other cars in Athens. These he said he drove to Greenville and sold them to a second hand automobile dealer. The three other cars, according to the officer, will be recovered Tuesday.

Bussey used Hartwell as his headquarters it was said, and took an afternoon Seaboard train for Athens every day. Arriving about dusk, he would wait until a number of people would go to a moving picture show then he would pick out the best looking car on the street and with his keys unlock it and drive it on to Greenville, Sheriff Brown declared. The recovered cars are to be returned to their original owners.

Mr. T. R. Sanders of Old Town was in the city Friday.

Lots of politicians in this country had rather be in the majority than be right.

If your coal is scarce think of the price of it, and that will get you all "het up." straight line.

MAJOR J. F. CALDWELL TO ADDRESS TEACHERS

County Association to Be Organized For Work of Session—Meeting Last Saturday October

The teachers of the county are requested to meet at the Newberry high school auditorium on the last Saturday in October, being the 28th day of the month. The purpose of the meeting is to reorganize the county teachers association for the work of the present school session.

It is earnestly desired and urgently requested that every teacher in the county attend this meeting. I sincerely trust that every teacher in schools of Newberry county is sufficiently interested in his or her work to be willing to spend one hour each month in meeting together and exchanging ideas and getting acquainted with one another.

Dr. J. F. J. Caldwell, the scholar and historian, who has but recently written a poem in celebration of his 85th birthday, has kindly consented at my request to deliver a lecture on the life of some one or more of the prominent men of the past either of the state or natives of Newberry county. I suggested that he give us a lecture on John C. Calhoun whom he knew personally, but the subject is left to him.

It seems to me that it would be helpful to the teachers of the county to study the lives of some of the great men of the past. South Carolina has a long list of men who made history not only for their own state but for the nation. The teachers can take back to the school room the information they get from a study of these great characters in history and give it to the children. My experience and observation is that our people are woefully lacking in knowledge not only of their state but of their own community and county. Let us study for one hour together some of these great characters in our own history.

E. H. Aull, Superintendent of Education.

There may be times when politicians don't know what to do, but they always know whom they do.

Some girls don't write home from college for several weeks and some run out of spending money in a few days.
