ARMISTICE DAY IN NEWBERRY

COL. J. M. JOHNSON TO BE ORATOR OF OCCASION

Big Preparations Under Way for Fitting and Appropriate Observance of Historic Event

Several intimations have been given the public regarding Armistice day in Newberry, but as yet no definite program has been given out and just now a definite list of the things which will take place on the tenth of November can not be given but an outline will suffice to interest all those in and near this city who will take part in this celebration.

Some will wonder why the celebration will be given on November the 10th while Armistice day rightfully falls on the 11th. This is easily explained when you know that so many of the fellows who take part in the celebration work (clerk) on Saturdays and as the 11th this year falls on Saturday the local post of the legion, out of deference to those who will be busy on that day have moved forward the local celebration and are planning a spunk up celebration, which will eclipse any yet attempted and probably be a guide for those in the future.

Fittingly the legion is behind this celebration but to get the full cooperation of the entire community they appointed a committee and that committee then asked the various organizations of the city to meet with them and discuss the event and as a result of their request two fine joint committee meetings have been held at which many of the plans were gone over and a tentative program adopted. Almost without exception all of the organizations are cooperating in this affair and the success of same is assured, and the legionnaires appreciate the fact that they have the entire community with them and ready to help them in their undertakings. Another cooperative angle of the Armistice day celebration is that the two county agents, Miss Berrie and Mr. Mills, have been invited to the meetings and the plans arranged are such that the large crowd which comes here for the parade and other things will be given an opportunity to visit the county fair which will be in progress in the Legion hall on the 9th, 10th and 11th. The plans are to make it doubly interesting to visit Newberry during the fair with special emphasis on coming on the 10th, for that is the day when most will be doing and those who make this place their mecca on the 10th will have very few idle moments from the time they arrive until they depart.

Just to give you an idea of what will take place on Newberry's Armistice day, I will mention a few of the details which are assured. First will come the parade, in which more than a thousand school children will form in the line of march. In addition to the students of the city schools invitations will be given to the trustees of the county schools and if they see fit to furnish transportation for their school they will be asked to form in the line of march and it is certain that many of the trustees will see fit to bring in their school in order to pay their respects to the service men of this county who will gather together on that day to celebrate the day which meant so much to all the world back in 1918, when the hopes of all lay with the khaki clad boys overseas. Of course the former service men will occupy a prominent part in the parade, as well as members of the Woman's auxiliary, civic organization of the city and the veterans of other wars. Immediately after the parade, which will form at ten a. m. will come the services in the opera house. Colonel J. M. Johnson, who led the engineers of the Rainbow division, of Marion, will make the principal address of the day and those who have had the privilege of hearing Colonel Johnson will know that the legion could not have invited a man better able to make an Armistice day address and doubtless the opera house will be filled long before the clock strikes eleven. Special music for this service is being worked up and in all probability there will be a musical program furnished such as is seldom seen in a city of this size and those who enjoy fine music need have no fears about the Armistice day music. Following the exercises at the opera house will come the dinner for the former service men, which will be served in the handsome show room of McHardy Mower, was placed at the disposal of the auxiliary, when it was learned that the Legion hall would be filled with exhibits. Plates will be laid for more than three hundred and every former service man who comes will be given a bounteous dinner such as the women of Newberry are noted for serving. Already the details of this "feed" are being worked out and if the public knew what a job it is to prepare such a feast they would say it takes lots of work to work out the necessary details, but rest assured that the ladies will have an abundance of good things to eat and it will be served in a most tempting manner, with a setting of unusual charm. Charming young ladies will do the serving and none of them will inform the ex-soldier, when he asks for "seconds," "fini, monsieur." During the dinner a short, snappy talk will be made and probably a song or two by entertainers, while Dr. John Setzler will probably lead the "bunch" in singing some of the songs which can only be sung to perfection by former soldiers. If any one who will not have the honor of attending, doubts that the boys will have a good time let them peer through McHardy Mower's handsome plate glass windows and be convinced that a royal good time is being enjoyed by all present.

After the dinner there will be two forms of entertainment: First, for those who like football, the legion arranged with the college authorities to move up the Erskine game from the 11th to the 10th so that the Armistice day crowd would have an opportunity to see a football scrap. The college powers that be very kindly consented to do so and at 3:15 the Indians will tackle Erskine and doubtless the splendid new stands at the athletic field will be filled with those who came here to celebrate Armistice day. Realizing that not all would care to go to the football game the legion arranged to show motion pictures in the opera house in the afternoon; pictures of special interest during the celebration and those who prefer pictures to football will have a treat at the opera house. The program for the afternoon will be announced later, as well as other events not yet definitely arranged.

Then in the evening the local post will present a fine local talent play called "Sittin' Pretty," which is being directed by that director of no small ability, Dr. John B. Setzler. This play promises to be a fitting climax to a really interesting day and those who journey to this city on November the tenth will find something arranged to suit every taste and the hours in which you are not being otherwise entertained you will find pleasure in visiting the county fair and poultry show (which are, perhaps forerunners of annual events of like nature) and after that the tempting displays of seasonable merchandise will lure many to make purchases from the local merchants, whose stores are brim full of fall and winter goods.

Nothing has been said about decorations, but these details are being worked out by a very competent committee of women and they plan to have the red, white and blue displayed all over the city, so that Newberry will assume a real holiday air and the visitors will go away feeling that this is the city that does things and does them up right.

The different members of the committees will be very glad to furnish information regarding any details of the fair. For that part which pertains to the county fair Miss Berrie and Mr. Mills are in possession of the complete plan and either or both of them may be found at the chamber of commerce rooms. For the parade the committee will ask Mr. Herman Wright to act as chairman of this portion of the day's celebration, assisted by a very able committee and the trustees of the county school may secure information from the county superintendent, Col. Aull, or see Mr. Wright at the Exchange bank. Either Dr. Knotts or Professor Poole or the writer will be glad to furnish any other information requested and those not in the city who desire information may address any of the legion committee.

RED CROSS NOTES

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 twenty-five persons, "the old guard" as some one expressed it, gathered at the court house for the annual meeting of the Newberry County chapter of the American Red Cross, to hear reports of committees, to make plans for the coming year and to elect officers.

If the interest manifested in these annual meetings were accepted as a criterion of the interest on the part of the general public in the work of the Red Cross the executive committee of your chapter would have cause to feel discouraged. But judging from our experience in the past we are constrained to believe that such is the case. And, yet, we can not help but feel somewhat disappointed when an organization that is countywide, and after extensive personal invitations, newspaper advertisements and solicitations, we can not bring together more than 25 persons.

You will find a report of this meeting in this issue. Read it over. (Copy for said report not received.—Ed. H. & N.)

You who read this will you not keep this in mind, and encourage your executive committee by your presence at the annual meeting in October, 1923? We thank you. John B. Setzler, Chairman Newberry County Chapter, A. R. C.

HOME COMING AT NEWBERRY

NEW ATHLETIC FIELD TO BE OPENED NOVEMBER 4

All the Old Boys and Girls Are Expected to Be Merciful—Citadel and Newberry to Fight it Out

When the Citadel Bull Dogs trot out on the new athletic field of Newberry college next Saturday, it will be the first time that an eleven of that well known institution has ever been seen here. Some of the most exciting basketball games ever witnessed in the college gymnasium have been fought out by the local collegians and the cadets, but not until this year have the people of this community had the opportunity to see the elevens of the two institutions clash.

Both Citadel and Newberry have been defeated by the strong Furman team, and by practically the same margin. The Bull Dogs won from the U. S. Marines, who defeated the Indians by a lone touchdown. But, on the other hand, "Dode" Phillips, the great former Erskine star, has picked Newberry to finish the season two places ahead of the Citadel among the colleges of this state. Furthermore, the fact that MacLean's men will be playing their first game on the new field before a home crowd consisting not only of students and towns people but also returning alumni, ex-students and friends, will lend strength to them. The return of Frank Shealy to the line-up will strengthen the somewhat inexperienced line, which is naturally improving with experience.

As has already been announced, this will be home coming day, and the occasion has been widely advertised. The students are planning to have one, or perhaps, two bands on hand to accompany them in the singing of the college songs and to play other selection. Cheering practice will be held during the week. The new field has not yet been christened, but a name will be chosen for it in the near future. It is hoped that the merchants of the town may be able to allow those of their employees who wish to attend the game, to do so.

Altogether it will be a great occasion for all those interested in the college.

Death of Infant Son

William Thomas, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baker, who was born Oct. 22 in the Union hospital, was laid to rest in Beth Eden cemetery Oct 23 at 2:30 o'clock. The offering was beautiful.

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven." This is what our Savior said and although it may seem hard to realize this, we must bow to His will for He doeth all things well and never makes mistakes. As a baquet is more beautiful with lots of tiny buds, so is heaven with the little human buds. God needed one more angel so He selected this little one. It was hard to give him up after waiting seventeen years to hear the voice of childish prattle and the patter of tiny footsteps in that home. But some day 'twill be morning and 'twill be God's morning.

Do not weep, dear parents, Do not weep, nor mourn, This little one's in heaven, This little one's at home.

Slogans—A sick boy makes a sick mind. Playgrounds in every community. Athletes all.

Now, all together, let's put this week over big for Newberry.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find a tentative program of our Armistice day celebration. Read it over. No doubt the part that will appeal strongest to the ex-service men will be the turkey dinner that will be served to them by the Legion auxiliary and other organizations.

Don't forget the regular meeting of the post Monday night, November 6th. Officers for 1923 will be elected at this meeting, and other business of importance will come up for consideration.

John B. Setzler, Publicity Officer.
