ARMISTICE DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED IN NEWBERRY

Impressive Exercises in the Morning at the Opera House—Colonel Johnson Makes Address

"To you from failing hands we throw the torch. Be yours to hold it high!"

That cry from the heroes that sleep in the fields of Flanders has come to us—and will go ringing down the ages. And America's Answer, in keeping the faith, will ever come:

"Fear not that ye have died for naught. The torch ye threw to us we caught. Ten million hands will hold it high. And Freedom's light shall never die! We've learned the lesson that ye taught

In Flanders fields."

Again Newberry has answered the challenge by showing to those heroes of the World War her love and honor for the youth of our land who went gloriously forth to fight that the light of freedom might not die. It was indeed a sight to thrill the heart and dim the eye as the soldiers of three wars passed in parade on the day of the Armistice celebration. And as they passed along the main street of our city the hundreds of school children forming an aisle scattered flowers in their pathway, and cheered them lustily.

At 11 o'clock services were held in the opera house and such a large crowd had gathered that there was scarcely standing room. The day's celebration was under the auspices of the local American Legion post with Mr. Hal Kohn as chairman, and Mr. Elbert Dickert, commander of the post, was master of ceremonies. The platform was fittingly adorned with the flags of the allied nations.

A verse of "America" was first sung, and a prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Ridout, rector of the Episcopal church. Mr. Robert LaFaye of Columbia sang a most inspiring song, "The Americans Come," after which Dr. C. A. Freed presented the cause of the Red Cross, stating the purposes of this organization and the vast amount of good which it has accomplished.

Mrs. Robert Earle of Columbia rendered very beautifully a group of songs, and as an encore sang, "God Send You Back to Me."

Col. J. Monroe Johnson of Marion was the main speaker of the day and he made an excellent address, introducing his remarks with an outline of the program for which the American Legion stands. He said the legion does not consider itself the center of the stage in patriotism but its only motive is the welfare of the nation.

The chief topic around which his address centered was the significance of Armistice day. He told of the few months before the signing of the Armistice when the Germans were beaten before they gave up, and of the signing of the armistice on November 11, 1918, at 11 o'clock in the day. He said that the celebration of Armistice day will be of interest to more people in the world than any other celebration, as, with the exception of the central powers, it knows no nations, no religions and no races, and that it will be the meeting ground for the League of Nations. He spoke of our war president, Woodrow Wilson, as being the greatest leader a nation ever had and of his indictment by the people of America. He said that President Wilson had achieved the greatest act of any individual in putting almost 100 per cent. of our young manhood on the field of battle, and that he had forced his ideas of peace on the world—then his own nation had not merely left him alone, but crucified him. He said that America will have to ratify the League of Nations and that it cannot function until we make it.

He emphasized the value of erecting monuments to the memory of great men along all lines, and of observing special anniversaries to keep alive those deeds in the minds of the citizens and to stimulate them to accomplish great things. He cited as an example the valorous spirit of the French people in their fighting and in living up to their battle cry: "Ils ne passeront pas!"

In conclusion Colonel Johnson said that if America subscribes to the

TURKISH REPLY STILL AWAITED

London Gets Little News From Constantinople—Protest by Allies

London, Nov. 10.—Telegraphic communication between London and Constantinople continues interrupted. The only news coming in is reaching London slowly and through devious routes.

Dispatches dated Wednesday, received by the foreign and war offices today by naval wireless, indicated that the allied commissioners' men still were waiting a definite reply from the Ankara government to their demand that the Turks recede from their attitude, which the allies regard as out of accord with the Mudros and Mudania conventions. The dispatches showed that the allied representatives also had lodged a strong protest with Rafet Pasha, the Nationalist governor, against the execution of Ali Kemal Bey, editor of Sabah, an anti-Nationalist organ.

That the situation continues strained is shown by the fact that the Earl of Derby, secretary for war was compelled to cancel a political engagement he had in the North tonight. He explained that things were in such shape as to make his presence at the war office absolutely imperative.

Four parlors are continuing between the allies regarding the date for the Lausanne conference on Near Eastern affairs, which was originally fixed for next week. It is still believed here a postponement will be taken until November 20.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The success of the allied powers in obtaining an armistice for the Greeks is far from being decisive, Premier Poincare told the chamber of deputies today.

The Turkish Nationalists are no longer in the state of mind in which they were when they signed the Franco-Turkish agreement, he said, and the recent incidents showed that full accord between France and Great Britain was more necessary than ever.

Poincare paid tribute to Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, for the effective part he played in preventing graver developments and said his loyalty and high minded views of the situation weighed heavily in the balance for peace. The Mudania peace conference, however, was not a personal success, and not a French success—it was a common success, which was far from being decisive.

In explaining the withdrawal of the French troops from Chanak at the time the British declared their determination to hold the town in the face of the Turkish advance toward the Dardanelles, the premier declared it was an error to interpret the French action as an abandonment of her allies.

Lord Curzon, he added, thought, as did the French government, that a show of military force would be insufficient to stop the Turks, and that the position could not be defended.

Poincare said he was very happy to find that Lord Curzon would remain at the head of foreign office in the new British cabinet and that the latter would be presided over by another friend of France in Bonar Law.

If the bootleggers are not breaking into the millionaire class it is because "easy come easy go."

The administration put itself before the country in the campaign in its best Hughes.

A man's success is not measured by the number who cheer him, but envy him.

League of Nations wars will cease, and he drew a vivid picture of a time when our children's children will wonder what war is—a time when the heroes of the late war will take the place of the gallant soldiers of '65 who by then will have passed—and wars shall be no more.

After Colonel Johnson's address Mr. Maurice Matteson of Columbia sang "Flanders Requiem" by Frank LeForge, and then he and Mrs. Earle sang a duet "Till We Meet Again." Miss Lofton was accompanist for all the musical selections.

After announcements by Mr. Dickert for the further observance of the day, benediction was pronounced by Dr. Freed.

TO SELECT REPRESENTATIVE STATE ORATORICAL CONTEST

The annual preliminary contest to select a representative of Newberry college in the state oratorical contest next April will be held in Highland hall on Friday evening, Nov. 17th, beginning promptly at eight o'clock. The contestants with their subjects are as follows:

J. F. Clarkson, Newberry, S. C., "Service to Humanity." V. D. Derrick, Leesville, S. C., "The Trail of Service." C. M. Eberhardt, Aiken, S. C., "Awake, America!" T. A. Frick, Little Mountain, S. C., "The Temple of Peace." F. P. Hill, Newberry, S. C., "The Crucible of Our Nation." J. W. McCain, Jr., Waxhaw, N. C., "The Hope for Happiness."

These young men are considered to be among the best speakers in the student body. They have justly earned the honor to participate in the contest by their ability and hard work. The preliminary will, therefore, be highly interesting.

Newberry college hopes to send a representative to the state contest who will win first place. The people of Newberry can help the college attain this end by encouraging these young men with their presence next Friday evening.

We do not see any Republicans trying to ride back into office on that Dawes budget. It wouldn't even work for campaign purposes.

At the end of his term, we agree with him. He will be retired.

Philathea Class The Philathea class of O'Neill Street Methodist Sunday school enjoyed a very pleasant evening at their monthly business and social meeting. The class met with Miss Lula Cromer at her home in Cromer street. The secretary gave Rev. Gault a very good report for the year's work. After the business an attractive musical selection was given on the piano by Mrs. John Eddy Franklin. The hostess served a salad course at the conclusion of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. George Ammons. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lonnie Davis in Drayton street.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS PROSPEROUS PROSPERITY

Prosperity, Nov. 13.—Great preparations are being made for the South Carolina synod of the Lutheran church which convenes at Grace church Nov. 20, and lasting through Nov. 24. This meeting will be unusual owing to the fact that the Tennessee Lutheran church in South Carolina will join the South Carolina synod. Prominent Lutherans will be present, and address the congregations at night. The public is cordially invited to these services. About 130 delegates are expected.

The Baptist paragonage was the scene of a beautiful reception Thursday evening, when Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Williams were at home to the congregation between the hours of 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock. The lower floor was used en suite and artistically decorated throughout with masses of chrysanthemums in their varied hues. In an interesting Biblical contest, Miss Eula Joiner scored highest. Mrs. Williams, assisted by Mrs. George Harmon, served block cream and cake.

The happiest event in the celebration of Armistice day here was the party given Friday evening by Miss Lucy Lake, complimenting Miss Margaret Griffin. The home was decorated in the national colors, red, white and blue, and wherever possible were banked white chrysanthemums, red salvia and the ageratum. Games were played, but a "ship" contest claimed most of the evening in which the prize was captured by Miss Salome Dominick. The honor guest was presented with a box of dainty handkerchiefs. A tempting ice course was served. The favors were miniature forts with the stars and stripes floating above it.

Mrs. T. A. Dominick was hostess to the Literary Sorosis Friday afternoon. The club is studying Famous Women, and the subjects for the afternoon, Loretta, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan P. Anthony, Anna Howard Shaw, and the history of the suffrage in America, were ably handled by Miss Blanche Kibler, Mrs. M. C. Morris, Mrs. J. D. Quattlebaum, Miss Willie Mae Wise and Mrs. C. T. Wyche. A salad course and Russian tea were served, the hostess being assisted by Misses Salome and Bernice Dominick.

A call meeting of the William Lester chapter U. D. C. will be held Wednesday at 4 p. m. at the town hall. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. S. W. Hahn will be hostess to the Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church Friday afternoon at 8:30. All members are asked to bring in their thank offering boxes.

Mrs. Loomis Martin, a trained nurse residing at Silverstreet, was in the city Saturday and called on the doctors on business pertaining to her profession. Her phone number is 403—, and she will be pleased to answer any call.

Is It Worth While? Is it worth while to have a county home demonstration agent? If home demonstration work fulfills its purpose it gives to the home-maker by rearranging her furniture, her kitchen, and her methods of work more time for her children, for self improvement, for rest, for recreation, thus adding to the comfort and convenience of every inmate of that home.

It gives her instruction in the selection, care, feeding and housing of her poultry flock and the marketing of her products so that it becomes a source of income rather than an expensive food supply. It guards her in selecting, feeding and breeding the family cow. In the care and use of the milk supply, in the making of butter and in the sale of the surplus products of the cow. It assists her in selecting, planting and caring for her garden and orchard and in harvesting, storing, preserving and marketing their products as well as in the preparation and serving of these products for her own family.

Is it worth while to organize these mothers' girls into clubs? Giving them instruction in cooking, sewing, household management; in the care of the home flock. In the growing, killing and curing of the family meat.

Hartman and R. K. Wise of Columbia spent the week-end here with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Luther and Miss Margery Luther of Columbia spent Sunday at the home of Dr. R. L. Luther.

LUTHERANS DOWN SECEDER ELEVEN

Erskine Falls to Score in One-Sided Contest—Indians Meet P. C. Thanksgiving

Newberry, Nov. 10.—Newberry defeated Erskine handily this afternoon, 36 to 0, in a game which, though one-sided, was marked by some beautiful open field work. Not only did the Indians gain many yards by sweeping end runs and forward passes, but Erskine also completed a number of short forward passes, especially in the final quarter. The Seceiders were no match for the Lutherans. McLean's men score a goal from field in the first few moments of play when McPhee sent a beautiful drop kick from the 20 yard line and by the end of the first half they had amassed 23 points. Charlie Borts and McPhee swept the Erskine ends for steady gains and the forward passes of the Indians usually netted them a number of yards. The prettiest run of the game came in the first quarter when Borts went around left end for a touchdown. A few moments later McPhee shot a long pass to Wollett, who caught it on the run and placed it on the three yard line. Later on another pretty pass netted the Indians a touchdown. mgix resbn. bflut: shrdia cmfw/p

In addition to the spectacular work of Borts, Wollett and McPhee, special mention should be made of Butler's work at fullback. The whole Newberry team played good ball and Erskine never threatened the Indians' goal line.

For the Ironmen the work of Brice was perhaps the outstanding feature.

The game was exceptionally clean and fast, thanks to both the players and the officials in charge. This is the last home game of the Indians and from now on all eyes at Newberry will be turned toward Clinton, where the Blue Stockings and the Indians clash on Thanksgiving day in their annual struggle.

In personal hygiene and teaches them how to safeguard themselves and others from contagious and infectious diseases and in the proper methods of feeding and caring for the sick in the home. It teaches these girls how to grade, standardize and market the products of their industry.

Is it worth while for a girl to attend the year's short course? The short course has become an integral part of our system of education and together with other forms of club work is one of the great forces now operating for the nation's uplift. This coming together of hundreds of young people for the purpose of developing their power of achievement—something looking not to the past, but to the future.

If home demonstration work fulfills its purpose, it stands for and assists in any and every movement which tends toward the improvement of the rural home and community—good roads, good schools, good churches, better homes and better people living in these homes.

Those who attended the community fair witnessed the untiring efforts and zeal of Newberry county's home demonstration agent.

Legislators! Show your appreciation of your county agents' work. See that a proper appropriation be made for her aid along this line of work. We, as members of the farm council, ask this favor. Thank you.
