

THE TUSCARORAS.

The story of the Tuscaroras is a checked one. They were adopted into the Iroquois in 1712. They came from North Carolina in 1708, where they had 15 towns and 1,500 warriors. Their existence there was the same as all other tribes, the same old story—encroachments by the whites, who robbed them of their lands, and when resistance followed long and bloody border wars ensued. They burnt one Lawson, the surveyor general of North Carolina, who had marked some of their territory into lots for settlers. They captured the German Baron de Graffenried, but released him after five weeks on his promise that he would occupy none of their lands without their consent. In 1713 invaders of their territory captured 800 Tuscaroras in a fort on the Neuse river. These were killed and sold as slaves into South Carolina. The remnant migrated to New York as others had previously done. Previous to this Tuscaroras, on the 22 of September, 1711, had killed 130 Whites on Albemarle sound.

In the war of the Revolution most of the Iroquois adhered to the English, but many of the Tuscaroras and Oneidas were friendly to the colonists. When Gen. Sullivan and Col. Gansevoort made their destructive campaign against the Indians on the route to the lower Mohawk castle they were treated with every mark of friendship and hospitality in passing through the Tuscarora and Oneida castles. These officers had been ordered to spare the Tuscaroras and Oneidas. Such portions of these tribes as had been English allies escaped in canoes on Oneida lake, thence down the Oswego river, and coasted along Lake Ontario to the British garrison at Fort Niagara. In 1780 the Tuscaroras camped on a mile square given them by the Senecas, which is a part of their present reservation. The Holland company subsequently gave them two square miles, of which in 1804 they added by purchase 4,329 acres, making the total of their reservation 6,349 acres. The United States government paid for the purchase $18,732, being part of the trust funds held by the United States on final adjustment of the claims of the Tuscaroras upon North Carolina. Thus the Tuscaroras commenced their settlement in the town of Lewiston 17 years previous to the advent of the Holland Land company and 19 or 20 years before the commencement of settlements there by whites. The Tuscaroras were thus the pioneer settlers in this region, and the most kindly relations have existed between them and the whites ever since. In the war of 1812 the Tuscaroras were the allies of the Americans against the English.

The Mount Pleasant family, of whom John is now the chief of the Tuscaroras, have a prominent history in the border wars of the old time. His grandfather was a "big Indian," having been a captain in the British army, and at one time commandant of Fort Niagara. His son John was the father of the present chief. He was 68 years old in 1849, and has left records of his early experience in this region. He states there were no crows in the Niagara region until after the war of 1812. Deer were not plenty, and the wolves haunted them, driving them into the lake, and waiting until they were weary with swimming, came on shore and were caught and devoured. When the wolves were hunted out deer became plenty. Bears were plenty in some localities, and panthers were occasionally killed hereabouts. Bittern's white owls, and flocks of swan were seen about Niagara falls and on the islands and in the marshes. Wild cranberries abounded, and there were a great number of beaver dams. Salmon three feet long were often taken in Eighteen Mile creek, near Lockport, and below the falls of the Oak orchard. The "woods are full" of Indian stories and romances throughout all this region of Niagara county. The lands hereabout belonged to the original Holland purchase. The first white child born on the great Holland purchase was on the 19th of June, 1801—"a fine boy," as the records state. He was subsequently Col. Henry B. Ransom, of Clarence. In October, 1798, which was before the Holland land purchase, on the present site of Buffalo, there were but eight buildings, all log houses, of which Asa Ransom occupied one. He subsequently removed to Pine grove, and was the father of the "fine boy." As late as 1806 there were only 19 dwellings in Buffalo.—Ransomville (N. Y.) Cor. Troy Budget.

—The apple crop this year in the State of New York, as well as in several of the New England States was the largest yield ever known. The average price is about $1.35 a barrel. Out of this has to come the price of the barrel, leaving the net price of the fruit about $1 a barrel.

—The closing of the bars on election day in Massachusetts worked like a charm everywhere. In Boston the police authorities were astonished. During October the number of "drunks" before the police courts averaged forty-two daily. On the morning after the election it was found that only seven arrests for drunkenness had been made—a smaller number than had been presented for at least seven years.

—Near Kissimmee, Fla., last week, a gentleman riding along in a buggy noticed a large hawk pounce down upon and fix his talons in the body of a black snake. The snake immediately coiled itself around the hawk's neck, and the contest of life and death began. After watching them for some time, the gentleman got out, threw them into his buggy and then drove to a neighbor's several miles distant. The contestants each still retained the grip on the other, though both were yet alive. They were then dispatched.

A True Bill Found. EDGEFIELD, November 12.—Evening.—The grand jury has just come into Court with true bills against thirty-one of the persons charged with the murder of O. T. Culbreath. No bill was found in the cases of W. H. Hammond and Wyatt S. Seigler.

NO RIOT. AUGUSTA, November 12.—Reports were current here to-day of riots and bloodshed in Edgefield, but they prove to have been untrue. At 6 p. m., all was quiet.

Writing on the subject of edelweiss, Mr. Burbidge of the Trinity College Botanical Gardens, Dublin, points out that the plant is easily grown in English gardens from seed. It is sown in common garden earth in a cold frame, and when large enough the little plant is placed in a small pot in a mixture of loamy earth and old lime rubbish; or the plants, he says, are equally well pleased by a niche in a sunny rock garden, provided a supply of their favorite lime rubbish is at hand. He also affords them. Contrary to the generally received opinion, the edelweiss is really a plant of extremely easy culture from seeds as now directed, and, further, good fresh seeds of it are quite readily obtainable from the usual sources of seed supply.

COLEMAN'S HOTEL,

Kingstree, S. C.

MRS. S. A. ST. JOHN, Sole Proprietress. Board $2 per day. The Hotel has recently been thoroughly repaired and furnished with all modern appliances of a first-class hotel. Saloon, Billiard and Pool Rooms and Feed Stables. The proprietress returns thanks for the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed, and will continue to maintain the high character which the Hotel has always enjoyed.

The above being a fact, I state it merely to enforce the point that I have ready for inspection the largest and best assorted stock of Fall and Winter Clothing for men, youths and boys, that can be found in the State. They are peerless in variety and the underlinings are shrunken and the trimmings used are meant to wear, not merely to help sell the goods, as every garment is warranted as represented. There are unassailable ramparts behind which I invite you to deal. I am not here for a season, I am here to stay. My stock this season is the largest I have ever carried, and it embraces every style and fashionable garment that is made. I am willing to compare them with the merchant tailor work, and it is with real pleasure to state that the business of this EMPORIUM OF FASHION is steadily on the increase. My large and constantly increasing patronage testifies more forcibly than words that the values offered by me are not equalled by any house in the State.

To prove the truth of this I ask buyers to make their own comparisons, as I enjoy then a reputation above that, and beyond that of all clothiers in this vicinity at least producing a superior class of regular Tailor-made Clothing and Gent's Furnishing Goods, Hats and Fine Shoes. This is the headquarters for the correct styles in men's and boys' attire. All orders sent to my care will be promptly attended to.

Respectfully,
M. L. KINARD,
