More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless available remedy is immediately employed. There is nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective derivate and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism, and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by The R. B. Loryea Drug Store.

Sundial Maxims.

It is quite an interesting thing to learn that some of our best known proverbs and mottoes were originally used in connection with sundials. Before the days of watches and clocks, when dials and sun marks were among the rude means of reckoning time, it was a prevailing custom to inscribe them.

Among the maxims traceable to this source are: "Make hay while the sun shines"; "The longest day must end"; and "All things do wax and wane."

Sundials spoke the truth, as may be inferred from a historic one which was placed on St. Paul's cross, in London, and which proclaimed, "I number none but sunny hours." This no one will doubt who has had occasion to consult a dial on an overcast day.

A famous dial in Sussex, England, bore four famous mottoes applicable to the flight of time and the brevity of life. They were as follows: "After darkness, light." "Alas, how swift!" "I warn whilst I move" and "So passes life."

Another old sundial spoke petulantly about the same subject in the words, "Sirrah, be gone about your business."

A Sensitive Horse.

Harsh treatment, though it stop short of inflicting physical pain, keeps a nervous horse in a state of misery. On the other hand, it is perfectly true, as a besotted but intelligent stable keeper once observed to me, "A kind word for a horse is as good sometimes as a feed of oats."

A single blow may be enough to spoil a racer. Daniel Lambert, founder of the Lambert branch of the Morgan family, was thought as a three-year-old to be the fastest trotting stallion of his day. He was a very handsome, stylish, intelligent horse, and also extremely sensitive.

His driver, Dan Mace, though one of the best reinsmen in America, once made the mistake, through ill temper or bad judgment, of giving Daniel Lambert a severe cut with the whip, and that single blow put an end to his usefulness as a trotter. He became wild and ungovernable in harness and remained so for the rest of his life.

Long Winded Orators.

Edmund Burke's greatest speech is generally considered to have been the one on "Conciliation with America." The report of the speech, supplied by Burke himself, runs to as many as thirty-two pages. It contains over 20,000 words. It, therefore, could not have been delivered under less than five hours. It is curious, by the way, how long winded all the great British orators were in Burke's time. The older Pitt was the first to indulge in long speeches in the house of commons. After he had delivered one of these famous orations he was hailed by crowds outside the house with enthusiastic cries of "Three hours and a half! Three hours and a half!" "Just as if a man can talk sense for three hours and a half," remarked the cynical Chesterfield, who happened to pass by.

A Railroad Curves.

The first railroad west of the Alleghenies was built from Lexington to Frankfort, Ky., in 1831. The road was laid out with as many curves as possible, the engineers declaring that this was an advantage. The cars were in two stories, the lower for women and children, the upper for men, four persons being seated in each compartment. The cars were at first drawn by mules, but after a time a locomotive was made by a Lexington mechanic. The tender was a big box for wood, and a boiler was drawn in buckets from convenient wells. In place of a cowcatcher there were two poles in front fitted with hickory brooms for sweeping the track.

The First Phenix.

Legend tells us that the first phenix was born in the garden of Eden and had its nest in a great red rose—the first rose that ever bloomed. When the angel drove Adam and Eve out of paradise a spark of fire fell from the angel's fiery sword and burned up the phenix and his nest. Out of the ashes sprang a glorious bird, which also lived 500 years before mysteriously burning itself, at every recurrence of which a new phenix is said to arise.

His Explanation.

"All men," said Mr. Meekton, who was preparing a speech, "are created equal."

"What did you observe?" asked his wife.

"I said all men are created equal. That is to say, that they are equal to one another. This, of course, is not meant to imply that they are the equals of their wives."—Washington Star.

His Experience With Love.

"Do you think that love is a disease?"

"Well, it makes me feel far from well at times."

"You? Why, I didn't know you were in love."

"I'm not. But I sit opposite it at a boarding house table three times a day."—Kansas City Journal.

A Compromise.

"Your account has been standing a long time, Mr. Dukey."

"Then give it a seat, my dear Shears."

"Very glad to, sir; shall we make it a receipt?"—London Tit-Bits.

Like a Good Preacher.

"You say your washwoman reminds you of a good preacher?"

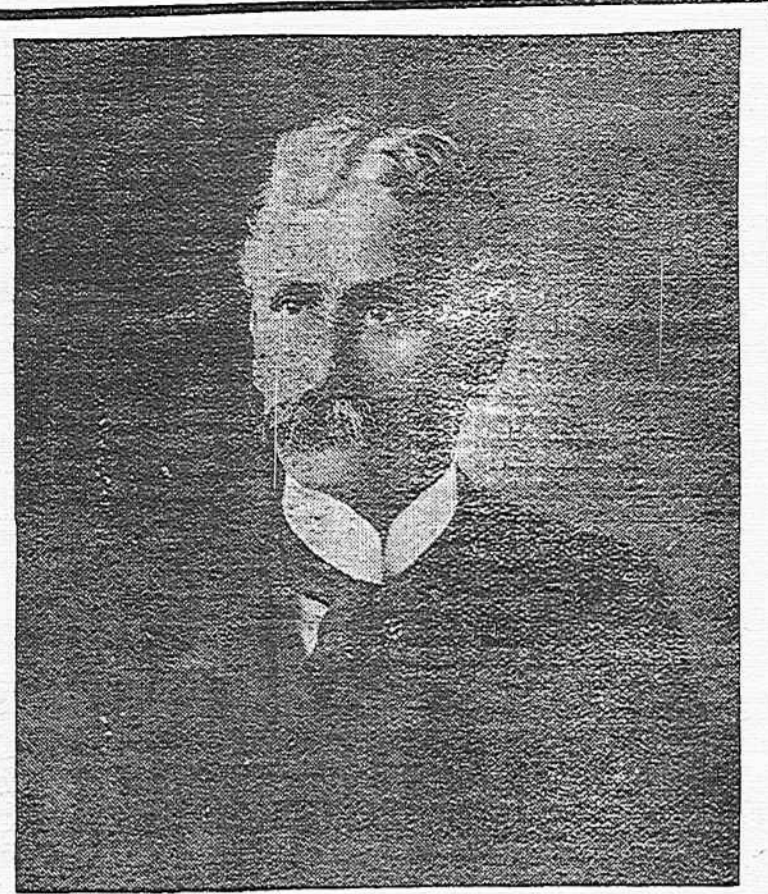

"Yes. She's always bringing things home to me that I never saw before."—Yale Record.

The whale was the first ocean male carrier, and in three days thereafter he adopted the free delivery system.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe and sure. Only 25c at The R. ### The Name of Sally Lunn.

Every one knows what a Sally Lunn is, but few people have any idea how this particularly nice kind of tea cake got its name. Sally Lunn was a Bath celebrity, who kept a cake shop, which was a favorite resort of both youth and age in the old west country town. Sally originally carried out her cakes, morning and evening, in a basket with a white cover. Later on her small shop in Lilliput alley became a favorite haunt, and Dalmer, a baker and musician, seeing that it was a very good thing, bought the business, composed a song "and set it to music. This song became a popular street ditty, barrows were used to distribute the cakes, and Dalmer finally retired on the profits of the business.

Disraeli's Devoted Wife.

On the way down to Hatfield Mrs. Disraeli had a fall on the premises of a dealer in marble and cut her face most severely. When she reached her destination she took her hostess aside and said: "My husband is preparing a great speech. If he finds out that I have had this accident he will be quite upset. I want you take me straight up to my room and say I've a headache. He has lost his eyeglass, and if you put me a long way from him at dinner he will never see what condition I am in." The plan answered admirably, and Disraeli did not find out what had happened for two days.—Diary of Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff.

Imperative.

"And when we're married," he said, "we'll have to take a nice little fat up town somewhere."

"Oh, no, Henry," she replied, "we'll simply have to live somewhere in the country, because I'm sure one of our wedding presents will be a lawn mower. Mrs. Subbuss as much as told me she was going to give us one."—Philadelphia Press.

Cut Rates.

Patient (regarding his lacerated face in the mirror)—You surely are not going to charge me full price for that shave? Barber—Ain't I? Why not? Patient—I think you ought to give me cut rates!

Never a Let Up.

"Poor pa's just working himself to death."

"Why, I thought he had a political job."

"He has, but it seems as if he no sooner gets reappointed than it is necessary for him to get out and work again so that somebody else won't get it next time."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Their Distress.

"His family felt very much distressed about his going on the stage, did they not?"

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "but not until after they had seen him act."—Washington Star.

Fashionable.

The Substitute

BY WILL N. HARBEN

Author of "Abner Daniel," "The North Walk Mystery," Etc.

IN THIS PAPER

The Substitute, by Will N. Harben, the distinguished author's highest achievement and one of the best stories of American life ever written will be printed serially in this paper.

PRAISE FROM THE CRITICS

Decidedly original motive and full of quaint folk portrayed with fidelity. A very human story that makes it a picture of real American life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A wholesome, well told story. The plot is fresh, many of the events unfolded come upon the reader as surprises and throughout the story is the racy vigor that results from a deep, true knowledge of the region depicted and the mental grasp to project it.—Literary Digest.

The Substitute is a better book than Mr. Harben's greatly praised Abner Daniel.—Ella Higginson in the Seattle Times.

A sound, wholesome tale of North Georgia life with real raciness and humor and character. It is as good as Mr. Harben's Abner Daniel and that is saying not a little.—Hamilton W. Mabie in The Outlook.

"I killed a feller jest at the close o' the war."

A PARISIAN BEAUTY.

MME. TALLIEN, WHO, IT IS ASSERTED, SNUBBED NAPOLEON.

A Woman Whose Entrancing Loveliness Dazzled Even the Women of the French Capital—The Mild and Inoffensive Young Bonaparte.

During the directorate Marie de Medici's palace became the center of government and Barras reigned there under the inspiration of Mme. Tallien. It was she who organized all the fetes and ceremonies which enlivened Paris after the Terror. In 1796 the beautiful Spaniard was twenty-three and had already had an eventful past. The daughter of a financier named Cabarrus, she had married at the age of sixteen the Marquis de Fontenay, been divorced from him in 1793 and had remarried, a few months after, Tallien, the conventional.

Arrested May 22, 1794, she was imprisoned in Les Carmes, and it was from here that she wrote the stinging epistles to her husband which induced that wavering spirit to dare all in the attempt to set her free. Armed with a dagger in case of failure and all the courage he could muster, Tallien on the famous 9th Thermidor attacked Robespierre in a debate which brought about the fall of the "sea green monster."

The reign of terror came to an end, the prisons disgorged their victims, and Mme. Tallien received from the people the title of Notre Dame de Thermidor. The world was at her feet, and she dazzled it by her beauty and her charm, her lovers and her luxury. Even women forgot to be jealous and acknowledged what all men proclaimed. The following description is from the pen of one of her own sex, Mme. de Chastelay:

"Mme. Tallien came every day to visit Barras. I do not think it possible to be lovelier than this woman was then. I shall always see her like a fairy queen among the rest, her beautiful black hair coiled simply on her head without any ornament, round her neck a single string of large pearls. She wore a white underdress and tunic of ink crepe, and, sitting on the ground playing with a child of three, the son of one of Barras' friends, they made a group which no classic sculpture could surpass."

Barras fell in with great naivete, in his memoirs, that "the Little Corsican then turned his attention to Josephine Beauharnais after a fruitless attempt to obtain favor with Mme. Tallien and that this lady had treated him with great disdain, telling him "she could do better for herself." This account of the affair coming from any other quarter would be more credible.

A considerable event was now to take place at the Luxembourg—namely, the reception given to General Bonaparte after the campaign of Italy. For the ceremony (Dec. 10, 1797) the courtyard of the palace was transformed into a sort of temple, and an altar to la Patrie erected in the grand entrance hall. The five directors, with Barras at their head, attended themselves as Romans, while Talleyrand, the minister of foreign affairs, was prepared with an elaborate harangue.

The scene was made additionally brilliant by the presence of many ladies, whose splendid jewels and rich dresses did nothing to the occasion, while their eager faces and murmured admiration betrayed their interest in the young hero. Among these groups not the least noticeable were Mme. de Stael and Mme. Recamier—"Wit and Beauty," as Napoleon himself named them.

Alone of all the assembly the future emperor had assumed no imposing costume. His uniform, that of a general of republican simplicity, with his palor, his gravity and quiet demeanor seemed to deprecate the ceremony of which he was the object. The tone of his speech was equally modest, his theme the pride he felt in his country's scientific conquests and her progress in the paths of peace.

Surely no government could suspect a rivid in so well disposed a young man. Two years later the coup d'etat of Brumaire drove Barras from the Luxembourg, and the first assembly, which in France has borne the title of senate, began its sittings in the palace.

—Hon. Mrs. E. Stuart Wortley in National Review.

W. E. JENKINSON CO.,

Department Store.

Fall Announcement 1904.

Our buyer, W. E. Jenkinson, has just returned from the Northern markets, where he has spent some three weeks in the careful selection of our Fall and Winter Goods. Our various departments will bustle with bargains this season and all we ask of our many friends who have ever stood by us in the past is, call and inspect and compare our values and we feel sure they will continue to give us their continued esteemed patronage.

This week we will only call attention to our various departments where you will find full stocks and a complete stock of itself in each department.

Fine Dress Goods.

Never during our long sojourn in the dress goods trade have we shown such a line of Fine Dress Goods as we are showing this season, and what is better still about this department we have a line of Dress Trimmings that will please any lady, it matters not how fashionable she may be. All the new and up-to-date things are shown here.

Staple Dry Goods.

It is useless for us to mention that we carry the largest and most up-to-date line of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods to be found in this part of the State.

Shoe Department.

We don't think we would fall far short of the truth were we to assert that we carry the largest stock of Shoes in this part of the State. Almost any kind of a shoe you need can be had at this department. A full line of the famous H. C. GODMAN Black Bottom Shoes. Everybody knows what good shoes the H. C. Godman Black Bottom Shoes are.

Gent's, Youth's and Children's Clothing.

All of our patrons know what an elegant line of Ready-Made Clothing we have always carried. It is enough for us to say that our stock of Ready-Made Clothing is the strongest we have ever shown.

A full line of Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Gent's Winter Underwear.

Furniture Department.

We have a large and complete line of all kinds of Furniture. All we ask of those who need Furniture is to call on us and we can prove to you beyond a doubt that we can save you money. We are determined to make our Furniture department one of the greatest in our store. Call and see us when you need Furniture.

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

Our Miss Williams, the buyer and trimmer for this department, has arrived from the Northern markets and we want to say here that she proposes to make this the greatest we have ever known in the history of our Millinery trade. Call and see us and we will sell you Hats cheaper than anywhere else.

Cloaks, Jackets, Furs and Skirts.

We wish to call special attention to our splendid line of Cloaks, Jackets, Furs and Ready-Made Shirts don't buy until you see this line.

Yours truly,

W. E. JENKINSON CO.

Your Credit Is Good.

A good many people, wishing to BUY FURNITURE, find they cannot afford to lay out $25 or $100 at one time, needing the ready cash to meet everyday expenses, the harvesting of crops, etc., etc.

To make it convenient for our patrons to buy their Furniture IN SUITS, or even to fit up a whole house COMPLETE, we sell our Furniture on easy terms by paying part cash and balance in weekly or monthly instalments.

Don't be afraid to ask for credit if you are deserving of our confidence. We solicit your patronage for cash with equal confidence, knowing we can give you in every respect, in quality as well as prices. We have men experienced in this line, competent in every respect and skilful mechanics in practical woodcraft.

Our buyer visits the furniture factories personally, and being a practical cabinet maker by trade, selects the furniture for our patrons, with a view of stability, style and the lowest possible prices.

We are not dry goods men, milliners or shoemakers, but furniture men and thoroughly practical in every respect, knowing how and the cost of production from long experience in the factories. So in buying from us you know that you are buying from a man who knows furniture, not by what it cost (as others do) but what it really is, and you are assured of getting right furniture at right prices.

Respectfully,

S. L. KRASNOFF,

THE FURNITURE MAN.

Coffins and Caskets.
