MANNING, S. C., FEBRUARY 13, 1918.

That German peace dove turned out to be a crow.

If some men profited by all their mistakes they would soon be millionaires.

This would be a good time to include the sheep-killing dog in the meatless days.

If this war goes on much longer they will soon be teaching geography in the schools by wireless.

Hooverizing seems to have successfully taken the place of Fletcherizing as a remedy for all stomach ills.

Farmers will soon be afraid to be seen bringing eggs to town, for fear of encountering the income-tax collector.

Those first five coalless days were about as far removed from coldless days as the weather man has given us so far.

Eggs 75c a dozen in Chicago! That fabled goose that laid the golden egg was a piker beside the little brown hen.

"Germans Enconomize on Light."—Headline. Which they can very easily do since their principal activities seem to be under cover of darkness.

An evangelist says the kaiser and his field marshals will spend eternity in hell. In that case Judas Iscariot should start a petition for a pardon.

Luke McLuke claims to be the only humorist who never wrote a mother-in-law joke. Has Luke a mother-in-law, and is she so formidable as all that?

The packing house investigations may not be turning up any embalmed beef, but they threaten to disclose some things with an equally offensive odor.

Gen. Pershing is reported engaged to be married. Let us hope this engagement will be free from the dangers incident to the one Uncle Sam entrusted him with.

A news item says "Hoover wants the government to buy all the sugar." It might just as well, with the whole country going "dry" there'll soon be nothing left to mix it with.

Congress needs to be bluntly told that with fewer "investigations" there would likely be more work done in speeding up war preparations. The chief business of administration officials lately has been in giving evidence. Let them go back to work.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB NOTES

The Home Demonstration Work in Clarendon County has been steadily growing for the past few years, and it is our ambition for each succeeding year to mark an epoch of advancement in our work.

The work is growing not only in scope but also in efficiency. We have active clubs in almost every community. The work is being directed by a county agent and a war emergency agent. We have just returned from Winthrop College where we took a very thorough course in problems pertaining to the home.

Instructions and demonstrations were given us by the best specialist from the Department at Washington and state instructors. Winthrop College and the United States Department of Agriculture are making it possible for the instructions and results of the best research laboratories to be brought to the very door of our busy home-makers.

They are also helping the schools to link their problems more closely to the problems of life.

We are preparing to hold a county short course in June. I hope to have a larger attendance this year than ever before.

We have a systematic course of study for our Women Home Demonstrators.

The first year's course consists of lessons on home conveniences, food, serving of meals, cooking of meats, milk and milk products, home sanitation, personal hygiene and home nursing, bread making, beautifying the home grounds, laundry, textiles and home decoration.

Second year course consists of a definite study of beautifying the home both interior and exterior and clothing.

Third year course consist of lessons in gardening, poultry and a series of lessons on Nutrition.

Each month a lesson is printed by Winthrop College and is studied by women in the clubs.

During the entire history of Demonstration work never before has it been more appreciated. Our country being engaged in a terrible war we all realize that the food supply is of paramount importance, therefore we are stressing food production and conservation more than we have ever before. We realize that the Home Demonstration agent's work is of great importance in serving our country, if we can help our people make, preserve and economize in order to supply food for our homes.

It is with great regret that I report the recent illness of our county agent, Miss Katherine Richardson, but she is improving and as soon as possible will be back in the field of usefulness.

COMMUNICATED

To the Editor of The Manning Times: Owing to your special fondness for Hon. John L. McLaurin, I have no hesitancy in saying that I had occasion to accompany Senator McLaurin to Columbia on last Thursday and while I was in the Senator's company I was particularly struck with the numerous congratulations which were simply showered upon him by members of the legislature and by citizens in the private walks of life for coming out in a manly way in support of President Wilson and his administration. May I be permitted to say that I sincerely hope that the day is not far distant when statesmanship will be sought to fill public offices in South Carolina and not politicians.

CONVINCED OF TANLAC BY AID GIVEN WIFE

Husband Says She Added Fifteen Pounds on Four Bottles

DOUBLE ENDORSEMENT

Knew Tanlac Would Help Him Greatly When He Began It, And He Tells Details

Cases in which two or more people in the same family have been so greatly benefited by Tanlac that they have offered a double endorsement of this famous Master Medicine are common. When you see a person relieved of suffering and made strong again, it is the most natural thing in the world for you to want the same benefits. This is how Charles E. Whitmore, of 103 Bradford St., Albany, N. Y., happened to take Tanlac.

"My wife, who had been all run down and nervous and getting weaker right along, began to take Tanlac." Mr. Whitman explained. "Well, of course, I wanted the results, and it was wonderful to see the way it built her up. On four bottles she gained fifteen pounds. I had been doubtful about Tanlac, but that settled me. When I started Tanlac I could hardly eat one good meal in a whole week. From suffering with a bad stomach I had become nervous and restless at night and all run down. Instead of digesting, my food would just lie like lead on my stomach and sour and ferment and form gas. Because I had sour stomach—acid stomach—so long, my mouth had gotten sore. I could not sleep restfully, but would wake up every hour or two and would roll and toss. I was tired in the morning, and by mid-afternoon I was so tired out it seemed I couldn't get through the day. I had lost all ambition, and I did not care. Seeing what Tanlac had done for my wife encouraged me to it began to brace me up right away. It did as much for me as it did for her. I slept right through the night, woke up rested, with a good appetite, and was able to enjoy my meals. My food digested, and the gas, bloating and sour stomach disappeared. I felt like a new man, and the old tired, worn-out feeling went with the rest of my troubles."

When Mr. Whitmore's stomach became weak, his system probably began to clog with waste matter. What he needed was a good system purifier, stomach tonic and reconstructive, and Tanlac did the work for him and he saw it do for his wife, and as it has done for countless thousands.

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is sold by Dickson's Drug Store, Manning; H. W. Nettles, Jordan; Shaw & Plowden, New Zion; Farmers' Supply Co., Silver; D. C. Rhame, Summerton.—Adv.

NO SEARCHING OF TRAVELERS GRIP

Columbia, Feb. 11.—The story of the agreement by the free conference committee of the general assembly on the item for "law enforcement," which really means a sum for the maintenance by Governor Manning of a liquor constabulary is contained in a letter written by the governor to his chief constable here today, calling a halt in the matter of the promiscuous searching of grips, which has been going on during the past several months, to the inconvenience and disgust of the public generally. Knowing that he was in a desperate hole, the governor "came across," and wrote his letter of today and furnished a copy to the free conference committee. It was only then that the committee agreed to recommend the sum of $41,000 for "law enforcement." Up until the time when the governor practically came in and pleaded for mercy, he was absolutely beaten, and mercy was shown him only upon the conditions demanded, to which his letter agrees.

Two members of the Charleston delegation figured prominently in the matter. They were Messrs. Seabrook and Young.

There was a determined fight in the general assembly over the appropriation of money for the enforcement of the prohibition law. The house refused to give anything whatsoever, and the senate wanted to give $51,000. The great objection by the house to this fund was on the ground, as contended by some members of the house free conference committee, that agents of the governor have been searching personal baggage without warrant and suspecting responsible persons to unreasonable search. Mr. Seabrook, of Edisto, a member of the free conference committee, and Mr. Young, of the Charleston delegation, pointed out to the governor where the trouble lay, and after the governor had written the following letter, the sum of $41,000 was allowed by the committee:

"Columbia, February 11, 1918.
 "Mr. T. J. Smyrl, chief constable, Columbia, S. C.—Dear Sir: It having been intimated to me that the state constables have probably misunderstood former instructions in enforcing the prohibition law, I desire now to instruct you and the state in enforcing that they shall not search, or undertake to search, the baggage of any traveler, unless that traveler has been heretofore indicted for selling intoxicating liquor in contravention of law, or unless such person has a warrant describing the person or baggage to be searched, or unless the constable has certain knowledge that there is liquor in said baggage.—Very truly yours,
 "RICHARD I. MANNING,
 "Governor."
