THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The failure of the senate to ratify the peace treaty leaves the United States, for the time being, in a position of "splendid isolation." It might better be called a position of "dangerous isolation."

either In effort to discredit the Democratic administration the senate majority has placed the country in an unenviable position.

It is not uncommon, even in Democratic South Carolia, to hear men say that they do not care a straw. for the league of nations-that we do not want any foreign entanglements which would mean the constant policing of Europe and our embroilment in frequent quarrels of petty European nations. It was to prevent just that that the league of nations was proposed. While it is not a perfect document, and will be perfected from time to time, it contained the germ or eswars.

by the throat and given her a shaking. The American people do not want war with Mexico, but patience, must some day cease to be a virtue. If we must make Mexico behave the best time we could possibly pick would be the present. The longer the process of house cleaning is delayed the more chance of foreign complications, especially since we have decided that we are too good or to selfish to associate with the rest of the world in a combination to insure the peace of the world. It will not be such a hard job to oust Carranza, take the capital and someother strategic points in Mexico, but the job will be to keep the peace in that turbulent (country. Little less than extermination, annexation, and repopulation of the country would suffice to insure permanent tranquility in Mexico. God forbid that we are driven to such a course. We do not want it, but we fear it.
