WHAT IS YOUR MONEY WORTH?

Money as a purchasing agent means 100 cents to a dollar. But the greatest spending value of money is in what it will buy judiciously. Money value and economy are often mistaken for the same thing.

So it is with the purchase of the commodities of every day use. A shoe with a hole in it will destroy more than a new pair or a half sole will cost. So it is an economy to spend money for the new shoes.

Your local merchant carries two or three grades of almost every staple article and the close observer can easily see that the best value for your money lies not in price but in service.

The practice of sending money away from home for articles to save what may seem a substantial reduction from the local merchant's price is often a waste of money.

By patronizing local merchants and home industries you are using the only method of keeping prosperity in your community. The economy of money value lies in the good you receive not only directly but indirectly from what you spend.

NEGRO LOSES LIFE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

The State, Monday. Raymond Alte, well known negro, employed by The Record Publishing company, died at the Good Samaritan hospital at an early hour this morning as the result of injuries received in a motor car wreck. Alte and a party of friends had motored to Lexington and were returning home when the machine dashed into an embankment.

Macco Johnson came to the police station at 1 o'clock this morning and gave the details of the accident to Desk Sergeant Fellers and Officer Dreher. Johnson said seven men were in the party that left Columbia at 9 o'clock last night for a trip to Lexington.

Johnson said Alte was suffering from a deep gash on the right side of his head when he was picked up. He said Alte's head was on the ground and his feet rested on the right running board. Johnson said another car transporting several negroes came on the scene in a few minutes after the accident occurred and Alte was brought to the Good Samaritan hospital, where he died 30 minutes after he was placed on a cot.

Johnson told the police that the following composed the party on the trip to Lexington: Jake Eibanks, Jack Scott, Jake Grant, Macco Johnson, Henry Yarborough, Raymond Alte, and Reed Haskell, the chauffeur.

WHAT NATIONALITY IS THIS WOMAN?

Washington, Oct. 24.—Edward Everett Hale's famous story, "The Man Without a Country," is being played in real life by many "women without a country."

Legislators interested in immigration and naturalization laws are puzzled as to the best method to unravel a snarl produced by a conflict between United States and British naturalization laws.

In Great Britain an English woman who marries an American loses her British nationality.

According to a new United States law, an American woman who marries a foreigner retains her citizenship in this country.

The result has been confusion; a British woman marrying an American, longer British, and by the law of this country is not American.

FORD WILL FIGHT FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

Henry Ford has not abandoned his plan for the development of Muscle Shoals, and in a dispatch from Detroit to the Wall Street Journal he is quoted as follows: "Henry Ford denies current reports that he had become disgusted with the delays that his offer for Muscle Shoals had been subjected to during the last session of congress and had decided to drop all efforts to secure a favorable vote on the project."

"Any statement that I have lost interest in Muscle Shoals or am contemplating a withdrawal of my offer is simply a lie," he said emphatically. "I've reached the point where I'm tired of saying that people who continually misrepresent my position in regard to Muscle Shoals are merely mistaken.

"The opposition has been printing pamphlets by the thousands, lining up great and politically powerful business interests, who feel they might be injured if we produced a cheap aluminum or fertilizer, to exert their influence in every way against our proposition. We have let them play their string out."

"When the time comes we will do our fighting—if it is necessary. And if it does, some people will know they have been in a fight." It is a well-known fact that the fertilizer interests, the aluminum interests and some others are bitterly opposed to Mr. Ford, wherein they are making a very serious technical blunder for their own welfare.

The water power interests are also fighting Mr. Ford, and they, too, of course, are doing it from a selfish standpoint, but it would seem that they have a little better fighting ground than either the fertilizer people or the aluminum people, but they are helping to stand in the way of a development which if carried out according to Mr. Ford's plans would bring about enormous prosperity to a large section of the South and thus to the country.

MASONS THREATENED

Washington, Oct. 24.—Prominent members of the Masonic order in congress are shocked at reports reaching this country from Ireland of wanton and purposeless attacks on members of the Masonic order, and the destruction of the property of a fraternity which never takes any part in politics.

According to reports many Masonic halls have been wantonly destroyed in Ireland by those who choose to read a religious intolerance into the political troubles of that sore distressed country. The Masonic hall at Ballinamore has been destroyed. In Mulligan the Masonic hall was raided, its windows broken, its furniture hacked with axes, after which oil was poured over the wreckage, and the whole burned.

Members of the order, whose names were obtained from the seized records, were ordered to leave on pain of death. Many of them escaped to Belfast; the meetings of all three lodges have been indefinitely suspended. Molesworth Street hall, Dublin, the meeting place of the grand lodge and headquarters of the order in Ireland, has been occupied by the Irish Republican army, which thus came in possession of the names of all Free Masons in Ireland. Shortly after this seizure the County Cork murders occurred.

parliament, says of these attacks: "The fact is that men in power in the south and west of Ireland have broken with all religion, retaining only its prejudices and antipathies. It is the spirit of the French revolution or of Bolshevik Russia that is abroad."

COTTON MARKETING ASSO. WINS CASES IN COURTS

Columbia, Oct. 22.—Sweeping victories for cooperative marketing were won in the courts of North Carolina, Texas and Oklahoma during the past week, according to statements issued yesterday by the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Cooperative Association.

In Texas and Oklahoma the cotton contracts, which are practically identical with the contract signed by the members of the South Carolina association, were upheld by the courts and permanent injunctions granted restraining members of those associations from disposing of their cotton except through the association.

In North Carolina a desperate effort was made by enemies of the Tri-State Tobacco association to have dissolved an injunction which had been issued against two members of the association. Several of the ablest lawyers in the state were employed in the effort to have the contract declared unconstitutional but the court in its decision made the injunction permanent, declaring the contract sound.

Very great interest was taken by South Carolinians in the North Carolina hearing. The attempt to have the injunction dissolved was made before Judge Frank Daniels. H. G. Connor, Jr., of Wilson chief counsel for those attacking the legality of contract, argued that the association is aimed to create a monopoly and that it is a combination in restraint of trade.

The tobacco association has now instituted suit against the parties who sold their tobacco outside of the association for 5 cents a pound liquidated damages.
