EVILS OF M'KINLEYISM.

THREATENS EVERY IMPORTANT ELEMENT OF OUR INSTITUTIONS.

The Present Administration Has Attacked, if It Has Not Overturned, the Four Cardinal Principles of the American Republic—Striking Texts For Bryan.

The following remarkable article is taken from the Trenton True American:

If Mr. Bryan comes into New Jersey to speak during the present campaign he will appear under totally different auspices from those of 1896.

Then his election was a menace; now it is a promise of deliverance from greater ills than were then dreamed possible of even contemplation.

Then the currency question was a novelty full of menace. Now the currency question has settled itself, just as all financial questions settle themselves under the insuperable rule of necessary supply and demand.

But under the Administration of President McKinley new evils have arisen which are full of destruction to every important element of our institutions.

There are just four great principles of government which distinguish the United States from other national institutions, and it is to their controlling influence that our phenomenal progress and development have been attributed.

First—The dependence of an honest Administration seeking the good of all the people upon the good will of an unselfish, patriotic people;

Second—The maintenance in integrity of our republican institutions;

Third—The absolute subordination of the military to the civil power;

Fourth—The refusal to imperil our own liberties by interference in foreign complications.

It is to the debit of the McKinley Administration that it has seriously attacked, if it has not overturned, each and every one of these four cardinal principles of the American Republic.

(1.) The McKinley tariff bill was but the forerunner of the McKinley Administration in that it set up classes of a few to be benefited at the expense of the many, and that principle has been carried into every ramification of the Administration. Every public question has been approached from the standpoint of productiveness in political power, and every attribute of government has been used, not for the benefit of all the people, but as a means of placating particular interests or producing money with which to corrupt the franchise. This political corruption has progressed more under the three years of the Hanna-McKinley Administration than in all the 120 years of our existence as a republic; it has risen to such condition that it may be said with entire fairness that every governmental favor has its price. The evident and inevitable result of this is that the Administration seeks its re-election by the same means—the self-interest and corruptability of the people. To this end everything is being turned and flagrantly turned. How different from the methods and means by and through which the election of every American President, from Washington to Garfield, was sought!

(2.) The foundation of republican institutions in this country is that all government shall be for all our people and that wherever our dominion exists there does our republic maintain itself. But, how different under the McKinley Administration, which sets up an empire in the Philippines; a territory in the Sandwich Islands; a province in Porto Rico, and a military protectorate in Cuba—and all managed by the same clique at Washington according, not to law, but to the personal ambition or desire of the Administration, or of those who have a pull on it.

(3.) In every preceding Administration it has been the aim of President and Congress to depend wholly upon the militia of the States for any emergency, and to maintain as small a standing army as was necessary to curb the Indians, watch our frontiers and occupy the forts erected as a provision against attack. But now the President must have an army of a hundred thousand men, and must have power to use them at his will. And we find that to-day Cuba is being held and controlled by military rule and by an armed force without any authority in Congress and without any right in the President except such as followed a warlike occupation of the island. Our own territory of Porto Rico is held under a military regime rendered necessary by the unpopularity of the civil government set up there. In the Philippines the civil government is a mockery and a pretence, and the military government makes the law, construes the law and executes the law. And yet we turn up our noses at the Central American republics.

(4.) The position of affairs in China demonstrates the wisdom which impelled Washington to demand, in the interests of public safety, that the United States should not interfere with the internal affairs of any foreign Government, nor entangle itself by alliances with any of them. What the outcome of the Chinese imbroglio may be none can tell, save that we are likely to pay dearly for that conceit which made us project ourselves into Asiatic affairs.

Any one of these four texts would furnish Mr. Bryan with a subject for effective amplification.

SUFFERING AND RELIEF

Three Letters from Mrs. Johnson, Showing that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures the Ills of Women

Wrote for Mrs. Pinkham's Advice November, 1897

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am a great sufferer, have much trouble through the lower part of my bowels, and I am writing to you for advice. Menses are irregular and scanty, am troubled with leucorrhœa, and I ache so through my back and down through my loins. I have spells of bloating very badly, sometimes will be very large and other times very much reduced."—MRS. CHAS. E. JOHNSON, Box 33, Rumford Center, Maine, Nov. 20, 1897.

Improvement Reported December, 1897

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to tell you that I am improving in health. I am ever so much better than when I wrote before. The trouble through the lower part of bowels is better and I am not bloated so badly. I was very much swollen through the abdomen before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I still have a feeling of fulness across my chest. I have used three bottles of it and am on the fourth."—MRS. CHAS. E. JOHNSON, Box 33, Rumford Center, Maine, Dec. 13, 1897.

Enjoying Good Health June, 1899

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Since a year ago I have been taking your medicine, and am now strong and enjoying good health. I have not been so well for three years, and feel very thankful to you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I would advise all who suffer with female troubles to try your medicine."—MRS. CHAS. E. JOHNSON, Box 33, Rumford Center, Maine, June 1, 1899.

Past Life Revealed By the Thigh.

A man's thighs interest me in any mood and at any time. While you get a man's character from his face, you can, if you will, get his past life from his thigh. It is the walking beam of his locomotion, controls his paddlers, and is developed in proportion to its uses. It indicates, therefore, a man's habits and his mode of life.

If he has sat all day with one leg lapped over the other, arm on chair, head on hand, listening or studying—preachers, professors, and all the other sedentaries sit like this—then the thigh shrinks, the muscles droop, the bones of the ankle bulge, and the knee joints push through. If he delivers mail, or collect bills, or drives a pack mule, or walks a tow path, the muscles of the thigh are hauled taut like cables, the knee muscles keep their place, the calves are full of knots—one big bunch just below the strap of his knickerbockers, should he wear them.

If he carries big weights on his back—sacks of salt, as do the poor stevedores in Venice; or coal in gunnies, as do the coolies in Cuba; or wine in casks, or coffee in bags—then the calves swell abnormally, the thigh solidify, the lines of beauty are lost, but the lines of strength remain.

If, however, he has spent his life in the saddle rounding up cattle, chasing Indians, hunting bandits in Mexico, ankle and foot loose, his knees clutched tightly, hugging that other part of him, the horse, then the muscles of the thigh round out their intended lines—the most subtle in the modulating curves of the body.—F. Hopkinson Smith, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.

Crusade Against Tipping.

According to an almost incredible report, the waiters of Paris are organizing for a general crusade against the tip system, and the substitution for it of wages paid in the regular way. The waiters say, or at least are said to say, that they are tired of being beggars, of getting alms instead of pay, and that they aspire to rise to the plane of respected and self-respecting workingmen. This is a most laudable ambition, and though an equally natural one, its expression has been so long delayed that suspicion of its sincerity is inevitable. Had the movement started here, where the willingness to accept tips is a form of moral degradation of comparatively recent appearance, the impulse to doubt could have been easily restrained. But in Paris the case is different. There the service vice is the growth of centuries, and a direct product of conditions that never existed here, and its continued existence is not remarkable. Can it really be that men calling themselves Americans, and at any rate living in America, will allow Continental "servants" to teach them the very first lesson of decent self-respect?

Why Not Adopt It Here?

A new word has been introduced into the Flemish language. It is snelpaardeloooszoondeerspoonwegpe t r o o lirijtuig. The etymology is: "Snel," rapid; "paardeloos," horseless; "zoondeerspoorweg," without rails; "petroolirijtuig," driven by petroleum. The whole word, as can be easily seen, means automobile.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. BILE IN THE BLOOD

No matter how pleasant your surroundings, health, good health, is the foundation for enjoyment. Bowel trouble causes more aches and pains than all other diseases together, and when you get a good dose of bilious bile coursing through the blood life's a hell on earth. Millions of people are doctoring for chronic ailments that started with bad bowels, and they will never get better till the bowels are right. You know how it is—you neglect—get irregular—first suffer with a slight headache—bad taste in the mouth mornings, and general "all gone" feeling during the day—keep on going from bad to worse untill the suffering becomes awful, life loses its charms, and there is many a one that has been driven to suicidal relief. Educate your bowels with CASCARETS. Don't neglect the slightest irregularity. See that you have one natural, easy movement each day. CASCARETS tone the bowels—make them strong—and after you have used them once you will wonder why it is that you have ever been without them. You will find all your other disorders commence to get better at once, and soon you will be well by taking—
