

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Miss Gwineth Bratton, of Richburg, is visiting friends in Fort Mill.

W. B. Ardrey is having erected a twenty-foot addition to his drugstore building on Main street.

Misses Emma and Pearl Faulkner, of Gastonia, N. C., were visitors the last week in the home of Mr. T. D. Faulkner, in this city.

Mrs. M. L. Henry and little daughter, Evelyn, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Thelma Armstrong, of Spencer, N. C., are guests in the home of J. H. Sutton, of the township.

B. M. Lee and family, who for several years have resided at Finlay, Texas, returned to Fort Mill Monday at noon and will again reside on Mr. Lee's plantation south of town.

W. L. Ferguson, of Concord, N. C., who, with his family, was a recent visitor to this city, will return about September 15th and will take a position as cotton and seed buyer for the E. W. Kimbrell company.

The little daughter of Mrs. Mamie Thompson, which has been ill of diphtheria in the home of its grandfather, J. H. Bailes, for several days, was reported yesterday to have improved to such an extent as to now be considered out of danger from the late attack of the disease.

A gruesome postcard picture was that exhibited on the streets Sunday by a Fort Mill man showing the body of Leo M. Frank as it swung from a tree a few mornings ago near Marietta, Ga. The pictures are not admissible to the mails but through other sources have gotten scattered over the country.

From the Rock Hill Record it is learned that a swimming meet is being arranged between the Fort Mill aquatic club and the Rock Hill Y. M. C. A. aquatic team to be held in that city in a few days. All of the boys who participated in the meet last year are urged to enter the contest being arranged.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the York Baptist association will be held with the York Baptist church on August 31 and September 1. A most interesting program has been prepared for the sessions and delegates from every Baptist church in the county will be in attendance.

The town of York is making extensive preparations for a home-coming and chautauqua to be held there September 1, 2 and 3. Many valuable prizes are to be awarded, and with several of the State's most prominent men present to make addresses, the event is likely to draw large crowds from this and adjoining counties.

The Times is requested to call a meeting of the farmers of Fort Mill township to be held in the town hall, this city, next Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss matters tending to the betterment of the farmers, and all interested in agriculture are urged to attend.

A young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Moore, who reside on East Confederate street, suffered intensely for several hours Monday afternoon as a result of having been bitten on the foot by a snake, supposedly a spreading adder. The child was in the woods near its home when bitten by the snake. A physician was hurriedly summoned and after working with the child for several hours the pain subsided and the little girl it is now thought will suffer no further inconvenience from the wound.

While climbing a tree near his home yesterday afternoon, William Banks, Jr., the 7-year-old son of William Banks, editor of The Record, fell and had both arms broken.—The State Wednesday.

R. G. Graham, of Sharon, N. C., was in Fort Mill Thursday, shaking hands with his many friends and enjoying himself in general. Mr. Graham came down to attend the annual dinner given by the ladies of the local chapter of the U. D. C., and was loud in his praises of the excellence of the dinner and the cordial treatment given the old soldiers by the ladies.

Annie Parrish, a negress, was brought into town yesterday in a wagon for medical treatment for a number of ugly gashes about her arms and body, said to have been inflicted by Loma Reid, another negress. The women engaged in a fight in the "Paradise" section, the cause of the affray not being learned. The Reid woman was arrested and lodged in the boose.

The county bridge over Catawba river, east of Fort Mill, can be used with safety no more until extensive repairs are made to the structure. The bridge has been in need of attention for some time, according to persons crossing the river at that point, and on Tuesday became impassable when one of the spans of the approach on the east side gave away and allowed one section to sag something like one foot. As a result of the condition of the bridge, a party of York "boosters," traveling in 30 automobiles and headed for Fort Mill, were compelled to turn back, as were numerous other teams and automobiles which approached from either side of the river. It is understood that arrangements had already been made to repair the bridge and it is expected the structure will be good shape again in a few days.
