BUILDING MATERIAL RATES WILL BE CUT

Director Hines Approves Plan to Stimulate New Construction Work.

Those who are interested in construction work, especially as it applies to building, will read with interest the following statement in a Washington paper:

As a step toward increasing building activities throughout the country which is the one immediate hope of reducing unemployment, the United States Railroad Administration will in a few days cut down the freight rates handling materials, all description, from the present high level to the pre-war standard. The proposal, put forward by some of the leading economists in the country, has met the approval of Walker D.-Hines, Director General of Railroads.

The cut will apply to material for general construction, in the hope that private interests will seize the opportunity with the opening of spring to let contracts generally.

Such a cut would, of course, reduce the price of lumber, bricks, cement and structural steel, and would be an invitation to go ahead with the work, that, in turn, would give employment to a very large number of mechanics.

BRYAN'S GRANDSON BY POST.

Trip From Egypt to America Made by Six Year Old Reginald.

Portland, Me., March 15.—Reginald Bryan Owen, six years old, on the way to the home of his grandparents, former Secretary of State and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, in Baltimore, and one of the most valuable parcel post packages ever handled here, spent a lively and thoroughly enjoyable day in this city. He left late yesterday afternoon for New York.

He arrived late Wednesday night.
His baggage did not, however, which disturbed the maid who has him in charge, Mlle. Marguerite Passot, greatly. Lack of a nightie and comb didn't bother Reggie, however. He put up at the Parker House.

Reggie is very English. He is ten days out of London and three months out of Egypt, and landed at Portland, Me., from the liner Megantic. His father, Major Owen, is coming to this country by another route, chosen because of his health. He is ill from the hardships of the Dardanelles campaign. Bryan's grandson talks French very attractively. Although officially a parcel post package, he isn't tagged or covered with stamps.

"No, I wasn't in the war," he exclaimed, showing his French legion of honor medal. A French officer who admired the lad, gave the medal to him. Reggie tried to buy a newspaper photographer's camera. When told it was worth $150 he said: "That ain't so much." The nurse took Reggie on a sightseeing trip about the city, which he enjoyed hugely.
