

Dear Amy:

You just ought to see the way John and I have fixed up our porch. We have a new settee, new chairs and a tea table. You and Bob come take tea with us and see our new porch furniture. You'll fix up yours too.

We bought the sensible kind of Summer furniture—the kind we can use in the house, too, when Winter comes.

How I do love a nicely furnished home! Don't you, Amy?

Always with love,

Lou.

P.S.—What tempting Summer furniture, matting and linoleum you can buy from.

APPLICATIONS FOR AID STILL COMING

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION TAKES 14 MORE COUNTIES UNDER ITS WING.

RAPIDLY GROWING UNANIMOUS

Resolutions Passed Providing That No Wooden Bridge Be Built Without Consent of Commission.

Columbia.

At its monthly meeting in Columbia the state highway commission received application from 14 counties for federal aid on road and bridge projects and agreed to recommend the construction of projects in these counties on which a total of approximately $462,080 of federal money is ultimately to be expended. The counties receiving federal aid and the total amounts awarded to each of them by the commission follows:

Aiken, $70,000; Saluda, $20,000; York, $14,000; Orangeburg, $70,000; Sumter, $68,000; Pickens, $15,000; Lee, $43,200; Barnwell, $5,000; Cherokee, $25,000; Chester, $43,000; Beaufort, $13,000; Allendale, $20,000; Clarendon, $40,000; Union, $115,000.

The commission passed a resolution providing that no wooden bridges are to be built on state road projects without special permission from the commission.

Loans on Livestock Advocated.

Dr. W. K. Lewis, director of the bureau of animal industry under the United States department of agriculture in Columbia, has just returned from a trip into a number of the coastal counties.

Dr. Lewis is vitally interested in arousing the people of the state to the menace of the boll weevil, which is invading the southwestern corner of the state. The invasion of this pest will compel the farmers to turn from the cultivation of cotton to live stock raising, as the presence of the weevil means that for many years once the pest has arrived, production of cotton will be practically impossible.

Land values will commit the state to two distinct efforts to meet the emergency. Dr. Lewis says that in the lower half of the state the lands are cheaper and the growing of live stock for beefs will be the natural sequence of conditions.

Inability to finance purchases of cattle for fattening purposes is one of the greatest handicaps the farmers now face. Dr. Lewis says. To meet this condition, it will be necessary he says, for a few banks at strategic points to appoint a livestock expert in their banking organization, which will take care of loans for cattle. Banking houses in the West follow this plan.

Bill for Soldiers' Relief.

Washington (Special)—Congressman Stevenson has introduced the following bills:

That any soldier or sailor who has suffered the loss of a limb, or an eye, or an equivalent injury, in the late war shall be entitled to compensation at a minimum rate of $50 per month; that any soldier or sailor who has incurred partial disability equal to 10 per cent or over while in the service and who is carrying insurance with the government shall have the right of at once begin to draw monthly installments of his insurance as if he were totally disabled, but shall draw only in proportion to his disability.

Thirty-One Stills Destroyed.

T. J. Smyrl, chief state constable, and his associates last month destroyed on an average one still a day. The total number of stills captured was 31 and the number of fermenters taken was 47. The officers confiscated 555 gallons of beer and one gallon of blockade whiskey. Twenty-six arrests were made. The distilleries were distributed as follows: Allendale, 5; Aiken, 15; Barnwell, 3; Edgefield, 4; Lexington, 3; Orangeburg, 1. Constable Smyrl and his assistants cover about one-fifth of the state.

Cotton Should be Housed.

W. G. Smith, state warehouse commissioner, said farmers of the state have lost enough in weather damage to cotton left in the open this year to pay for substantial warehouses. The average loss he says in damaged cotton and in depreciation of quality in many instances will amount to 100 pounds to the bale. Mr. Smith suggests the size and type of warehouse which may be built. He will be glad to furnish further particulars, if called on, or will be glad to call upon farmers who are interested.

Fight on Boll Weevil.

"The results so far secured with the use of arsenate of lime against the boll weevil will warrant through experimenting with a view of developing this remedy into a practical control measure," says Prof. A. F. Conrad, of the division of entomology, who announces that he is to establish a series of experiments at points in this state where serious weevil injury may be expected this season; the division will be glad to give any information to farmers who are interested.

Statement of Cotton Condition.

The American Cotton Association has issued a crop report placing the condition of the cotton crop for the belt up to May 25, at 73.2 per cent. The deterioration of the cotton crop from May 25 to May 31 was estimated by the association to be 6.3 per cent.

The following statement was issued from the Columbia offices of J. Skottowe Wannamaker, president of the association:

"The American Cotton Association through personal representatives in every section of the belt and through the assistance of leading experts, employing probably the largest force ever used in securing a crop condition report, has just completed a survey of the condition of the cotton crop.

"The association finds that the condition of the cotton crop for the belt up to May 25 was 73.2 per cent. We estimate that the deterioration of the crop from May 25 to 31 has been 6.3 per cent."

Senator Dial's Assignments.

Washington (Special).—Among the committee assignments which have been given Senator Dial of South Carolina are two or three which will be of special benefit to him in his official work. These are postoffices and post roads, the District of Columbia and national banks.

The former is especially important for two reasons. The postoffice committee of the senate is the one which is just now putting legislation for new and good roads into workable shape. This committee also is the one which handles all postoffice nominations and which makes its report to the senate after they have come from the White House.

"I am especially glad to be on this committee," Senator Dial said. "I consider that the question of good roads is one of the most far reaching economic problems of the present day. Unless we go forward in this movement we must necessarily go backward."

"As a member of the postoffice committee I shall use my best efforts to see that the good road question is not only brought to the front but kept there always."

Senator Dial and Representative Whaley, with some of those connected with Senator Smith's office, the latter being at home because of illness in his family, took up vigorously the matter of debarking the men of the Eighty-first Division at Charleston. Two ships with about 4,700 men of this division, being mostly South Carolinians, are now en route home. The whole number of men in the division is 27,000.

Spartanburg Secures Endeavorers.

The 1920 convention of the South Carolina Christian Endeavor Union will be held in Spartanburg, according to announcement by officers of the organization in Columbia, advices having come from the Rev. A. D. P. Gilmour, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Spartanburg, in which he extends the invitation of the session and members of his church to the Endeavorers to hold their convention there next year. The convention will be held during the second week of April.

Methodist Training Schools.

The South Carolina Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has established two conference wide training schools for its Sunday school workers, one to be held in the Carlisle School, Bamberg, June 9-17, and the other at Myrtle Beach Hotel, Myrtle Beach, June 23-30.

The direct management of these schools is in the hands of the Rev. W. C. Owen, conference Sunday school field secretary, who represents both the conference and general Sunday school boards.

Cows With Tuberculosis.

At the tuberculin test to which the cows at the State Hospital for the Insane are subjected semi-annually, some eight or ten of the herd gave positive results, and it was necessary to have the cattle killed. Recently several cows purchased in Illinois were added to the hospital herd and it is believed that others contracted the disease from the imported cows, according to information gathered from the hospital. The hospital has a herd of about 75 Holstein cattle. They are tested twice a year for tuberculosis and every precaution taken to protect them from disease.

Bryan to Speak.

William Jennings Bryan will come to Columbia to deliver two addresses. One of the addresses will be delivered at the First Presbyterian church and the other at the First Baptist church. The same lecture is to be given at each place.

Mr. Bryan comes to Columbia under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America. He has always been one of the strongest foes of strong drink, and he will have large crowds to greet him. He will speak at other places in the state.

Cars for Highway Work.

The State highway department was advised that eight automobiles had been allocated to South Carolina by the federal government for use in the construction of permanent highways in the State. The machines are now at Charleston and they will probably be given out for the use of surveying parties and engineers.

Capt. Roy Pennell, State highway engineer, said that only four counties in the State, Abbeville, Jasper, Berkeley and Chester, are not requesting federal aid.
