

Your wife deserves a beautifully furnished
home.

Dear Amy:

John and I will have our tenth wedding anniversary next Wednesday night. I want you and Bob to come. John told me the other day that he was more my sweetheart than ever. He had just made a good business deal and said I could have anything I wanted.

I made him buy me new furniture and new rugs to replace what was worn out. I don't believe in having old things in the house, do you?

Your old friend,

Lou.

BIRDS SHOULD BE BETTER PROTECTED

GAME WARDEN GIBBES WRITES STRONG LETTER TO GOVERNOR.

NOR CITING SECTION OF LAW

SHERIFFS MUST CO-OPERATE

Questions of Game Conservation and Preservation of Wild Bird Life Connected With Public Welfare.

Columbia.

The enforcement of game laws does not receive the attention which it deserves from many public officials, charged with the enforcement of laws, according to a letter addressed to Governor Cooper recently by W. H. Gibbes, chief game warden.

Mr. Gibbes suggests that when the sheriffs, foremen of grand juries and solicitors meet in Columbia July 16 at the call of the governor, the question of co-operation by sheriffs and their deputies with the game department be taken up.

Mr. Gibbes' letter to the governor is as follows, in part:

"The questions of game conservation and the preservation of our wild bird life in the interest of our agriculture are big ones as connected with the public welfare and I hope you will find it agreeable to direct the especial attention of your convention to Section 8 in the act of 1919, which provides:

"It shall be the positive duty of all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables, rural policemen and special officers to actively co-operate with the game department and game wardens in the enforcement of the game and fish law of the state."

Objects of Womens Association.

Miss Kate H. Armistead, manager of the Columbia Credit Association, and the Southern Commercial Bureau, who was elected president of the South Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women last week in Greenville is very optimistic as to the future of the league in this state. She sees the field of work broadening every day.

The main purpose of the federation, according to Miss Armistead, is to bring women in business into a deeper sensibility of their duty to their employers. This is the one need of the business and professional women. Miss Armistead says that the federation is in no way a union, but is a federation for the advancement of woman's efficiency, and in that way will benefit the employer, as well as the employed.

Plans for Y. M. C. A. Work.

Plans for the work of the state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and the executive committee of the association were laid out at a meeting of the committee and representative citizens at the Jefferson hotel. The meeting was in the nature of an informal supper in honor of the recently elected state secretary, W. B. Lanham of Columbus, Ohio, now of South Carolina and a native of this state. Mr. Lanham made a brief address telling of his past work and what he hoped to do here. He impressed his hearers with his frankness and sincerity of speech and modest statements of what the state committee must do.

The committee plans to secure a county organizer, to have charge of the rural work throughout the state. This is being done in many states.

Forty-three Counties Aided.

Forty-three counties participated during the past scholastic year in the appropriations of state aid under the term extension act. Six hundred and seventy-six school districts, making up more than a third of the districts in the state, were included in the list of those receiving state aid.

John E. Swearingen, state superintendent of education, said, "With the development of an adequate school system this number (of districts) should be reduced, but this reduction should come through growth and not through force."

The Law's Delay.

Six times found guilty of murder and sentenced to lose his life in expiation of his alleged crime, and six times saved from death by a reversal of judgment by the supreme court, is the unusual story of Willie Bethune, a negro who was convicted of murder in May, 1909, and sentenced to die in June, 1909. And in the list of decisions handed down by the state supreme court appears the following: "The state vs. Willie Bethune. Judgment reversed." All of which means that he has another lease on life.

State Sheriffs Summoned.

All sheriffs in South Carolina, all solicitors and all foremen of grand juries have been requested by Governor Cooper to assemble at the State House July 16 for the purpose of discussing law enforcement.

In a letter which will soon be sent to all sheriffs in the state, the governor calls attention to the violations of the prohibition law and says that "it appears, too, that the jail population of the state is increasing and that the homicide record is distressingly large."

Board Outlines Program.

The regular quarterly meeting of the state board of education was held in the office of Governor Cooper last week. Much routine business was transacted. Dr. H. S. Edmunds of Sumter submitted the manuscript copy of the library list. The state superintendent was authorized to publish this manuscript as soon as possible.

A long list of teachers' certificates was confirmed. Under the rules of the board, a two year certificate is issued to any teacher coming to South Carolina from another state and presenting a license from a state board of education. The number of these immigrant teachers this year is unusually large.

The next meeting of the board will be held in the late summer to confer the scholarship awards at Clemson, Winthrop, the University of South Carolina and the Citadel. The competitive examination to fill scholarships at Winthrop will be held July 4 and 5, the examination for the University and for Clemson will be held July 11, the Citadel examination occurs in August. Inquiries regarding scholarship vacancies in these four colleges should be addressed to the respective college presidents. The state board merely confirms list of winners as sent in after the college authorities have settled upon their recommendations.

The state superintendent reported that 5,000 school census cards had been distributed among the 46 counties for use by the attendance officers in making the census enumeration during July and August.

Compulsory Inspection Asked.

South Carolina dentists in session at the Jefferson Hotel adopted a resolution calling on the South Carolina Medical Association to appoint a committee to confer with a committee from the dentists appointed for the purpose of framing a bill and presenting it to the next legislature making medical and dental inspection of school children compulsory. This resolution was adopted after a paper on "Medical Inspection of Public Schools" had been read by Dr. E. C. Dye, secretary of the association and members had participated in a lively discussion. The dental association feels confident the medical body will co-operate with it in asking the general assembly to pass a law requiring all children of the state to be examined before entering school.

Cooper Feels Concern.

That Governor Cooper is disappointed that the reorganization of the National Guard of the state is not progressing as he had hoped it would is clearly brought out in a letter which has been directed to Adj. Gen. W. W. Moore.

Trips made by General Moore and Major Frost to different sections of the state have brought to light a lack of interest in the National Guard that does not augur well for movement to reorganize the companies. While Governor Cooper, according to his letter, does not anticipate that situations will develop which civil authorities can not handle, he says that there is always a possibility that such a condition will arise, and he says that South Carolina would be helpless in such case without a National Guard.

Recognition for Employers.

Copies of a certificate issued by the war and navy departments to employers throughout the United States who signify that they will employ all men who formerly worked for them before entering the service of their country, were received by John L. Davis, federal director of labor in South Carolina. The certificates are of original design and read as follows:

"War and navy departments of the United States of America: This certifies that John Smith has assured the war and navy departments that he will gladly reemploy everybody who formerly worked with him, and left to serve in the army or navy during the great war."

These certificates will be awarded employers who write to Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of the war, guaranteeing that he will reemploy all men formerly under his direction.

Artistic Memorial Edifice.

At the first meeting of the memorial commission, created by the action of the last general assembly, it was decided that the structure to be erected in memory of those who gave their lives as the supreme sacrifice in the war, should be purely memorial and artistic in its nature, the utilitarian features being kept in the background; that the sum of $500,000 be expended in erecting the building, and that $400,000 of this amount be raised by popular subscription.

Commends State Commission.

J. T. Bullen, district engineer for the federal bureau of public roads, was a visitor in Columbia and while there had a conference with Capt. J. R. Pennell, state highway engineer. Mr. Bullen is one of the most experienced and highly regarded road engineers in the United States.

"Your state is especially to be congratulated upon the fact that your highway commission has the means and the engineering force to do the engineering work on the state highway system," he said.

"It is better to have a policy and not need it, Than to need a policy and not have it."
