

SOCIETY.

One of the delightful social events of the past week was the morning party of last Friday given by Mesdames Jack Young and Arthur Copeland. About a hundred guests were invited to share the morning of pleasure and quite a number of tables with busy rook players were in evidence. Misses Nan Copeland and Agnes Henry delighted the guests with a number of musical selections. Misses Frances O'Daniel, Marie Cosby, Elizabeth Young and B. Copeland assisted in entertaining and keeping score. Later block cream and cake were served by these same young ladies and all the guests declared the morning one of extreme pleasure.

An attractive lawn party was given on Wednesday morning by Mesdames A. B. Galloway and Jodie Chandler. About twenty tables were arranged in shady nooks and much merriment was caused by the playing of the popular game of rook. Throughout the morning Mrs. Nancy Owens, Dorcas Mason and Emmie Robertson served a refreshing fruit punch. One hundred guests were invited to enjoy the hours from ten to twelve. After the playing of rook for an hour or more cards were laid aside and Mrs. Galloway and Mrs. Chandler, assisted by Mrs. Charlie Wallace and Mrs. Will Owens served delicious block cream and cake. All present announced the occasion unusually pleasant and attractive.

About twenty young ladies have looked forward with keen interest to the camp to be held this week at Yarborough's Mill. Early Tuesday morning their pleasure began in reality, and a happier, more enthusiastic crowd was never seen. Many attractive affairs have been arranged. The Boy Scouts, who have been camped at the popular camping ground for the past several days will entertain the young ladies on Tuesday. On Wednesday a marshmallow toast has been planned, and on one of the days the parents will be invited to spend the day at this favorite spot. Every day promises to be one of pleasure that will long be remembered. The following young ladies, with Mrs. J. M. Pitts, Mrs. Will Leake and Mr. Reese Young, as chaperones, will be present: Emily Phillips, Melenee

Thornley, Helen Bailey, May Owens, Elizabeth Young, Eugenia Drennan, Marie Cosby, Telena Cosby, Louise Pitts, Emmie Pitts, Louisa Copeland, Nan Copeland, B. Copeland, Elizabeth Douglas, Margaret Mottz, Kate Todd, Martha Phillips, Frances O'Daniel, Thelma Coffman, Sybil Burdette, Susan Moody, Maude Ellis, and Mrs. Thomas Jacobs.

Miss Jimmie Nola Sparks has as her guest for the week, a number of her friends from Blairs. Those who are enjoying this week of pleasure are: Misses Mary, Bertha and Valeria Blair, Miss Louise Lovy, and Mrs. Frazier Blair.

PROHIBITION VIEW BRINGING DOUBT

Demobilization May Be Long Deferred. Some Express Hope. - Regarded as Possible That Reduction to Permanent Basis May Change Basis.

Washington, July 10.—Because of its bearing on the fate of war time prohibition, President Wilson's view that completion of demobilization of the army would depend on the speed with which Germany executed the military terms of the treaty and with which the pact was ratified by the various nations was widely discussed today in congressional and other circles.

Prohibition advocates expressed the opinion that demobilization probably would not be completed before the country became dry by constitutional amendment next January 16. They said Germany had from one to four months in which to carry out the military terms, that the president believed American troops should be maintained on the Rhine during that time and in all probability the men there could not be brought home and mustered out much before the first of the year.

Those favoring the repeal of war time prohibition in so far as it affects light wines and beer had not given up hope, however, as they believed demobilization might be declared completed when the army had been reduced to the 325,000 men authorized in the new army appropriation bill. Plans of the war department now are to bring the army within this figure in September.

Consideration of legislation for the enforcement of both war time and constitutional prohibition was resumed today in the house while the senate judiciary subcommittee agreed on the principal features of an enforcement measure to be laid later before the full committee and after approval to be submitted to the senate.

The senate subcommittee was said to favor a bill less drastic than that being considered in the house, but agreed on a definition of intoxicating beverages as those containing more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol. Committee members said recommendations would be made for a prohibition commission under the department of justice to enforce the law.

In the house the right of congress to define intoxicating liquors was attacked by Representative Dyer, Republican, of Missouri, who declared that the treasury department never had ruled that 2-3-4 per cent beer was intoxicating. The question, he argued, was a matter of fact to be determined by the courts.

Representative Steel, Democrat, of Pennsylvania asserted that constitutional prohibition could not be enforced in any State that failed to act concurrently with congress in defining intoxicating liquors.

Representative Currie, Republican, of Michigan, criticized Samuel Gompers for filing with the senate judiciary committee a statement which, he said, was a "base and slanderous charge" against the citizens of Michigan. Mr. Gompers, he added, in saying that arduousness had increased since Detroit became "dry", made a statement that "insults our intelligence."

BOOT LEGGING GROWS IN SCOPE

Busy Traffic Along Mexican Border. Police Watch Visitors Closely.

El Paso, Texas, July 1.—Bootlegging has assumed widespread proportions in Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico, across the border from Douglas, Arizona, according to Americans who have investigated liquor conditions in the border state. Open saloons are prohibited by Sonora state laws, but little or no effort has been made by the authorities to murrail illicit liquor traffic, they say.

Cognizance of the situation has been taken by the authorities, however, to the extent that a bill has been introduced in the state chamber of deputies permitting the establishment of open saloons for the sale of light wines and beer under strict state supervision. The bill purposes limiting the number of saloons in accordance with population and the payment of high state and municipal licenses.

Well informed Mexicans believe that saloons will return under the proposed new law as they contend that while Gen. P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, is an advocate of prohibition he would much prefer the legalizing of the liquor traffic with the consequent revenue to combating the increasing number of bootleggers.

The liquor situation in Agua Prieta is a troublesome one to the better class of Sonora Mexicans and residents of Douglas and other border towns. It is pointed out that Agua Prieta offers easy access to any one in Douglas who desires to obtain liquor. At the present time certain Mexicans with a great show of friendship invite Americans across the line to visit the bootleggers.

The Mexican policemen watch all visitors closely and, it is reported, make a practice of arresting Americans when their conduct becomes boisterous and robbing them of their money and other valuables. Should the Americans protest there is always the alternative of a real arrest and a prison sentence or a heavy fine. Some observers here say the reopening of the saloons will do much toward making a bad situation worse.

If the Man Worked in the Kitchen

He would have a McDougall Kitchen Cabinet to save his heels, as he saves them at business with modern aid.

He would have everything compactly grouped in a McDougall, inches near—not yards away on scattered hooks and distant shelves. For by similar principle he conserves energy at business.

He would have a McDougall because it offers more than a finely built, solidly united cabinet of oak with joints all mortised instead of nailed or glued—never to wobble, creak or crack despite kitchen heat or steam.

He would have a McDougall because it offers more than advanced perfection of design. He would expect the latter because the first kitchen cabinets were McDougalls and because McDougalls have blazed the trail ever since, as witnessed by almost all improvements appearing first on McDougalls.

We have just placed on display an assortment of these McDougall Kitchen Cabinets and we are not afraid to say that there is no better made than the McDougall. Come in and see them.
