ANDREWS GETS FAIR EXHIBIT

State and Federal Governments Will Furnish Displays in Agriculture, Good Roads and Forestry.

Andrews.—James D. Lee, manager of the Tri-County Fair, returned from Washington, D. C., where he secured several government exhibits for the Andrews' fair this fall. Among these exhibits is that of the national agricultural department, which will include a good roads display, farm building's display, etc. There will also be a display of the division of forestry. The manager also states that he has secured exhibits from the state departments of agriculture and education.

Gaffney.—Since the Sunday closing law went into effect some weeks ago in Gaffney, the law has been generally observed, but Broadus Westmoreland, who conducts a combined store and cafe, has been serving soft drinks with lunches on Sunday, in consequence of which he has been haled before the mayor's court and will be tried. Westmoreland contends that he is clearly within his rights.

Georgetown.—Tobacco sales have been more and more satisfactory here, based on the better quality of weed that is coming in now. The highest price so far paid here is 53 cents.

Columbia.—The Cadillac touring car seized by Officer Shorter has been turned over to the United States authorities. The machine was taken to the police station after about five gallons of blockade liquor were found in the car.

Rock Hill.—Charged with certain irregularities in connection with bonus checks forwarded in his care to demobilized negro soldiers here, R. L. Kerr of this city has been bound over under bond of $2,000 for trial at the September term of federal court.

Charleston.—Between 300 and 400 on the club rolls have been challenged, and purging will begin actively next week by the subcommittee on club rolls. The Hyde faction has protested some 88 names, and the Grace faction about 200 more than that number. The total enrollment is a little over 7,900.

St. George.—Comptroller General Osborne was in St. George to make the annual settlement with the county officials. The statement prepared by Auditor Moorer showed that the county was free of debt, and that there was $29,800.42 in the hands of the treasurer on the first day of July, when the fiscal year ended.

Rock Hill.—Liberal contributions for the promotion of Y. M. C. A. work in this state have been made by citizens of this city. The quota for this city was oversubscribed in one day, local business men donating $519 for this purpose, according to announcement made by Secretary R. E. Mell of the local "Y." Rock Hill's allotment was $500.

Anderson.—There was a meeting here to get the farmers to organize a branch of the cotton association for this county. J. Skottowe Wannamaker, president of the South Carolina Cotton Association was the principal speaker. B. Harris presided.

Anderson.—Prof. J. Scott Murray, now holding the chair of Latin in Furman University, is here for a short stay. Professor Murray has been one of the faculty of the summer school at Winthrop College for this summer. He was enthused with the good work that this school is accomplishing. There are 1,113 students enrolled, most of them teachers of South Carolina.

Beulah.—After being dormant since the war, Beulah Chapter No. 25, Royal Arch Masons held one of the most enthusiastic meetings in the history of the local chapter. O. Michie, past grand master of the grand lodge of South Carolina, known as one of the brightest masons in America, were on hand to assist in conferring the degrees.

Accidents in Union.
Union.—Harry Smith, a member of the Whitmire ball team, had his leg broken here in a game between Union and Whitmire. The accident happened when he attempted to slide to a base. His right leg was broken at the ankle and half way between the ankle and knee.

Cleveland Coleman, a young man about 21 years of age, was run down by an automobile as he was crossing the street here and his right ankle was broken and he was considerably bruised.

York-Cherokee Road.
York.—Federal aid in building roads to connect York with Cherokee county was the subject considered at a meeting of citizens of northwestern York with the county board of commissioners. Citizens of Bullock's Creek and Broad River townships fear that the recommendation of the county board of the extension of federal aid in the construction of a highway from Clover to the Cherokee line at Piedmont Springs might prevent their townships from receiving help from this source.

Five Union Warehouses.
Columbia may have another cotton warehouse with an immediate capacity of 20,000 bales and an ultimate capacity of 40,000 bales, as a part of the huge Union Warehouse Corporation should the plans, adopted by a subcommittee of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at New York be finally approved. The committee proposes to construct and operate a chain of standardized cotton warehouses at strategic points throughout the country, five of which are to be located in South Carolina—one at Charleston, initial capacity 50,000 bales, ultimate capacity 100,000 bales; at Columbia; initial capacity 20,000 bales, ultimate 40,000 bales; at Spartanburg, initial capacity 10,000 bales; ultimate 20,000 bales; at Greenville, initial capacity 10,000 bales, ultimate 20,000 bales; at Rock Hill, initial capacity 10,000 bales, ultimate 20,000 bales.

Petition for Hospital.
The Lexington Post of the American Legion of Honor has filed a petition with the memorial commission, protesting against the erection of a memorial hall to commemorate South Carolina's part in the great war. The Lexington branch of the legion also suggests that the sentiment of the entire organization be ascertained as to the choice between a memorial chapel or a general hospital.

Assembly Created Chapel.
Governor Cooper, chairman of the State Memorial Commission, addressed a letter to Dr. William Weston of Columbia, giving the commission's reason for declining to accept the proposition of establishing a general hospital instead of a chapel memorial to commemorate South Carolina's part in the great war. The governor explained that the action of the general assembly bound the commission to the chapel idea.

Appoint Alumni Chairmen.
According to the alumni finance committee, the efforts of the alumni association of the University of South Carolina to raise a fund of $30,000 with which to employ an alumni executive secretary for three years at Carolina are meeting with a satisfactory degree of success. The work of securing this fund, which will be payable in three annual installments of $10,000 each, has been organized and gotten under way in 34 counties.

Settling With Treasurer.
Rut L. Osborne, comptroller general, returned to Columbia after witnessing the annual settlement in Dorchester, Orangeburg, Dillon, Marlboro and Lee counties. Mr. Osborne says the settlement in each of the above counties was very satisfactory, the records being properly kept and all moneys properly accounted for. The comptroller general wishes to witness as many settlements in persons as is practicable and at this time he has been able to witness the settlements in 24 of the counties. This is the largest number of counties on record to receive the personal attention of the comptroller general on the occasion of their annual settlements with the state treasurer.

Funds to Pay Rentals.
Washington (Special)—Rentals due June 30 on lands near Columbia, which were taken over temporarily by the federal government as parts of the artillery range at Camp Jackson, have not yet been paid, and Senator Dial has strongly represented to the war department the importance of making immediate settlement. More than 200 individuals are involved. It is understood that requisite funds have been set aside, but the disbursing officer at Camp Jackson has not been authorized to pay them out.

Large Increase in Fees.
The office of the secretary of state reflects the revival of business in South Carolina. The total fees received by W. Banks Dove, secretary of state, for the seven months ending July 31, 1919, are $28,612.05.
