WOMAN ACCUSED OF BABY'S DEATH

Miss Sunie Mabry Facing Serious Charge. Case at Greenville.
Greenville, Aug. 20.—Discovery last night of the mutilated body of an infant girl concealed in a leather hand bag under a bed in a boarding house here led to an official investigation today which resulted in a verdict that the baby came to its death from knife stabs at the hands of its mother, Miss Sunie Mabry, 21 year old woman, who came to Greenville about six months ago from Pacolet and was a student at a local business college.

The dead baby was found wrapped in a towel, shortly after the young woman had been taken to the city hospital. Miss Janie Coker, a middle aged woman, who had been caring for the patient, found the child in the hand bag and notified the authorities. Miss Coker was on the witness stand at the inquest this afternoon for nearly two hours. She intimated that she was asked by "somebody" to care for the woman and after a stiff grueling said that some of the girls in the house had prevailed upon her to care for Miss Mabry, who was removed to the city hospital late last night.

Satisfied that the woman had become a mother and suspicious of her action in denying the fact, the physician reported the case to the sheriff.

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Eversole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, ... and the pains were very severe. A friend told me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? ... I did, and soon saw it was helping me ... After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."
