NO NEGRO MEMBERS OF LEGION IN CAROLINA

To Be Decided Later as to How Black Soldiers are to Organize.

Columbia, Sept. 12.—There are no negro members of the American Legion of South Carolina and there will be none for some time, certainly until the meeting of the state convention to be held in Columbia during fair week, according to information obtained today from state headquarters.

The question whether, and if so upon what terms negroes could become members of the legion was one, it was learned, which was left optional to the individual state organization for solution.

The present state constitution of the South Carolina branch provides that there shall be only one post in each county, and the executive committee and membership committee, in whose discretion the matter is placed, will not authorize the association of the two races in the same post. It was stated that inasmuch as the legion is primarily social, it was not believed that such association would conduce to the harmony of the two races or would be desired by either race.

There are now posts of the legion already organized by white men in practically every county in the state, so that unless the state organization adopts some different policy at its annual convention in Columbia in October, there will be no negro members of the American Legion in this state.
