TREATY MUST BE RATIFIED BEFORE U. S. TAKES PART

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Taking notice of reports that the United States might aid in carrying out provisions of the peace treaty in advance of the treaty's ratification by the senate, the administration announced today that American diplomatic and military participation in certain of the provisions must wait until the senate has acted.

At the state department it was declared this government would not accept the invitation of the supreme council at Versailles to take a place immediately on the international commissions set up by the treaty, and at the war department it was made clear that no American troops would be used without senate sanction to police districts where the treaty provides for plebiscites under the military supervision of the great powers.

The two announcements were made simultaneously and generally were accepted in the senate, where the possibility of premature American participation in the treaty has been one of the storm centers of criticism, amounting to an administration declaration of policy on the subject. Senators on both sides of the treaty controversy expressed the opinion privately tonight that the administration would aid in hastening the final roll call on ratification.

In his announcement regarding use of American troops, Secretary Baker denied specifically suggestions made in the Senate debate that five thousand soldiers recently sent to Coblenz were to proceed to upper Silesia and help in the plebiscite there prior to American ratification. He declared the department realized fully that it would have no authority to take such a step if a senate reservation forbidding it were adopted, and added that in the circumstances there was no desire to anticipate senate action.

A reservation on this subject and one limiting American participation in the various diplomatic commissions to be created are in preparation, although it is understood that there has been no complete agreement regarding either among the senate majority.

One effect of the state department's announcement was to set at rest reports that President Wilson might disregard the advice of the foreign relations committee and name an American to act unofficially on the powerful reparations commission. When he asked the committee's consent to such a step some weeks ago, it replied that neither it nor the executive had any authority to put treaty provisions into force until ratification had been accomplished.

It is understood, however, that financial advisors now in Europe to look after treasury department business and American financial and trade interests generally will keep in close touch with the work of the commission after it is created. The administration is known to regard the commission's task of collecting Germany's reparations bill and supervising European financial rehabilitation as one directly affecting American finance and commerce. The other great powers are said to be very anxious that the United States have full representation from the start on this and several other commissions that are to be organized, and there has been considerable speculation among senators as to how far that desire was reflected in the decision at Paris not to put the treaty immediately into effect as regards the nations that have ratified it. When this decision was announced last week it was said the delay was due to inability immediately to bring some of the treaty provisions into operation.

Real progress toward senate action on the treaty was made today when the leaders put an effectual damper on debate and permitted the senate clerks to finish the tedious work of reading the treaty text. Just before adjournment the Johnson amendment to equalize the voting power in the league assembly was formally brought up for action and it will have the floor except for the privileged "morning hour" each day, until it is disposed of. It is the last but one of the committee amendments.

Some of the more optimistic thought a vote on the Johnson measure might be possible tomorrow, but the general prediction was that a roll-call would not be reached before Wednesday at the earliest. Other amendments, including a number prepared by individual senators, are expected to occupy the rest of the week.

What little debate there was today was confined to the Irish question, which may get before the senate again during the morning hour tomorrow. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, indicated today that he probably would call up at tomorrow's session his resolution to declare it the purpose of the United States to bring Ireland's case before the league. If he does, a lively debate is expected. The senate will meet an hour earlier than usual tomorrow in order to spend as much time as possible on the Johnson amendment.

GREENWOOD READY FOR PIEDMONT FAIR

Greater Attractions Than Ever for Events to Run Three Days.

Greenwood, Oct. 20.—The Piedmont fair will open here Wednesday, October 22, with the largest and best collection of exhibits it has ever had and with greater attractions in every way. There will be some real live racing events, a midway feature and other things to entertain visitors to the fair. All officials of the fair association have been busy for days getting the grounds in shape and in arranging the exhibits which are coming in from every section of the county. All of the exhibits of the Four Corner fair, which was such a success as a community fair, at Kirksey last week, have been brought to Greenwood and will be a part of the Piedmont fair.

The fair will open Wednesday and will last three days. The last day, Friday, will be educational day and all of the schools in the county have declared holiday for that day.

AGGRESSIVE FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

South Carolina Must Do Her Part by Buying Red Cross Christmas Seals. Disease Is Alarming.

Columbia, Oct. 19.—The National Tuberculosis association of which the South Carolina Tuberculosis association is a member, is planning to conduct the most aggressive fight during the next twelve months against tuberculosis that it has waged since the organization was formed, Miss Chauncey Blackburn, secretary of the South Carolina Tuberculosis association, said today. To finance this fight throughout the coming year more than 650,000,000 Christmas seals will be sold during December. South Carolina must buy its prorata share of these seals, Miss Blackburn says.

"The hopeful aspect held out to the tuberculosis sufferer," said Miss Blackburn, "is one of modern medical science's chief contributions to humanity. Back in the old days when folks slept with their windows closed tightly, believing night air was dangerous, consumption was thought to be absolutely fatal. Our forefathers shook their heads solemnly, called it the will of God and the unfortunate victim was left to his fate."

"But science knows a lot more about the disease now than it did several decades ago. There is no such compulsory stops and inspection of morbid thought about the affliction today, for medical research has proved that tuberculosis is both preventable and curable.

"Much of the suffering caused by the disease has been found to be wholly unnecessary. Intelligent hygienic care of one's body and right living are the strongest factors in keeping this menace away from one's door. A verdict of tuberculosis from one's doctor does not imply a death warrant. It does mean, however, that a radical change in one's way of living must be made. 'Chasing and cure' means adopting nature's own methods. It means abundance of pure air, sunlight, good food, rest and a cheerful mind, all under the supervision of a competent physician.

"Public health experts all over the country report an alarming amount of tuberculosis. It is claimed 150,000

PRESIDENT IS IMPROVING

Washington, Oct. 19.—Having obtained relief from the prostatic glands, which Mr. Wilson was the victim of, he is now suffering with slight indigestion. Rear Admiral Grayson announced tonight, and said that his condition was unchanged.

Dr. Grayson issued the following bulletin from the White House tonight:

"The President had a slight digestive disturbance today. Otherwise his condition is unchanged."

The President's general condition was regarded as satisfactory, notwithstanding the slight attack of indigestion. Until midday Dr. Crayson and the physicians assisting him found in the examination of their patient every evidence that Mr. Wilson was more than holding his own and the development after noon was not regarded as serious or as any indication that the President's general condition was worse.

It was said, however, that any incidental ailment tended to increase nervousness and to that extent retarded a recovery.

The President has been permitted to sit up occasionally and has insisted at times that he be permitted to attend to some work. His physicians have insisted that for the time being he must content to wait. Callers are not permitted to see him, but numerous reminders of their visits are sent to his room, one today was an armful of chrysanthemums personally delivered at the White House by three enlisted men of the army and a sailor, accompanied by an attendant from a nearby military hospital where they are patients.

Habitual Constipation Cured in 14 to 21 Days

"LAX-FOS WITH PEPSIN" is a specially-prepared Syrup Tonic-Laxative for Habitual Constipation. It relieves promptly but should be taken regularly for 14 to 21 days to induce regular action. It Stimulates and Regulates. Very Pleasant to Take. 60c per bottle.
