COAL STRIKE SEEMS TO BE UNAVOIDABLE

Secretary of Labor's Efforts to Avert Walkout Called for Oct. 31 Falls. Another Effort to be Made Tuesday.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Failing after an all day conference to avert a strike of nearly half a million bituminous coal miners, called for the very eve of winter, Secretary of Labor Wilson tonight invited miners and operators to send their full scale committee to Washington next Tuesday when another effort to bring about peace in the industry will be made.

Both sides accepted the invitation. This did not offer any great hope, however, for representatives of the operators stood firm in their determination not to negotiate any demand for a six-hour day, and not to deal with the unions unless the strike, set for November 1, was called off.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United States Mine Workers of America, whose word probably would swing the union one way or the other, showed that he was laboring under a terrible strain when he left the three-cornered meeting. Speaking to a group of reporters, he said he had told Secretary Wilson that the 32 members of his wage scale committee would be here Tuesday to meet an equal number from the other side, but that it would be useless to reconvene the joint interstate wage conference "unless the operators changed their stone-wall attitude," and indicated a willingness to grame another agreement.

Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the coal operators of the central competitive coal fields, which embraces the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, after sitting through the day at a table with Secretary Wilson and Mr. Lewis, hurried away from the secretary's office and refused to talk. An hour or two later he sent word to Mr. Wilson that his seal's committee would be on hand for the joint conference.
