A Man and the World. The world owes you nothing, unless by your own achievements you have made it your debtor. The man who imagines that the world owes him a living has taken the first step toward knavery; the second step is taken when he tries to collect the debt which is not due him. The greater his success in this, the greater thief he is, if he takes out of the world more than he has put into it.—Lyman Abbott.

INJUNCTION STOPS MINE OFFICIALS

RAILROAD UNION MEN DO NOT PROTEST BUT OFFER THEIR SERVICES IF NEEDED.

PROTECTION FROM PARALYSIS

Samuel Gompers Says Injunction Will Only Bring in New and Disturbing Issues to Complicate Situation.

Washington.—Railroad union officials conferring with Attorney General Palmer, entered no protest against the injunction issued in Indianapolis against calling of the coal strike, and tendered the good offices of their organizations in attempting to arrange a settlement of the strike.

Mr. Palmer said he told the union men that they were at liberty to say to either side in the strike that the President was ready to act immediately to have the controversy settled amicably whenever the strike was called off.

President Gompers and other officials of the American Federation of Labor were said, however, to have urged their views on the matter of the injunction in their conference with the attorney general.

"I explained the necessity for the action," Mr. Palmer said.

"This is the government itself, using its own courts to protect itself from paralysis. It is not an injunction obtained by employers, not for the benefit of employers, not to settle the controversy, but to save the people of the entire country from disaster. It doesn't affect the right of a man to work when he pleases."

Samuel Gompers, speaking for organized labor, declared the injunction in the coal strike case "can only result in creating new and more disturbing issues which may not be confined solely to the miners."

The local cotton grader found it to be of extra length, about an inch and an eight staple, and while buyers have told them that it was a higher grade of cotton and should bring a premium, when the time came for selling they were not willing to pay more for it.
