Negro Is Lynched Near Orangeburg

Remains of Luke Adams, Charged With Assault, Discovered In Early Morn Perforated With Bullets and Buckshot.

Orangeburg, Apr. 23.—Luke Adams, a negro, was shot Sunday night about 9:30 o'clock about three miles from Norway in Orangeburg county. Adams was accused of breaking into a house and attacking a white woman. He had been off the chaingang only a few months and had a bad reputation.

The body was found riddled with bullets this morning and a placard nearby upon which was written in ink with words misspelled as follows: "This is the right one crucified by ailegions."

Deputy Sheriff Price went to the scene and returned with the placard, seventeen pistol cartridges and five gun shells which he picked up. State Constable George A. Dukes and other officers also went to the scene. The negro was tied to a small bush by his right arm, about ten feet from the old Holman bridge near Roberts Branch, according to Deputy Price, who saw seven or eight wounds in the neck of the man besides other wounds over his body. The new highway runs a little distance from this place. Deputy Price said no one was found who knew anything about the shooting.

Other details of the circumstances leading up to the killing are not known in Orangeburg.

Solicitor Hydrick of the First Judicial Circuit left Orangeburg this morning to visit the scene of the crime.

At the coroner's inquest over the body of Adams the jury's verdict was that he came to his death at the hands of parties unknown.

Copener Rickenbaker held the inquest this morning. Subsequent information indicated that the negro was arrested Saturday afternoon and lodged in the Norway jail, accused of having attacked about three weeks ago a white woman who lives a few miles from where his body was found.

Adams had a very bad history, having been accused previously of attacking negro women on two occasions and is said to have served a sentence for one offense. In January he was discharged from the chaingang after serving time for stealing, and, according to those acquainted with him was a negro of low mentality.

Mr. Riddle is well known and well liked in this community. He is connected with the Bell-Workman Company and by all who know him he is held in the highest esteem. His friends over the county will learn with interest of his candidacy.

Methodists Present Musical Program

Broad Street Choir Renders Beautiful Easter Program Before Large Congregation.

A capacity congregation of people representing all denominations, was present Sunday evening at the North Broad Street Methodist church to enjoy the special Easter musical program. Mrs. J. F. Jacobs, Jr., presided at the organ and a large number of voices made up the choir. The service was enjoyed by all and showed a great amount of work had been done in preparing the beautiful music.

Easter Was Quiet Day In The City

Easter was a quiet day in the city with ideal weather prevailing. In the churches large congregations assembled for the services and throngs of people were seen on the streets and out driving for the day. Incidentally, many gay colors replaced the more sombre hues of winter raiment of the women, while brand new straw hats topped many masculine heads in place of the old lids worn by service.

Mrs. J. A. Bailey has returned from Washington and Richmond, where she attended the D. A. R. conference.

TUESDAY IS "TICKET DAY" FOR THE REDPATH CHAUTAUQUA

Business Ethics Code Formed By Committee

Chamber of Commerce of United States Draws Up Formula for Utopia Civilization, Declaring Confidence Foundation of Business.

Washington, April 20.—A code of business ethics has been worked out by a committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States based on the "material needs of mankind" and the necessity of "increasing the wealth of the world and the value of happiness of life."

The code, which will be submitted to the convention of the chamber at Cleveland May 6, follows:

"The foundation of business is confidence, which springs from integrity, fair dealing, efficient service and mutual benefit."

"The reward of business for service rendered is a fair profit plus a safe reserve, commensurate with risks involved and foresight exercised."

"Equitable consideration is due in business alike to capital management, employees and the public."

"Knowledge, thorough and specific, and unceasing study of the facts and forces affecting a business enterprise are essential to a lasting individual success and to efficient service to the public."

"Permanency and continuity of service are basic aims of business that knowledge gained may be fully utilized, confidence established and efficiency increased."

"Obligations to itself and society prompt business unceasingly to strive toward continuity of operation bettering conditions of employment and increasing the efficiency and opportunities of individual employees."

"Contracts and undertakings, written or oral, are to be performed in letter and in spirit. Changed conditions do not justify their cancellation without mutual consent."

"Representation of goods and services should be truthfully made and scrupulously fulfilled."

"Waste in any form—of capital, labor, services, materials, or natural resources—is intolerance and constant efforts should be made towards its elimination."

"Excesses of every nature, the inflation of credit, overexpansion, overbuying, overstimulation of sales, which create artificial conditions and produce crises and depressions, are condemned."

"Unfair competition, embracing all acts characterized by bad faith, deception, fraud or oppression, including commercial bribery, is wasteful, despicable and a public wrong. Business will rely for its success on the excellence of its own service."

"Controversy—will, where possible, be adjusted by voluntary agreement or impartial arbitration."

"Corporate forms do not absolve from or alter the moral obligations of individuals. Responsibilities will be as courageously and conscientiously discharged by those acting in representative capacities as when active for themselves."

"Lawful cooperation among business and useful business organizations in support of these principles of business conduct is commended."

"Business should render restrictive legislative unnecessary through so conducting itself as to deserve and inspire public confidence."

THOMAS WOFFORD WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Thomas Wofford, a member of the eleventh grade of the Laurens high school, has received notice from the University of South Carolina that he has been awarded a four-year Kiwanis scholarship. This scholarship was awarded on the basis of young Wofford's high school record in attendance, scholarship and participation in school activities. The scholarship is worth $400.

Community Organized By Ladies of Civic For Whirlwind Ticket Cans for Chautauqua. Every Clintonian Is Asked To "Buy A Ticket."

The Redpath Chautauqua will open its seven day program here on Monday, May 5th, at four o'clock on North Broad Street, coming to Clinton again under the auspices of the local Chautauqua Association. Everything points to a successful and entertaining week, with the program up to the usual Redpath standard.

The program covering the fourteen attractions has already appeared in The Chronicle, and includes several headline numbers, among them being two outstanding plays, "Give and Take," and "Smilin' Through." The children's program so popular last year, will again be given with several entertainers that will strongly appeal to the young folks.

The sale of tickets will be in charge of the ladies of the Civic Improvement Association this year and their plans to successfully "put over" the job are all about completed. The city has been divided into wards, and beginning early next Tuesday morning, a whirlwind campaign will be launched to sell the necessary number of tickets during the day. Ladies of this organization have volunteered to do the work and for them the guarantors and all chautauqua sponsors bespeak a cordial reception and support on the part of the public.

The ladies announce that reserved seats will be offered for sale this year for the first time. A certain section in the tent will be set aside with an extra charge of 75 cents for the entire week's program. Tickets will be reserved at Kellers Drug Store on May 2nd and 3rd.

The following ladies will have charge of the campaign in the respective wards and surrounding territory.
