WHOLE BODY SEEMED IN ONE AWFUL PAIN

Morse, La.—Mrs. L. P. Lambert, who has been a popular school-teacher here for several years, recently told a visitor of her interesting experiences with Cardui.

"Just before my . . . came on," said Mrs. Lambert, "I would ache all over. My feet, my toes, my arms, hands, head—my whole body seemed to be in one awful pain. I would grow so nervous that I could not hold a cup in my hand. My husband would have to hold my coffee for me to drink. Last fall I was in such a bad condition that I had to spend about three days in bed every month. It seemed to me that I was on my last go-round."

Then one day, said Mrs. Lambert, she happened to read about Cardui and the experiences of some women who had been helped by it. "I felt that Cardui might help me if I tried it," she continued, "for I had been suffering with similar troubles to those mentioned there. I had heard of Cardui all my life and I knew many women who said they had been helped by it. The very next day I began to take it. Very soon after, I began to notice my improvement. I kept on till I felt like a different woman. I gained in weight from 98 pounds to 115 and felt better than I had in years. I took six bottles right along and found it a splendid tonic. My suffering was partly due to a run-down condition and the Cardui stimulated my appetite and helped me to gain the strength I needed. . . . I take a bottle every now and then, even now, just as a tonic to keep up my strength, but I am in better health than I have been in for years. All druggists sell Cardui. Try it."

AN EDUCATION IS WORTH MUCH

An education is worth much to children for culture and enjoyment, and it also gives them a better financial chance.

While many uneducated persons are unsuccessful, figures show that 90 per cent of the college men rise to large salaries while only 25 per cent of the non-college men reach responsible positions.

Yet of 1,000 children who reach the fifth grade, only 72 enter college and only 23 graduate.

Lack of funds is the greatest cause for this dropping out. Therefore, many companies are writing insurance which parents may take for the education of their children. This pays a stated sum each month till the child has finished college and can be arranged for enough to start the son in business.

Mrs. E. S. F. Giles, Mrs. Irvin Coleman, Mrs. T. J. Peake and Mrs. E. W. Ferguson spent Wednesday in Greenville.

Methodists In Report Favor Joining Court

Condemn War As "Law of Jungle." U. S. Should Further Peace. Urge Cooperation of Denominations.

Springfield, Mass., May 4.—The union of the nations in the cause of peace and the union of the Methodist Churches of America in the cause of Christianity were indorsed by the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in their address to the quadrennial general conference here today. The report, the official pronouncement of the Episcopals was presented by Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of Philadelphia, senior bishop of the church.

Limitation of the church's ban on amusements to those which can not be enjoyed in the name of Jesus Christ, was recommended by the bishops, who also suggested means of combatting the divorce problem and favored prohibition enforcement and restriction of immigration into this country. They reaffirmed the church's fundamental doctrines in view of present day theological controversy.

Condemning war as "a law of the jungle, and organized revenge," the bishops advocated the entry of the United States into the world court.

"Our position must be that international warfare unless indisputably in self-defense or defense of humanity, is a monstrosity of the pagan past which has absolutely no proper place in the program of the modern world. We respectfully remind the government of the United States that we expect the federal authorities to discover a method other than war to settle international disputes."

"We believe profoundly," they said, "that the United States of America should cooperate with the other nations of the world in bringing about world justice and world peace. We, therefore, give our hearty endorsement to the proposition that our country shall become a member of the permanent court of international justice. And it is our firm conviction that all nations should agree to submit to impartial tribunals all disputes that threaten the world and which can not be adjusted by the usual process of diplomacy."

"The Methodist Episcopal church believes in the largest possible measure of cooperation between denominations," the bishops said, "but believes also that the freedom of each denomination should be preserved."

"We, therefore, commend to your prompt and sympathetic consideration the plan submitted to you."

On the subject of divorce, the bishops declared that a "frightful condition" existed. They proposed as remedies, the standardization of divorce laws of the various states, the immediate enactment of a federal divorce law to provide uniformity in dealing with the matter and "a return to the former ideals of personal virtue, modesty and social propriety."

Among the causes given for this condition were the frivolous temper of the times, the dissemination of loose views, ridicule of the old-fashioned virtues, the passion for luxury, pernicious incitement of modern fiction and drama and "above all the loss of the sense of God and of moral responsibility."

Early in the report the bishops criticised "any organization which secretly discriminates against any American citizen because of race, color or religious faith and takes unto itself the authority of the courts to deal with those suspected of wrongdoing."

"Such secret policies," the report added, "are a menace to society and the state."
