P. C. President Speaks To Boys

The Greenville News of Monday carried the following item:
Approximately 175 boys heard the Rev. John McSween, president of Presbyterian college, at the regular meeting of the Sunday gang in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the ninth of a series of 17.

In his address, "Playing It Safe," Mr. McSween emphasized the practice of keeping away from the questionable vices. "Don't take a chance," he said, "with the things that might hurt and condemn. It won't pay."
He illustrated the lecture by the story of a baseball game he had seen in France in which an anxious base runner took a chance and went out, when the score he would have marked up had he waited a few minutes would have saved the game.

Memorial Service For Dr. Johnson

On Sunday afternoon, Feb. 10, at three o'clock the Winthrop Daughters of Laurens county will hold a memorial service for Dr. D. B. Johnson, late president of Winthrop college, in the auditorium of the First Baptist church of Laurens. Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, president of Furman university and friend of Dr. Johnson, will make the memorial address. In addition to his address Mrs. Mary T. Nance Daniels of Greenwood, but formerly of Cross Hill, will represent the board of trustees of Winthrop in a short address. Miss Bessie Harper, president of the state association of Winthrop Daughters, will also be present to represent the state organization. Special music will be given under the direction of Miss Isabel Dunlap and Dr. Johnson's favorite hymns will be sung. The public is cordially invited.

Dr. Lynn Moves Into New Home

Dr. L. R. Lynn and family have within the past week moved into the president's new home at the Thornwell orphanage. The residence is located at the entrance of the campus, is built of granite, English style, and is one of the handsomest in the city.

The board of trustees of the institution two and a half years ago instructed the building committee consisting of C. M. Bailey, chairman, J. I. Copeland and C. W. Stone, to erect an adequate home for the president of the institution as soon as feasible to undertake the work. Its erection was provided for by funds received from the estate of the late T. J. Harper of Columbia.
