PAINS In Side and Back

"I HAD BEEN miserable for a long time. My health was poor, and I suffered a lot from weakness. At times, my strength was so little that I could not stand on my feet. I would have to give up and go to bed. My sides and back hurt dreadfully.

"I grew discouraged, for I could do so little. I worried about myself, and almost gave up hope of ever being strong and well. I could scarcely lift a bucket of water. My house work went undone, for I was not strong enough to do it.

"After I had taken Cardui for a little while, I began to feel better. I grew stronger, soon found that I could do my work with less effort, and the pains in my back and sides left me. I think Cardui is a wonderful medicine. My health has been excellent since then."—Mrs. D. L. Beckner, W. Main St., Salem, Va.

WOULD ABOLISH WELFARE BOARD

Bill Now Before Legislature. Would Place Training School of This City Under State Hospital Regents.

Columbia, Feb. 24.—Abolishment of the board of public welfare is provided for in the bill now pending before the South Carolina general assembly. This measure was introduced by Senator R. M. Jeffries of Colleton county. All duties now imposed upon the board of public welfare would devolve upon a board of trustees of juvenile institutions, and the department of education. The new board would consist of five members to be appointed by the governor.

The full text, including the amendment added by the senate committee on penal and charitable institutions with its favorable recommendation follows:

Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of South Carolina: That the state board of public welfare is hereby abolished and its duties devolved upon other boards and departments as hereinafter provided.

That the South Carolina Industrial School for Boys, the South Carolina Industrial School for Girls, and the Reformatory for Negro Boys shall be managed by a board of trustees to be known as the board of trustees of juvenile institutions of the state of South Carolina, which board shall consist of five members to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent and advice of the senate. Said board of trustees of juvenile institutions shall have full authority to manage and direct the three juvenile institutions above named as now vested in the state board of public welfare: Provided however that in the management of the South Carolina Industrial School for Girls an advisory board of three ladies resident in South Carolina is hereby continued as now provided by law, which ladies shall be appointed by the governor, by and with consent and advice of the senate. Said advisory board shall have all the powers and duties now vested in it by law.

The State Training School, located at Clinton, shall be managed and directed by the board of regents of the South Carolina hospital.

All powers and duties now vested in the South Carolina board of public welfare in connection with scholarships and tuition charges are hereby vested in the South Carolina board of education, whose duty it shall be to make a thorough investigation of all applications for free tuition and scholarships at state educational institutions, to the end that only those unable to pay for education shall receive free tuition or scholarships. All powers and duties now vested in the South Carolina board of public welfare, in connection with commitments to the South Carolina State hospital, or any other penal or charitable institution, are hereby vested in the board of regents of the South Carolina State hospital, whose duty it shall be to see that all provisions of law regarding same are fully administered. Provided however, that investigation in the field shall be conducted by the state board of education, but said investigations shall not limit the board of regents to make such further investigations as they may determine.

The board of trustees of the De la Howe school as now constituted, shall continue to manage said school, and shall have full control and supervision thereof.

Leadership Is Southern Need

Athens, Ga., Feb. 23.—Two needs of the South in the new industrial civilization were described by speakers at the Georgia Press institute here today as leadership and good roads.

Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina, and his fellow citizen, Robert Lathan, Pulitzer prize winning editor, of the Asheville Citizen, approached the problem of Southern growth from different angles.

Dr. Chase said the South must seize the spirit of men like Washington to carry her citizens to greatness, rather than their thoughts and action.

"The real meaning of the lives of men like Washington," Dr. Chase continued, "lies not in any literal acceptance of their ideas, but in setting out in the same spirit they possessed, to accomplish a noble purpose.

"But as for literal acceptance, the eyes of men like Washington, Jefferson and Hamilton would open with wonder, and they would fare badly if placed in the midst of modern problems.

"To achieve greatness, the South must needs apply the spirit rather than the ideas of our great forefathers. The task of leadership which faces the South today is the same task as it has always been—courageous, sustained and intelligent action on problems which exist here and now.

PATRONAGE ANGLE VIEWED BY HOOVER

Shakeup in Southern Distribution of Federal Plums Forecast. Committee Delves Into Practices.

Washington, Feb. 23.—A revision in the method of handling federal patronage during the Hoover administration was predicted today by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, after a conference with the president-elect.

The Iowa, who is chairman of a senate committee investigating patronage distribution in Southern states, called on Mr. Hoover to acquaint him with the work accomplished to date by the committee and of the disclosures it had made.

"I am convinced," Brookhart said, "that the Daugherty and Fall scheme of patronage is over forever. I am convinced that the Hoover administration will be honest in this respect as it will be in all others."

Brookhart spent more than an hour with the president-elect. In speaking of the committee's work, the senator said he did not want to prejudice the situation before the investigation was completed and all evidence sifted. He added, however, that he thought that the situation in the three states, Mississippi, Georgia and South Carolina, would require a shake-up, which he was confident would take place in the next administration.

Fortified by his exchange of views with Mr. Hoover, Brookhart said the senate investigation would be carried into other states from which complaints regarding patronage distribution had been received. February 23, R. B. Creager, national Republican committeeman from Texas, will appear before the committee.

Furthermore, under the authority of a special senate resolution, Brookhart declared the committee would sit in the interval between the present and the special session of congress.

The agricultural situation, which will figure so prominently in the special session, also was minutely covered in the conference. The Iowa senator said the name of Thomas D. Campbell of Montana had been mentioned in his conversation with the president-elect as a possible secretary of agriculture. Mr. Brookhart declared he personally would not be very much in favor of such a selection. Mr. Campbell had an engagement with Mr. Hoover late in the day.

As for Mr. Hoover's intentions regarding agricultural relief, Senator Brookhart repeated that he felt sure that the president-elect had already formulated a concrete and workable plan, which he would issue at the proper time and which would carry out all his campaign promises.

All aspects of the special session were exhaustively discussed by Mr. Hoover and Mr. Brookhart. The latter said that it would certainly be convened at the earliest possible time, which would certainly be nearer April 8 than April 15.

Hugh Gigsom, American Ambassador to Belgium, was Mr. Hoover's luncheon guest. Mr. Gigsom is a warm friend of the president-elect, the two having been associated in Belgian relief work. The ambassador's name has been frequently mentioned as a possibility for the secretaryship of state.

Mr. Gibson was called to this country at this time to confer with the administration regarding American policies in the forthcoming preparatory disarmament conference in Geneva April 15, to which he will be the United States' chief delegate.

Mr. Campbell, after his conference with Mr. Hoover, said that cabinet selections were not discussed and that he was leaving immediately for Montana with no near prospect of returning East.

He said he had discussed with the president-elect the impression and data he had gathered on his recent trip to Russia.

Senator Deneen of Illinois, called on Mr. Hoover to urge the retention of Roy O. West of Illinois in his present position of secretary of the interior. Ray Lyman Wilbur of California, has been prominently mentioned as the president-elect's choice for the post.

Other callers in the course of the day included Hubert Work, chairman of the national Republican committee, and John W. Hart, former Republican national committeeman from Idaho, who was introduced by Senator Borah. He said he had called only to present his respects.

Florida Woman Dies At Age Of 119 Years

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 25.—The age of 119 years appeared on the death certificate of Mrs. Vine Oglesby, Seminole county's oldest resident, who died today.

Members of the family said, however, they were not sure that Mrs. Oglesby was more than 112 years old, that the record of her birth kept in a family Bible was burned long ago. She was born in Charleston, S. C., and had enjoyed excellent health until ten days ago when she contracted influenza.

At the bedside were the eldest daughter, Mrs. J. C. Hillyard, 85, and the youngest of 11 other children, J. M. Oglesby, 54.

SESSIONS COURT LASTED TWO DAYS

Judge Hayne F. Rice Presided. Grand Jury Recommends Referendum On State Bond Issue.

Laurens, Feb. 22.—The court of general sessions adjourned Tuesday evening after a two-day session devoted largely to the trial of minor offenses. Judge Hayne F. Rice, of Aiken, presided and Thos. W. Bennett was at the clerk's desk for the first time. Ralph Syphan, court stenographer, was at his post and received congratulations from his many local friends upon his admittance to the bar which event occurred since he was here last.

Judge Rice departed from the usual procedure of charging the grand jury upon its general duties at the opening of court. Instead he gave his instructions on the docketed cases when the court convened and reserved his general charge until just before the jury had completed its work for the session. In his general charge, the judge laid a great deal of stress upon the importance of law enforcement. Referring to the nationwide crime wave, he said it had almost come to pass where a wealthy white man could not be convicted of a serious crime although minor criminals did not escape so easily. In referring to violations of the prohibition law, Judge Rice said he did not believe much in suspended sentences and as a general rule gave jail sentences without the alternative of a fine.

The grand jury, in its final presentment Tuesday afternoon, announced the appointment of various committees and went on record as favoring a referendum on the proposed state-wide bond issue for roads.

The following jury cases were tried: Jess Adames, violation of prohibition law, not guilty.

Sam Shands, same, guilty, 12 months.

Jesse Smith, abandonment of wife and child, tried in his absence and found guilty, sealed sentence.

J. S. Carlton, assault with intent to kill, verdict of not guilty directed by the court.

The following pleas of guilty were made:

Chalmers Hammond and Walter Davis, house breaking and larceny, Hammond eight months in the reformatory, Davis eight months on the gang.

Sam Finney, assault and battery with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons, 14 months; also on two other indictments, one for larceny and another for house-breaking and larceny, 6 months each on the two latter indictments to be served concurrently with the 14 months for the first indictment.

Willis Melon, violation of prohibition law, 12 months and 9 months suspended.

Hollis Lida, larceny of automobile, given six months in the state penitentiary to be under observation of state hospital for insane.

Garley Whitlock and Will Green, house-breaking and larceny, 6 months.

W. S. Vaughn, house breaking and larceny, 6 months.

R. S. Taylor, violation of prohibition law, not pressed on payment of $100.

The following is the presentment of the grand jury:

Grand Jury's Presentment
To the Presiding Judge:
We have passed on all bills given us by the solicitor.

We have been unable to make any detailed examination of the affairs of the county yet, but the following committees are appointed with instructions to examine into all matters and things within their province:

Committee on Public Building and Court House—F. L. Donnon, C. A. Senn, W. H. Teague, C. L. Hairston, J. M. Patton.

Committee on Public Schools—Eugene E. Simpson, O. S. Stribling, W. F. Burns, W. S. Denson.

Committee on Roads, Bridges and Chaingang—W. R. Putnam, John F. Griffin, G. C. Roper, E. P. Patton.

These committees will report from time to time as necessity may require.

We recommend that the court house floors and plumbing be repaired, that locks be placed on all doors requiring same and that all other necessary repairs be made.

We respectfully request our delegation in the general assembly to endeavor to have the proposed bill for issuance of bonds for completion of state highways amended by providing that the question of issuance of such bonds be submitted to the people at an election on such questions.

The foreman of the grand jury is ex-officio a member of all committees. In conclusion we thank Your Honor and all court officials for the assistance given us in the performance of our duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
D. R. SIMPSON,
