Hero of Grey Is Paid High Honor

Washington, March 4. — President Hoover and Chief Justice Taft paid homage to the Confederate colors today when they saluted General A. T. Goodwin, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans as he passed the White House in the inaugural parade.

The first Confederate veteran to participate in inaugural ceremonies at the invitation of the federal government since the Civil war, General Goodwin came to Washington to further his plan for a reunion this year of the veterans of the Northern and Southern armies in the Civil war.

"I was at Sumter with Beauregard, at Lookout Mountain with Bragg and I have now been at Washington with Hoover," General Goodwin said after the ceremonies.

"While I am an inflexible Democrat, I recognize the fact that Mr. Hoover was elected by a decisive vote of the people. He is our chief executive and I will be among the many to honor and support him in every action."

Julia Lynn, were in Greenville Thursday evening to hear Al Jolson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Benjamin and Misses Margaret and Jeanne Benjamin of Darlington, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Robinson.

Pastor And Wife Given Pounding

Members of the Clinton A. R. P. church are frequently doing something "nice" for their pastor and his wife, as will be noted from the following "pounding" item taken from the past week's issue of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian published at Due West:

"A Florida hurricane struck Clinton, S. C., on the night of January the 3rd, and localized at the home of the A. R. P. pastor and his wife. In its path it left scattered everywhere various parts of fresh meat, near a hundred pounds of sugar, cans of coffee, sacks of flour, sweet potatoes, collards, onions, and all kinds of canned goods. When the great "blow" had ceased and the pastor and his wife were able to catch their breath and come out of the haze caused by the intensity of the "storm," they realized that their congregation had visited them with a most magnificent pounding. This is one storm for which they praised and are still praising the Lord with most grateful hearts and such evidence of friendship on the part of those to whom they try to minister in spiritual things has become a great incentive to more spiritual service."

Rev. and Mrs. C. Bynum Betts, Clinton, S. C.

Cream Beef Soup

Put 4 cups of strong beef stock and 2 cups of rich milk in double boiler and let simmer for five minutes. Add seasoning to taste, thicken with roux made of 1 tablespoon flour dissolved in cold milk; stir until it thickens. Add 2 well beaten eggs and cook 5 minutes longer, stirring all the while. Serve very hot, garnished with chopped parsley and cheese straws.
