What Do P. S. JEANES Do?

Badly Run-Down

"Six years ago, I was very much run-down," says Mrs. Olympia Knight of Lovett, Ga. "I did not sleep well, and was weak and restless. I dragged around the house with not enough strength to do my daily tasks. I worried a lot, and this disturbed state of mind reacted on my health. I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while. It was astonishing how much I picked up. I slept better, my appetite improved, and that awful dragging-down feeling left me. I was so much better that I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well. Cardui has been used by women for over 50 years. For sale by all druggists.

ATLANTA YOUTHS GET LIFE TERMS

Prosecutor Wanted Equal Punishment for Harsh and Gallogly. Judges Commend Action.

Atlanta, April 1.—The state today permitted George R. Harsh, of Milwaukee, and Richard G. Gallogly, Atlanta, wealthy former university students, to plead guilty to the murder of two men in attempted hold-ups here last fall and sentenced each to imprisonment for life.

Consent verdicts of guilty with recommendations for mercy were entered in both cases on motion of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who explained that juries twice had failed to agree on a verdict in Gallogly's case, while Harsh had been convicted and sentenced to death, and that in the prosecution's opinion, both should suffer equal punishment.

Gallogly, in entering his plea first, said he did so to save the life of his lasso, although he was convinced a jury would have convicted him. Harsh then was allowed to plead guilty in another court after the formality of granting him a new trial had been dispensed with.

The Milwaukee youth acknowledged Gallogly's action with a statement describing it as magnanimous, and declaring that Gallogly was not guilty of the crimes.

Both judges commended the action of the solicitor-general.

Harsh and Gallogly had been tried only for the murder of Willard Smith, a young drug clerk, who was shot down by Harsh when he attempted to resist a robbery of his store. They faced another indictment, however, charging them with the murder of S. H. Meeks, grocery store employee, who was slain in a similar attempt, and both these cases were disposed of in today's proceedings.

Harsh, who had confessed the crimes after he had been traced through a wound inflicted by Smith and who implicated Gallogly as the driver of the car in which he went to and from the scene of the hold-up pleaded mental irresponsibility at his trial. Alienists were introduced who testified he was a constitutional psychopath and unable to distinguish right and wrong.

Gallogly admitted accompanying Harsh to and from the attempted robbery but denied he participated and said he sought to dissuade his companion when he announced his intention of holding up Smith's drug store. A mistrial was declared for the second time in his case a little more than a week ago, when the jury failed to agree on a verdict.

A statement from the prosecutor to Judge E. D. Thomas in Gallogly's case said that under the circumstances a life sentence on either indictment was all that the state could hope to obtain from another trial and that by accepting the consent verdicts, "we can avoid another long and tedious trial, as well as the possibility of another mistrial."

Mr. Boykin declared in each statement that the families of both victims had approved such a disposition of the cases.

POSTAL SERVICE TO SEE SHAKE-UP

Sweeping Changes To Be Made In Postoffice Department Covering Entire Service.

Washington, April 1.—The Post Office department is on the verge of a general re-organization which will include a large part of the administrative branches and extend on down through the entire postal service.

Postmaster General Brown has determined not only to bring the post office nearer a paying basis but also to raise the standard of character and ability in the tremendous personnel of the postal service.

If the present plans of Mr. Brown are carried out, and it is understood he has submitted them to President Hoover and received from him the promise of hearty support, the only assistant postmaster general to remain will be W. Irving Glover, now second assistant in charge of air mail.

First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett is to be replaced and the duties of that office so remodeled that instead of spending time settling personal disputes and studying post office sites the first assistant will become the right hand of the postmaster general in the formulation of policies and their execution. No one has been selected to succeed Mr. Bartlett.

The third assistant, Robert S. Regar, is to be replaced by a certified public accountant if one can be found who has what Mr. Brown terms "a knowledge of the broader phases of business." Mr. Regar under the present plans, will be retained in the department in another capacity as the new postmaster general has a high regard for his ability. Under the third assistant at present almost the entire financial policy of the department is carried out.

When Mr. Brown completes his official family he intends to turn his attention to the elimination of bureaucratic methods in the department, both in dealing with postal employees and in relations with the public.

To 2 cups cold roast meat, chopped, add 1-2 cup bread crumbs, 1 chopped onion, 1-2 teaspoon chopped parsley and some of chopped celery leaves. Beat 2 eggs and mix with all ingredients. Form into balls, roll in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

FOUNDATION IS SENDING CHECKS

Thornwell Orphanage of This City To Participate In Annual Duke Fund Distribution.

Checks aggregating $632,249.93 are in process of being mailed out by the Duke Endowment to hospitals and orphanages in North and South Carolina, this amount representing a disbursement of the funds available for these institutions under the terms of the Duke Endowment for the past year. This disbursement, which is the fourth annual distribution of funds by the Duke Endowment, was ordered by the board of trustees of the Duke Endowment at its meeting held in Charlotte a few days ago.

Of the total amount being distributed at this time $515,987 was appropriated for the care of free patients at $1 a day at 75 hospitals located in the Carolinas. The balance of $116,262.93 was appropriated for the care of orphans and half-orphans in 41 orphanages and child-placing agencies in the Carolinas.

The first distribution for hospitalization purposes and the support of orphans from the Duke Endowment was made in 1925. During that year 52 hospitals in the two states were assisted for 216,781 free days of care. In 1926, 63 hospitals received aid for 339,127 free days. In 1927, 73 hospitals were assisted to the extent of 434,361 free days.

The 30 South Carolina hospitals assisted were as follows:

- Roper hospital, Charleston; Shriners hospital, Greenville; S. C. Baptist hospital, Columbia; Greenville City hospital, Greenville; Ridgewood camp, Columbia; Pinehaven sanatorium, Charleston; Columbia hospital, Columbia; Hopewell sanatorium, Greenville; Waverly fraternal hospital, Columbia; Emma Moss Booth Memorial hospital, Greenville; Camp Alice, Sumter; Good Samaritan hospital, Columbia; Anderson County hospital, Anderson; Camden hospital, Camden; Aiken County hospital, Aiken; Toom-

From the depths of the sedan There came a muffled curse, He was trying to fold a road map Same as it was at first.

We sold Mr. J. Will Leake a New Ford about 30 days ago. Since that time he has taken a trip to Florida. If you want to know anything about the New Ford, just see Mr. Leake. He is very much pleased with his New Ford.

One of our mechanics says that he knows why some firms employ such dumb looking salesmen. The customers feel that they cannot help getting the best of the bargain.

New Fords are still being sold as fast as we can get them in. We have never had a Tudor Sedan in stock over 48 hours. We are selling Coupes just as fast as we get them. See us and give us an order for a New Ford.

"My, that's a nice looking baby."

Do you notice how much he favors your husband?" "I hope not. We adopted him."

Good sense is a thing we all need, few of us have and none think that they are short of.

Now is the time to put on a set of new Firestone tires. They have the quality and the price is right.

We wash and grease all makes of cars.

Middle age is that period when a lover is too old to write silly poetry and too young to write silly letters.

We are very anxious to serve you on your New Ford. We have a system by which to keep up with your greasing and oil changing. Put your car in our care and we will do all we can to make it give you service.
