

HAS PRESBYTERIAN LEANING

Southern Christian Advocate. Religious denominations of members of the president's cabinet, including the president, as given by Harry E. Woolever, National Methodist press, follows:

President Hoover, Quaker. Vice-President Charles Curtis, Methodist.

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, Presbyterian.

Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, Presbyterian.

James W. Good, Secretary of War, Presbyterian.

William D. Mitchell, Attorney General, Presbyterian.

Walter F. Brown, Postmaster General, Congregationalist.

Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, Unitarian.

Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, Congregationalist.

Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, Methodist.

Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, Presbyterian.

James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, Baptist.

It will be seen that this cabinet has a strong Presbyterian leaning, as did that of President Wilson. At this writing, it has not been decided which churches of their respective denominations these administration leaders will attend, but if they follow the example of the president and vice-president they will be found in attendance upon religious services each Sabbath.

HOOVER'S HOME ECONOMY 89 YEARS, 89 MILLION KAHN LOSES TITTA RUFFO FOCH IS DEAD

President Hoover, believing that economy should begin at home, will put the presidential yacht Mayflower out of commission. The president will do his yachting in a rowboat when fishing. The country will save $300,000 a year, and 148 sailors that have wasted their time on the Mayflower will be assigned to new naval vessels.

The Mayflower has been added to the cost of maintaining a president ever since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and President Hoover's determination to discontinue a thoroughly undemocratic arrangement will be generally appreciated.

The people would not grudge a good president any comfort or luxury. But a $300,000 yacht tacked on to a $75,000 salary seems fantastic.

George F. Baker, dean of American bankers, ruler of the gigantic First National of New York, which is one of his minor possessions, has celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday.

For every year that he has lived, Mr. Baker has given at least a million dollars to education and other good purposes.

Everybody wishes him many more years to get and give.

Since the people do not yet know enough to develop their own resources and supply what they need, it is fortunate that they have, such men as Baker, Rockefeller and others to show them how.

Otto H. Kahn, protector of grand opera, learns that his enemy is the talking picture. That must surprise him as much as it surprised the seventy-foot dinosaurs when the rats ate them.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have taken Titta Ruffo from Mr. Kahn's Metropolitan opera to sing for the movies, and it was as simple "as taking candy from a child."

Mr. Ruffo sings ten times before a recording machine and is paid $350,000, or $35,000 for each short singing period.

Even the Metropolitan's diamond horseshoe cannot compete with that.

Marshall Foch is dead. Farewell to a great warrior, a true man. He has gone and taken his wages—a name that will live in history and the eternal gratitude of his countrymen.

In command of all the Allied armies, he had 10,000,000 men under his command, by far the greatest army gathered together, since men first began wholesale killing.

And his motto, that every man should adopt, was: "The offensive always."

Allons, "Let us go," was the last word uttered by Marshall Foch. It is the first word of the French national hymn that he heard so often, the hymn to which the Revolutionary soldiers marched from the south of France into Paris. "Allons enfants de la patrie," etc.

The last words of great men, piously collected, have little value. The great men probably did not know what they were saying. "Mehr licht," "more light," were the last words of Goethe.

Frederick the Great's last words are supposed to be "tete d'armee," "head of the army." He often spoke French in preference to German.

Pitt, whose genius kept Napoleon out of England, said as he died, "My country, how I leave thee." He was worried about the future.

What a man does while he lives is more important than what he says when he dies.

Summer Spray for Fruit Trees

If you wish to produce peaches free of worms it is necessary to spray. The first summer spray for peaches should be put on immediately after the petals fall, using one pound of arsenate of lead and three pounds of lump lime in 50 gallons of water. Your second summer spray should be applied when about three-fourths of the shucks have shedded, using one pound of arsenate of lead, 2 pounds of lime, 3 to 4 pounds of dry mix to 50 gallons of water. The dry mix is for the control of brown rot. It is a mixture of lime and sulphur in the proper proportions. Different companies have different directions for the use of same, therefore follow instructions on the container for summer spray.

For your apple spray use 1 gallon of lime sulphur solution with 50 gallons of water, 1 pound of arsenate of lead and spray when the pink begins to show on the bud. The second spray should follow when nearly all of the petals have fallen, using the same spray as mentioned above. Of course your trees should be cultivated the same as cotton. If your trees are not in a thrifty growing condition it is wise to fertilize with nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, or any other sources of available ammonia. Do not fertilize any closer to the trunk of the tree than the distance in which the tree casts its shadow from the end of its limbs.

Poultry

Poultry has made wonderful progress in Laurens county. It is one of the most outstanding pieces of project work in the county. In 1926 the county agent did not ship any poultry at all; in 1927 a shipment of about 3,800 pounds was made; in 1928 about 40,000 pounds, and within two months of 1929, 36,312 pounds was shipped. This year's shipments were valued at $8,745.64, or a net saving to the farmers of $1,116.01. The shipment from Laurens last week was the second highest this year, being 5,573 pounds, valued at $1,437.28. Clinton had 997 pounds in the shipment, being valued at $250.41.

This is the month to hatch off the egg-laying breeds of chickens, such as white leghorns and anconas. There is considerable money in poultry if the chicks are properly hatched and cared for.

Garden Work

The following vegetables may be planted in the gardens as soon as the soil is in condition:

Beans—stringless green pod and bountiful. Sow in open, 1 1-2 in. deep, 1 pint to 100 feet. Rows 2 1-2 feet apart, 3 to 4 beans to every 8 to 10 in.

Lima Beans—Henderson bush or Wood's prolific. Carolina pole, or Seiva bean. 1 pint to 100 feet, rows 2 1-2 feet, seed sown thinly in drill. Pole lima, 1-2 pint to 100 feet, seed sown 1 1-2 in. deep in hills 2 ft. by 3 ft.

Squash—early white bush, golden summer crook neck. Hill 4 ft. by 4 ft. Canataloupe—Rocky Ford, Extra Hackensack. Plant in open field, hills 4 ft. by 5 ft.

Okra—White Velvet, Perkins. Sow seed 1 in. deep; 2 oz to 100 ft., rows 2 1-2 ft. apart, plants 6 to 10 in. apart in drill.

Cucumbers—Early White Spine, Kirby. Hills 5 ft. by 5 ft. Corn—Stowell's Evergreen, Country Gentleman. Sow seed 1 in. deep, rows 2 1-2 ft. apart; seed sown in either hills or thinly in drill.

Transplant tomato, sweet potato, egg plant, pepper, to open field after April 15th.

Man Falls Dead In Fist Fight

Macon, Ga., April 7.—Frank H. Smith, 41, fell dead here late today in the course of a fist fight with his brother, Harry Smith, 38, a life long companion and coworker.

Harry Smith placed his brother's body in an automobile and drove home. He then called the sheriff and surrendered.

He was allowed his liberty pending action of a coroner's jury tomorrow.

Both men were employed as yard foremen for a railroad here. The tragedy occurred when a fight followed Harry Smith's reprimanding his brother for quarreling with S. D. Clark, a farmer of Moultrie, Ga. Harry was asleep in the rear seat of their automobile returning from a day's fishing trip when the older brother drove into a filling station. He awoke to see Frank in pursuit of the farmer, who also had been in the station, jumped from the rear and beat his brother down. Frank was dead when a doctor examined him a few minutes later.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING. FOUR YEARS ago, I suffered with heartburn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. It is a fine thing I needed, and I use it when I need something for constipation. I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Our whole family takes Black-Draught.—Mrs. G. C. Leary, 108 North Alston Ave., Durham, N. C.
