

Orphanage Workers Visitors In City

The following visitors were guests of the Thornwell orphanage Monday while en route to Winston-Salem, N. C., to attend the annual conference of Tri-State Orphanage workers: H. W. Hopkirk of the Child Welfare League of America, with headquarters in New York, Supt. Dougherty of the Methodist orphanage at Macon, Ga., with Mrs. Dougherty and son, and Mrs. Crowley of the Appleton Episcopal orphanage, Macon, W. P. Anderson and one of his workers from the Georgia Baptist orphanage, Hapeville, Ga.

Winners Named In Hi Contest

The annual story telling contest of Clinton high school was held last Thursday afternoon. There were four entries and first place was won by Elizabeth Blakely of the 8th grade. Caroline Martin of the same grade, was awarded second place. Mrs. L. B. Dillard read the story, and Mrs. B. S. Pinson, Miss Caroline Young and Miss Caroline Mauldin of the orphanage schools faculty, acted as judges.

The winner in this contest is awarded each year a $2.50 gold piece by J. B. Frontis, well known local jeweler.

PEACE SCORES LIBEL LAWS

Greenville Publisher Speaks To Members of South Carolina Press Association En Route To Cuba. Havana, Cuba, April 20.—South Carolina's libel laws were scored by B. H. Peace, publisher of The Greenville News and The Greenville Piedmont, and retiring president of the South Carolina Press association, in the annual session of the association en route to Cuba.

Speaking to newspapermen of the state and a group of North Carolina newspaper representatives who joined the annual jaunt, he declared: "They (the newspapers) labor unceasingly for the upbuilding of the state, for the fruition of South Carolina's dreams, for the development of a stronger and finer civilization. But when they go to the legislature and seek relief from obsolete and tyrannical libel laws which make a mockery of the expression, 'Freedom of the press', they get no more consideration than if they were predatory beasts of prey bent upon trampling the state under their feet."

"The South Carolina general assembly has twice refused to enact libel laws almost identical with those of North Carolina and other enlightened states. No other conclusion can be drawn than that the legislators of South Carolina believe their newspapers are less to be trusted than the newspapers of North Carolina and other states."

"That is a reflection on the newspapers of South Carolina or the men who conduct them. I do not believe there is to be found anywhere in the United States a more loyal, honorable and trustworthy set of men than those who conduct the newspapers of South Carolina. . . ."

"The newspapers of South Carolina ask no immunities or privileges not accorded other institutions and citizens. They could exist perhaps if they eliminated all news except such innocuous information as birth and deaths, marriages and school commencements, Boy Scout meetings and singing festivals. They do not want to exploit crime or to do intentional damage to innocent citizens. But they do demand—and will continue to demand until they receive—the privilege of performing their full measure of public service without running afoul of the courts every time they fail to dot an 'i' or cross a 't.'"

"So long as the newspapers are subjected to their present harrassment, the public will suffer. It will fail to know the truth about much which it ought to know and which it would know if it gave its newspapers the same freedom that North Carolina does."

"Experience has taught that North Carolina newspapers do not abuse their freedom, but often render a larger measure of public service than South Carolina papers because they are free to do so."

"It is a paradox that newspapers should fight so many public battles with financial loss to themselves, and be left in the lurch by the people's representatives when they ask simple protection for themselves. . . . I firmly believe the public will demand revision of the libel laws when they understand what injury is done by the existing statutes."

Further, Mr. Peace declared, "the grocer returns the money when butter he sells is stale, but if the printer or reporter makes an innocent error, a correction is not even a mitigation of damages."

After pointing to South Carolina progress, he said the deadly virus of complacency constantly threatens us, however.

"We may as well realize that compared to some other states, we have made very little progress. We need population. We need to encourage intelligent and energetic outsiders to come to our state. We need human competition. Of the 880,000 white people in our state, less than 100,000 were born outside the state. We are too self-contained in the matter of population and ought to do everything possible to encourage the right kind of people to come and live with us."

KIWANIS KORNER

"WE BUILD"

Edited by Publicity Committee of Clinton Kiwanis Club.

Visiting Kiwanians Always Welcome

Kiwanis had a good meeting Thursday night at Hotel Clinton. Billy Copeland was in the head chair and wielded the gavel of authority. The singing was good too, with Simmons Pinson playing the role of leader.

Bynum Betts was elected the official delegate of the club to the International convention to be held in Milwaukee in June. He also took the attendance prize home to his wife, a habit he has repeatedly followed here of late.

The club received three new members, C. C. Giles of the Giles-Chevrolet company; R. L. Plaxico of D. E. Tribble company; and E. D. Craig of the Clinton Motor company. The three gentlemen were cordially welcomed and given the "glad hand" by the older boys. They were brief in their responses, but that is the best qualification of any good speaker.

Soon after the meeting was under way, the program committee announced that it was election night and ballots were passed. It was not an election to name a town council, or a new judge, or a patronage dispenser for Herb Hoover, but a real Kiwanis ballot on "Who Is What?" When it was all over, some of the thick head fellows didn't know what it was all about and it is rumored that a second primary may be sought. Be that as it may, the election was held under rigid regulations with honest tellers, and the results of "Who Is What" follow:

Most popular, John Holland Hunter, with Will Copeland a close second.

Handsomest, Gary Martin first, with Dick Ferguson so close that he got dust in his eyes.

Most modest, Jack Pinson first, with Lloyd McCrary and Simmons Pinson tied for second place.

Wittiest, John Holland Hunter, premier end man, first, with Rev. John McSween a close runner-up.

Best ladies' man, Gilbert Blakely, with no opposition worth mentioning.

Best orator, Rev. John McSween, with everybody afraid to compete with him.

Best informed, Rev. Dudley Jones, with Dr. A. E. Spencer close enough to hold hands.

Neatest, Rex Phillips first, with Dicky Heustess sedately bringing up the rear.

Most unselfish, Rev. Bynum Betts first, with Hugh Simpson just a nose behind.

Best singer, Simmons Pinson first, with Rev. John McSween yodeling for second money.

Most industrious, Gilbert Blakely, Hugh Simpson and Larry Dillard tied, making it necessary to order a second primary.

Best club worker, Gilbert Blakely first, with Braxton King just a split second behind.

It was brought to the club's attention that O. Sam Cummings of Kansas City, Mo., president of Kiwanis International, will be the guest of the Columbia club on Friday, May 3, at 1 p. m., at the Jefferson hotel, at which time he will address Kiwanians of South Carolina. President Copeland urged the club to avail itself of an opportunity to hear the distinguished visitor and it is expected that practically all members will be present. A committee to secure cars and make all arrangements for the trip was designated.

Mr. Cummings was unanimously elected president of this great organization last year in Seattle, and prior to that time had been actively identified with Kiwanis International. He is an executive of the Kansas City Life Insurance company, and is a young man of most pleasing address and a fluent speaker. His visit to South Carolina is looked forward to with much interest and the Clinton club expects to have a full representation in Columbia to hear and welcome him.

Further, Mr. Peace declared, "the grocer returns the money when butter he sells is stale, but if the printer or reporter makes an innocent error, a correction is not even a mitigation of damages."

Hints for the Home
by Nancy Hart

Someone has said of pictures—

My house has magic windows in its walls,
Windows that open on a land of dreams,
A land of quiet meadows and cool streams,
Or forest paths and radiant waterfalls.

Here are forgotten cities, and old halls
With high-arched ceilings built of blackened beams,
Where Rembrandt's mystic inner sunlight gleams
On armored men, and women in quaint shawls.

And here are quays where boats with colored sails
Discharge exotic cargoes from far shores:
Ivory and gems, baskets of precious ores,
Old wines in earthen jars, and silken bales.

Through time and space, in fancy, he may roam
Who has these magic windows in his home.

Vegetable Fritters

To use left-over vegetables such as carrots, peas, cauliflower, beans, or any of several vegetables that blend well, put them through a sieve, adding one beaten egg and one tablespoon flour to each cup of seasoned pulp. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat. A nice substitute for meat.

A Very Nice Supper Dish

Flake meat from a can of salmon and put layer of fish in buttered baking dish; add pepper, salt and dots of butter, then a layer of chopped hard-boiled egg, another of fish, and pour cream sauce over all. Cover with crumbs and grated cheese and bake until light brown.

Flavorous French Dressing

Plain French dressing seasoned with anchovy paste is very appetizing served with iced shredded lettuce and eggs stuffed with anchovies. Use one tablespoon of paste for each 1-2 cup of dressing.

Bread Pudding Plus

Use your usual recipe for plain bread pudding, but add to the scalded milk 3 squares of melted bitter chocolate and to the bread mixture 1-2 cup chopped pecans. Serve with whipped cream.

Perfection Brand

Try our special 10-4-4 cotton guano. It's fine.

Soda

Genuine Chilean nitrate in brand new bags. See us for car lots, ton lots, or by the bag.

Sulphate of Ammonia

See us for any amount from a car load down to a dime's worth for your flowers.

Acid Phosphate

We have 100 tons of 18% as well as plenty of 16%.

Kainit

We import it.

Potash Salts

Ditto.

C. S. Meal

Most of it is in our "Perfection Brand" fertilizer but we have several car loads on hand for feed purposes.

Plenty On Hand

We have plenty of everything from 8-3-3 up to 12-4-4.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I SUFFERED a good while before I found something that would help me," writes Mr. E. W. Berry, of Neosho, Mo. "My trouble was indigestion, pains in my chest and a tight, bloated feeling that would make me feel smothered."

"Speaking of this to a friend of mine, he told me that Black-Draught was good for this trouble. I went over bought a package. It certainly did help me, so I continued to use it."

"I am in the transfer business, and sometimes when I would be hungry and ready to eat, I would have a call and would have to eat later. Then I would eat too much or too hurriedly. This would cause indigestion. After I started using Black-Draught, I found it did me a world of good. It is splendid for biliousness and stomach troubles."
