Got Up In The Morning Feeling DIZZY

"I BEGAN to suffer with headache and biliousness," says Mr. John C. Malone, of Buena Vista, Ohio. "I had a hurting through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts. I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me."

"Someone asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I found it to be just the medicine I needed. When I feel a spell coming on, I begin by taking a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

KIWANIS KORNER

"WE BUILD"

Edited by Publicity Committee of Clinton Kiwanis Club.

Visiting Kiwanians—Always Welcome

The Clinton Kiwanis club, along with 1,825 other similar clubs in the United States and Canada, joined Monday night in observing "All Kiwanis Night," with a message to the entire membership by O. S. Cummings of Dallas, international president, as the principal feature.

The club is being represented at the International convention now in session at Milwaukee, Wis., by Rev. C. Bynum Betts.

At the meeting Monday night two new members were received and cordially welcomed, Teague Harris and Coyne L. Simpson.

In addressing the 130,000 members of Kiwanis, President Cummings said: "We live in an age of restlessness, of appraisal, of reevaluation, an age of vigorous search for the truth in the field of the spiritual as well as material."

"Kiwanis is a modern experiment in the field of the human and spiritual, using as its laboratories North American communities and as the subjects of its experiments the representative business and professional men of those communities. Kiwanis is in turn the object of rigid scrutiny, by its own members and the world at large."

"Members of Kiwanis are picked men. They are recognized leaders in their respective vocations in all communities. They are respected citizens interested in making city or town, state or province and the nation a more desirable place to live. They are interested in their fellow men, especially the unfortunate and underprivileged."

"Since these are days of hostility to superfluous organization, which only those institutions of proven value to society will survive, what justification is there for the existence of Kiwanis?"

"Only so long as Kiwanis builds in the field of the human and spiritual, only so long as the product of our building is better men, better business, better communities and a better society, will Kiwanis justify its existence," he stated.

"There are 1,825 Kiwanis clubs in the principal cities of the United States and Canada with 130,000 members," announced Fred C. W. Parker of Chicago, executive secretary.

"Kiwanis is an active organization, and a Kiwanian's place is at his weekly club meeting," said Mr. Parker. "Membership in Kiwanis is made up of not more than two men engaged in the same kind of business or profession. So any member that absents himself from his club is depriving it of his specific vocational interest."

PASTORS SCHOOL GETS UNDER WAY

Methodist Ministers Meet in Columbia Tuesday for Annual Period of Instruction, Strong Faculty.

Columbia, June 24.—With a faculty composed of outstanding leaders from the two Methodist conferences of South Carolina, namely the South Carolina and the Upper South Carolina, and notable inspirational speakers, the 1929 session of the South Carolina pastors' school of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, began at Columbia college here Tuesday and will continue through July 5, according to the Rev. John W. Speake, of Spartanburg, who is dean.

The school, which is one of a church wide system, is under the management of the board of managers chosen by the South Carolina and the Upper South Carolina conferences, in co-operation with the general board of missions, and the general Sunday school board of the church.

Dr. H. N. Snyder, Spartanburg; Dr. F. N. Parker, Emory university; Dr. W. A. Shelton, Emory university; Dr. Luther E. Todd, St. Louis; Bishop E. D. Mouzon, Charlotte, will deliver the platform addresses at night sessions.

The Rev. Leo D. Gillespie, Spartanburg, is director.

The faculty, which is considered unusually strong, consists of college and university professors, board secretaries and experienced pastors from the Southern Methodist and other denominations of the country.

The 1929 faculty members are: Dr. Franklin N. Parker, Emory university; Dr. Paul B. Kern, San Antonio, Texas; Dr. Elbert Russell, Duke University; Dr. W. A. Shelton, Emory university; Dr. George B. Winton, Nashville; Dr. B. S. Winchester, New York; Dr. J. L. Neill, Vicksburg, Miss., and the Rev. J. E. Ellis, Columbia.

The board of managers is as follows: South Carolina conference—the Rev. A. J. Cauthen, president, Columbia; Rev. A. D. Betts, treasurer, Orangeburg; Rev. G. E. Edwards, Marion; Rev. J. P. Inabinet, Hartsville, and Rev. W. V. Dibble, Florence.

Upper South Carolina conference: Dr. B. R. Turnipseed, Rock Hill; Rev. Leo D. Gillespie, Spartanburg; Rev. J. W. Speake, Spartanburg, Rev. W. L. Mullikin, Spartanburg, and Rev. C. E. Peele, Spartanburg.

Credit courses in city and rural church work, evangelism, church worship and other general subjects; Bible study, courses in missions and social service, and a variety of subjects in religious education will be offered.

The pastor's school in Columbia is one of a church wide system of 15 schools operated in the interest of the pastors in the 36 annual conference divisions of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

CHARGE JURORS TO TAKE STEPS

Featherstone Leaves Matters To Them In Ware Shoals Mill Strike. To Report Violations.

Greenwood, June 24.—Calling attention to the presence of state troops at Ware Shoals "to aid the county officials in keeping the peace and avoiding trouble," in connection with the strike situation at the textile plant of the Ware Shoals Manufacturing company, Judge C. C. Featherstone, in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of general sessions court today, said that he was submitting the whole matter to the jury for such action as it deemed wise or necessary and told Foreman T. M. Dennard and the jurors that if they deemed it their duty to make an investigation and should find that the law had been violated by anybody, regardless of the class to which they may belong, it would be their duty to report the violators and see that they are brought to justice.

Judge Featherstone's reference to the Ware Shoals situation was made in the concluding remarks of his general charge and was as follows:

"We must take notice of the fact that the governor of the state has sent troops to Greenwood county to aid the county officials in keeping the peace and avoiding trouble. We must assume that the governor acted wisely in so doing and that the facts before him justified his action.

"Personally, I know nothing of the situation; I only know what I have read in the press and heard on the streets. I do not know that any law has been violated; I hope not.

"We are not concerned as to any contractual relations existing between the mill and its employees. They have a right to adjust their differences in their own way without outside interference so long as they do not violate the law, but if anybody violates the law, whether they be mill officials or employees, then the law enforcement officials should step in and bring the violators to justice.

"When the governor of the state feels it to be his duty to order out and send troops to your county to preserve the peace, then it becomes my duty to call such fact to your attention, in order that you may take such steps as you, in your wisdom may deem necessary.

"If you deem it your duty to make investigation and should find, after investigation, that the law had been violated by anybody, regardless of the class to which they may belong, then it will be your duty to report them and see that they are brought to justice.

"I am submitting the whole matter to you for such action as you may deem necessary or wise. If you desire any fuller instructions as to the law, do not hesitate to come back in court and ask for them."
